Chapter 2577

Siena heard a sound coming from outside in the living room.

Siena walked to the door vigilantly, opened it, and looked outside.

“My brother is back!” Cyrus saw Lucas standing beside the trash can outside the courtyard gate of the auxiliary building.

“Second Young Master, go back to the main building!” Siena’s nerves were tense, and her palms were sweating.

She saw Lucas looking at them with hostile eyes.

“Okay, I’ll go. If he troubles you, you can put the blame on me. Just say that I insisted on coming in.” After Cyrus made his confession, he strode out.

Cyrus quickly walked to the gate of the courtyard and came to Lucas.

“Did you have a good time at Lawson family last night? Your little maid waited for you for a long time last night, saying that you would come back, hehe... Go and coax her!” Cyrus finished teasing, Seeing Lucas clenched his fists, he immediately turned and went back to the main building.

Siena opened the door of the villa in the auxiliary building, and waited for Lucas to come in.

But Lucas was like a sculpture, standing quietly at the gate of the courtyard, neither speaking nor moving.

The cold air quickly drifted into the room from the open door, Siena couldn't help it, and strode towards Lucas.

Lucas was angry.

Did he get angry when he saw Cyrus entering the auxiliary building, or did he hear what the two of them said just now?

Whatever it was, Siena had a clear conscience.

The auxiliary building was also a part of Hogan's villa.

Cyrus wanted to enter the auxiliary building, and Siena, as a maid, couldn't stop him at all.

As for what she said to Cyrus, they were all from her heart.

If Lucas wanted to be angry, she couldn't help it.

Siena quickly walked in front of Lucas, before she could stand still, Lucas strode past her and walked towards the auxiliary building.

Siena stood on the spot, watching his back, until he entered the room, and then looked away.

A voice sounded in her heart: 'This job is coming to an end.'

She took a deep breath and opened the lid of the trash can – the cake inside shocked her instantly.

This was thrown in by Lucas just now.

When the cake was thrown in, it made a loud noise.

He should have bought this cake this morning!

If it wasn't for buying cakes, Lucas should have come back very early.

Siena's cheeks were hot, and she picked the cake out of the trash can.

The cake had been dropped and deformed, but the packaging box was intact, and the cake should still be edible.

This cake softened her heart instantly.

She carried the cake back to the house and closed the door.

Lucas had already returned to the bedroom.

Siena wanted to talk to Lucas, but she knew very well in her heart that he would definitely not talk to her when he was angry.

Siena led the cake to the dining table, opened it, and began to eat the cake.

The cake was delicious and sweet, but she felt very sad.

Tears were uncontrollable and fell hotly.
