

Chapter 161

After a moment of silence on the phone, Michael just sighed and said, "Okay, I'll listen to you. We won't care about this matter."

"Alright, by the way, I forgot to tell you something." Jason suddenly said.

"What's the matter?"

"I transferred five million yuan to your bank card this morning. If you are really not used to living in the city, you can use this money to expand the residential area in our hometown and build a small villa. I have already found a design and construction team for you. When you and Mom go back, you can decide on a time. I'll get them over to start work." Jason thought as he spoke.

"Five million yuan? Where did you get so much money? Jason, don't tell me you're doing something bad outside? If it was true, we wouldn't dare to take the money. Although we were always poor, I taught you since childhood that you should be down to earth and never..."

"Do not do low-handed things or anything that violates discipline." Jason interrupted him with a wry smile. "Don't think too much. This is the money from Mr. Shen, he said that he wanted to repay you and my mother for raising me for so many years. This is only the first amount. If you are in need of money in the future, just call me directly. I will transfer it to you."

"Money.... for raising you?" Michael said incredulously, "We didn't spend so much money on you either. When you were a child, we used to feed you with just mediocre food. As for college, we didn't even spend more than 100,000 yuan. Mr. Shen gave you too much. And we treated you like our own son, so we don't need money. We can't take this money. You'd better return it to Mr. Shen quickly and tell him that we thank him for his kindness."

Michael's reaction was completely within Jason's expectations.

He thought the whole night to come up with this excuse.

And this was his father's reaction.

In this way, if he told him that David Shen transferred a hundred million yuan to himself, would the two elders go crazy?

Jason sighed and explained, "Five million yuan is a big sum of money for our family, but in the hands of Mr. Shen, it's just like five hundred yuan, or less. Moreover, Mr. Shen said that you must build the villa, otherwise, he will go down to our hometown to check during the holidays. You can't possibly let them sit in the pigsty, or somewhere without air conditioner right?"

"Mr. Shen said that he would come to visit us in the future?"

Michael said in a trembling tone.

21:55

"Yes, you are my parents. He also likes to go to the countryside to take in the natural air if he has nothing to do, so you must build this house. Even if it is to entertain Mr. Shen, we can't be too shabby, right?" Jason said with a wry smile.

"Well, then alright, when I go back, I will deal with the residential area with your mother. Don't let Mr. Shen come too early. Otherwise, the pigsty in our yard will make people sick!"

When Jason heard his father's words, the stone pressing on his heart, finally fell.

Then, after nagging his father not to use the money on Hannah's medical expenses, he hung up the phone reluctantly.

At this time, Phoebe came over and said with a smile, "How's it going? Have you done your dad's work?"

Jason nodded and said, "They just can't let go of the so-called family affection. Fortunately, it made sense, so I have nothing to worry about."

"I'm really jealous of you. Once that stubborn old man from my family knows what's going on, it'll be useless no matter what I say. It's better for you to communicate with each other. Unlike me, when I run into trouble, I can only run away from home. I have no other good ideas," Phoebe said enviously.

"If you change your words day and night, you won't be as dignified as a governor." Jason said.

He still remembered how imposing he was when he heard of Marvin Wen at home that day.

He had heard of Marvin's status and position.

In ancient times, once this governor became angry, blood would flow and there would be many casualties.

Jason still remembered what he learned in the history textbook. If Wu Sangui became angry, it would be a bloodbath.

He believed in Marvin Wen's love for his precious daughter.

Once he heard that something had happened to Phoebe, the consequences would be extremely terrible.

Therefore, he tried his best not to provoke her. This scheming first lady had been at work for a long time, the way she worked was not something ordinary men could control.

As they were talking, they heard a sharp quarrel coming from the other end of the corridor.

The two of them looked at each other, and Jason subconsciously wanted to run away.

This was Hannah's voice.

It seemed that she was quarrelling with the medical staff again, and he could faintly hear his own name.

Phoebe giggled.

21:55

"What are you laughing at?" Jason was very angry.

"Nothing. When I passed by the hospital office just now, I overheard the Education Bureau calling your second aunt. I estimate that the department of discipline inspection is coming soon. Don't you plan to go and have a look?" Phoebe blinked her eyes and said.

"I won't go." Jason shook his head.

What a joke. Things had gone to this stage, once Jason appeared, Hannah and her family would definitely grab him and not let him go, and get him to take responsibility.

Thinking of his relatives, Jason felt very uncomfortable.

"Oh, then I'll go first. Bye." Phoebe waved at Jason and walked towards Hannah's ward.

In the VIP ward of the St. De Hospital.

Hannah grit her teeth and looked at the phone in her hand with hatred.

"This Michael Qin, now he has learned how to turn off his mobile phone. Sarah, you go straight to their rented villa to see where they are now. No matter what, we must bring them out and get them to solve this matter for us!"

Hannah still believed that Michael's villa at The Hundred Flowers Mountain was rented. At the same time, she blamed all the things in front of her on Michael and his family.

"There is no need to go. I have just been to their house and the door is closed. No matter how I knocked on the door, there is no sound. It seems that they must want to get rid of us. They are afraid of being involved in this matter." Jim said with a livid face.

At the same time, he looked at Sarah and asked, "Are you sure that the bill is 790,000 yuan, and that all the documents have our signature?"

Sarah nodded and said viciously at the same time, "I think Jason and his family did it on purpose! They clearly know that the medical expenses here are so expensive, but they didn't tell us a word in advance, just waiting for today to see us make a joke out of ourselves. But it's useless. Chief Wang has already contacted the leader of the City Public Health Bureau. It won't take long before they will personally investigate this matter. We don't need to pay a penny and the hospital will compensate us for our mental loss. Otherwise, we will get them to close the hospital, let's see how long they can be arrogant for!"

"Alright, I have also went to check in with the government office in the Northern District. They promised that they would raise this matter at today's court meeting. I believe that it won't be long before the hospital receives a call from the superior and come to apologize to us." Jim agreed.

"An apology is not enough. Just like what Sarah said, compensate us for our mental damage! Like father like son, the reason why I didn't want to contact them for so many years was because I was afraid that I would be dragged down by this family of farmers. Now look what has happened. We hid but this still happened. But our Sarah is still promising. Since Chief Wang is willing to help, then let's wait here and see how I will teach them a good lesson when they come!"

The more Hannah spoke, the more excited she became.

At the same time, she took out her mobile phone and started to browse her social media while humming a song.

"It's about time to review your work at the end of the year. Sarah, we really have to thank Chief Wang this time. Tell him about me. Chief Wang manages the education sector. With his help, no one in the school can beat me!"

Hannah said.

"Okay, I got it. I'll call him right now and ask him out to Guangju Restaurant tomorrow for some Cantonese cuisine. It's about 300 yuan per person. But he helped our family so much, so it's worth it no matter how expensive it is." Sarah said proudly.

"Yes... It's a pity that Chief Wang is nearly forty years old and married. Otherwise, our Sarah may have a chance to be Chief Wang's wife." Hannah said with regret.

"Hello, may I know who is Hannah Qin?"

Just as the family was in their own moment, the door of the ward was suddenly pushed open, and three middle-aged men in suits came in.

21:56

"Yes, I am. Sarah, is this the person that Chief Wang mentioned?"

The person who came was obviously a staff from the government office. Hannah stood up happily and asked Sarah to make room for them.

"Hello, we are from the City Education Bureau, the discipline inspection section. We have received a report that Hannah Qin is suspected of medical disturbance and malicious medical expense. We will investigate and we're now collecting evidence. Please cooperate with our work."

The leading middle-aged man looked at Hannah and said calmly.

Chapter 162

"Who, who's delaying the medical fees? Which unit do you belong to? Why are you talking nonsense as soon as you come in?"

Sarah became anxious all of a sudden and stood in front of the three middle-aged men with a displeased look on her face.

"The National Education Bureau, inspection department. Here is my document."

The middle-aged man took out his document and showed it to everyone.

"Let me see, you can't be an imposter, are you? The leaders of the Health Bureau haven't come yet, how can the staff of the Education Bureau come so fast?"

Sarah grabbed the document from the middle-aged man's hand and then looked at it suspiciously.

There was a flash of displeasure in the eyes of the middle-aged man.

At the same time, Jim asked lightly, "Who did you get the report from? Even the people from the Health Bureau haven't come over to investigate. Aren't you in too much of a hurry?"

"If you have any problem with this inquiry, you can go directly to the Municipal Bureau to register it. As for Hannah Qin, we now need to ask you three questions for investigation and evidence. Please answer truthfully."

The middle-aged man directly bypassed Jim and asked Hannah.

"First, have you learned about the charges here before you were admitted into St. De Hospital?"

Hearing this, Hannah quickly denied, "I don't even know anything about St. De Hospital. It was my relative who forced me to come here. He said that the conditions here were good, the doctor was good, and he also knew friends here. At that time, I didn't think much and followed him to enter this hospital."

"What's your relative's name?" asked the middle-aged man.

"Michael Qin, Jason Qin, and Ada, they are all outsiders from the countryside. None of them have a formal job. Now I suspect that they must have been working for this black hospital all the time. Otherwise, why do they have to introduce me to this hospital and charge such a high price? I trusted them so much, but in the end, I still fell into the hands of such poor relatives!"

Hannah said with resentment on her face.

"Yes yes, I introduced a good doctor to my mother, but they forced us here. Although you are from the Education Bureau, you must report this situation to the relevant departments. We can't let this kind of black hospital scalper go unpunished, they have to be severely punished!"

21:56

Sarah also said to the middle-aged man in an educated tone.

"Well, I see."

The middle-aged man nodded and asked a second question.

"About the bills from the hospital and the signature on the notices, were those signed by you and your family?"

As soon as he said that, the ward suddenly quieted down.

In fact, they had never read the amount of fees listed in the notice.

They always thought that it wouldn't cost much to do a gallstone surgery.

And even if it was expensive, there was still Michael and his family.

If they could rent a villa in Hundred Flowers Mountain to show off, how could they not help to pay for these medical expenses?

Moreover, Hannah knew that her big brother was reluctant to part with their family ties. As long as she said it, no matter how much money she needed, he would pay.

However, she didn't expect that the whole hospitalization and surgery cost 790,000 yuan. Michael just chose to turn off the phone and they couldn't get in touch with anyone in their family.

"I don't know!"

21:56

After a moment of silence in the ward, Hannah suddenly shouted impatiently.

"I need to sign so many notices every day. Who has the time to read each word clearly? Besides, I'm a patient. It's normal that my brain is not clear sometimes. As a hospital, don't they need to remind me of my responsibility? Anyway, I'm not admitting that I had those notices, so I can't remember anything!"

Hannah said loudly, turning her head and speaking as though she didn't care.

"Yes! We don't admit these notices. Every time, the hospital deliberately chooses times when my father and I are not here, and when my mother is not clear headed, for them to sign these notices. It's obvious that they're deliberately cheating us, so these notices have no any effect at all, they don't count! We won't pay!" Sarah also crossed her hands in front of her chest, indifferent.

"Well, I see."

From the beginning to the end, the middle-aged man did not argue with them and directly raised the third question.

"Hannah Qin, do you have the qualification now to pay the 790,000 yuan in medical fees, or if the hospital gives you time, will you be able to pay the fees by taking our loans, mortgaging or other means?"

"What do you mean?"

Sarah jumped up and stared at the middle-aged man. "Didn't you hear what we said just now? This is a black hospital. We were cheated by our poor relatives. How many times have we said it? What are you doing here? Are you going to investigate my mother?"

21:56

"Sir, just by receiving a simple report, you're investigating a patient who has yet to recover from her surgery, it doesn't seem appropriate, does it?"

Jim frowned. He thought this group of people were only making a routine inquiry on Hannah.

But judging from their questions, they seemed to be pursuing the matter to the end.

"Answer my question, please."

The middle-aged man did not care about Jim and asked Hannah again.

"Oh, my! I have a headache!"

Unexpectedly, after a moment of silence, Hannah suddenly held her head in her hands and began to wail.

"Mom, what's wrong with you?"

Sarah was shocked and hurriedly ran over.

"I have a headache. I can't answer the question now, my head feels like it's going to explode. Quick, get them to go out! And call a doctor for me!"

Hannah lay on the bed and wailed, as if she really couldn't stand it.

21:56

"But you are not..."

Sarah was going to say, wasn't it just a gallstone surgery?

Why is your heart hurting all of a sudden?

However, seeing Hannah's eyes from between her fingers, Sarah immediately understood. She turned to the middle-aged man and said ferociously, "Why are you still standing here? You made my mother so agitated. If anything happens to her today, can you take this responsibility? Get out of here now!"

"I tell you, I know Director Chan of the City Education Bureau. Today, I will tell him every word you said here and see how you so-called discipline officers treat a patient who has just finished her operation. At the same time, I will also bring up this matter to the Municipal Committee of Discipline Inspection. You can investigate others, but there are also people who can investigate you!"

Jim was so angry that his face turned red, and he pointed at the middle-aged man's face as he spoke.

The middle-aged man frowned. It was the first time he had encountered such a situation. Although he still doubted Hannah's current state, he considered it. After discussing it with his colleagues in a low voice, he said, "Let's go to the court now. We will come back after the doctor has finished checking the patient."

"Get lost!"

Sarah cursed.

21:56

Then, she protected Hannah with her face full of tension and asked the staff to get out of the room.

After the inspection staff left for a period of time and Jim confirmed that there was no one in the corridor, he quickly closed the door and walked to Hannah's bedside.

"What should we do? It seems that the Education Bureau is going to hold this matter accountable. If we can't afford this medical fee, not only your job will be lost, but we may also face a lawsuit." Jim said with a sad face.

"Why should we pay? Even if someone has to pay, it should be Michael's family who give us the money. They introduced this place to us. Now that there is something wrong, it should be their family's responsibility!" Sarah said angrily.

"But we can't get in touch with them now. The medical expenses are 790,000 yuan. Your mother is about to retire and live a good life. If she loses her job at this critical moment and our family bears such a big debt, it will take our lives!"

Jim sighed and looked at Hannah's resentful eyes at the same time. He asked, "What are you going to do?"

"What should I do?" Hannah's wailing look was gone. Instead, her face was full of resentment. She laughed and said, "Anyway, I'm like this now, and those officers dare not do anything to me. I'll just buy time and go to Michael's villa to find them in the morning. I don't believe that he has the money to rent a villa, but no money to foot this bill for me!"

21:56

"Yes! If it weren't for them, we wouldn't have sent you to this hospital. Mom, don't worry, I'll go now and see if they are really shameless and refuse to pay the money!"

Chapter 163

At 2:30 p.m.

Jason left the second floor and slipped to the third floor to see Lusa.

Today, it was Lusa's first day back as the deputy head nurse.

As the person who had encouraged her, Jason thought it was necessary to visit her and congratulate her.

He came to the door of the ward. The door was closed, and the observation window was covered with a layer of gray cotton.

It seemed that he had come at the right time, Lusa should be changing her clothes.

Jason stood at the door and took out his mobile phone. Just then, he received a voice message from Phoebe.

"Your cousin went to ask your parents for her medical expenses."

He could hear the laughter in her voice.

"When did it happen?" Jason's heart beat faster.

"Five minutes ago, it's still not too late for you to call them. But I can't keep keeping an eye on this for you. I have to buy clothes for the dinner party tonight, so I won't accompany you anymore."

21:56

"A dinner party?"

Did Phoebe still like to participate in such activities?

Jason shook his head and typed back, "Okay." Then he called the villa.

"This wooden head!"

Phoebe, who had just walked out of the hospital, suddenly became angry and clenched her hands into fists when she saw Jason's message.

When a girl, especially a beautiful girl, took the initiative to tell you that she wanted to go shopping and buy clothes, as a man, shouldn't you ask if he needed to go with her to help carry things?

What did he mean by 'okay'?

Did it not matter to him?

She deserved it, she still helped him think about how he could vent his anger on his second aunt's family.

Thinking about it, it seemed that it was simply her own wishful thinking!

A cold light flashed in Phoebe's beautiful eyes. She walked out of the hospital quickly and went straight to her destination by car.

At the same time.

Jason was waiting for Lusa, who had changed her clothes.

Maybe because of her previous salary, Jason could see that she wasn't dressed in any branded clothes.

21:56

It was a female suit that didn't fit her well. She wore a pair of black cropped pants and a pair of black high heels. Her hair was over her shoulders, covering the scar on her left cheek.

"Your salary for high-level private care isn't low, is it? You can't even afford clothes that fit you well?"

Jason looked her up and down, shook his head and said.

"Er, do you think that I don't look good in this dress?"

This was the first time that Jason showed a disappointed expression when she dressed up. Lusa suddenly felt a little nervous.

"Forget it, don't report for work today. Come to Glory Shopping Hall with me, and then go report to Director Liu's office."

Jason took Lusa's arm, turned around and walked out.

"Arrange a car for me. I'm going to Glory Shopping Hall right now."

Walking, Jason called Byron.

"Okay, I'll ask the driver to wait for you at the entrance now."

Byron hurriedly called the driver and arranged his own Mercedes to wait at the entrance.

They got in the car and closed the door.

Sitting next to Jason, Lusa nervously explained, "I am used to wearing uniforms in the hospital. I only had two casual outfits which I occasionally wear when I go out. This suit was bought when I came to St. De two years ago..."

21:56

"I know." Jason nodded.

"Then this..." Lusa asked nervously.

Jason turned his head and looked into Lusa's timid eyes. He said seriously, "When you return to the hospital from Glory Shopping Mall, you will no longer be the private nurse Lusa Chou. Instead, you will return to the hospital as the deputy general nurse of St. De Hospital. For the first time, the deputy general nurse of St. De Hospital is appearing in front of her subordinates. You have to look good, understand?"

Jason now needed to quickly help Lusa build her confidence. As a deputy general nurse, he was afraid that the effect would not be what he wanted.

"I, I got it..."

Looking at Jason's serious eyes, Lusa nodded blankly, and her heart was beating fast.

The car stopped at the entrance of Glory Shopping Hall.

Jason led Lusa to the LV women's clothing store on the fourth floor.

Previously, he spent a lot of money to buy heels worth nearly 10,000 yuan here. In addition, he looked very young and ordinary, so as soon as he entered the door, the salesgirls recognized him.

"Hello, sir. What do you need today? I can give you an introduction."

21:56

"Do you need women's clothing or women's shoes? There are some new products in the shop recently. Would you like me to help you take them out and try them on?"

"....."

In the face of the passionate greetings from the salesgirl, Jason looked at Lusa and said, "Pick them out yourself. Call me when you finish."

"Oh, okay."

Lusa looked like she had lost her soul. Under the enthusiastic support of the salesgirls, she began to pick clothes.

Jason sat on the sofa on one side and took out his mobile phone in boredom. He was eager to see what was going on in his class group chat.

"What's wrong with this place? I don't even see a salesgirl around. Is this still an LV store? What's with the service attitude?"

A bitter and harsh voice came into his ears, and Jason subconsciously turned his head and looked over.

At the door of the store, a middle-aged plump woman in a floral-printed dress was holding a young man in her arms and waiting to see what would happen next.

"Maybe there's something going on in the shop. It's not too late if we go somewhere else first and come back later." the boy said.

"Ha, now the service of such luxury stores are getting worse. No matter how big it is, they have to leave someone to stand guard at the door. Forget it, since my little baby has said so, then let's not argue with them. Let's go to other places and have a look."

The plump woman put her arms around the guy's waist dotingly, and sashayed out towards the Gucci store opposite.

"Is the relationship between mother and son so close now?"

Jason shook his head speechlessly. The boy seemed to be about the same age as him. No matter how deep the relationship between mother and son was, it was better for him to keep a certain distance at this age.

After texting for a while, Jason raised his head and looked at Lusa, who was in a dilemma at the counter next door. He stood up and walked over.

"What's wrong? Did you not see anything you like?"

Lusa's eyebrows furrowed, and she was hesitating in front of a row of racks.

Seeing Jason coming, the saleswoman next to him immediately smiled and said, "This lady likes two sets of professional clothes, but she hasn't decided which one she wants to buy yet."

Lusa also frowned and nodded. "One's white and one is pink. Although the pink looks nice, it's not suitable in a hospital, isn't it?"

21:56

Looking at the conflicted Lusa, Jason smiled and said, "Pack up these clothes."

"No, no!" Lusa was stunned for a moment, and then hurriedly waved her hand to explain, "I didn't mean that. I just think..."

"Don't tell me that you plan to wear the same suit to work. Also, as the deputy general nurse, you have to attend some events. You still need some clothes."

As Jason spoke, he indicated for the salesgirl to pack up all the clothes on the rack. Then he turned to face the shoe rack.

"These high heels are beautiful as well. Which pair do you like?" Jason asked with a smile.

Looking at Jason, Lusa suddenly had an idea. Without looking at him, she picked up a pair of pink high heels and said, "Just this, I like this!"

"This?" Jason nodded and said to the salesgirl, "Pack up all the shoes in this row, including the pair she likes."

"Okay, please wait for a moment, sir."

While Lusa was flabbergasted, dozens of LV shopping bags were tidied up by the saleswoman and neatly placed in front of the counter.

"You spent a total of 23,000 yuan. Would you like to pay in cash or credit card?"

"Card. No password."

21:56

Jason handed the black card to the salesman, and then he looked at Lusa grumpily and said, "You're going to be the deputy general nurse earning an annual salary of two million yuan. You don't have to be so shocked with this amount of clothes and shoes."

"I..."

Lusa stood aside at a loss. She knew why Jason did this. But with the 23,000 yuan that was just spent on clothes and shoes, it was difficult for the frugal Lusa to snap back to reality.

"Is there any need for necklaces, earrings, rings or watches?" Jason asked.

"No, no, no. I have all those. You don't have to buy them." Lusa hurriedly refused. She was afraid that Jason would be agitated and swipe his card for a diamond watch. In the case, it wouldn't even be enough to repay him by marrying him.

"Okay, if you like them, you can buy it yourself in the future. I don't know how to help women pick things." Jason told the truth.

At this moment, he suddenly heard a familiar voice coming from the door, and there were footsteps approaching quickly.

"Lusa, why are you here?"

Jason looked back and found that the mother and son had come back again.

21:57

Under the woman's embrace, the man widened his eyes and looked at Lusa, his eyes full of disbelief.

"An...Antony Zhang?" Lusa's smallmouth was slightly opened, and her eyes were also full of shock.

Chapter 164

Four different gazes, met in the middle.

Lusa and the man looked at each other.

Jason and the plump woman also looked back and forth in confusion.

"What's wrong? Do you know her?"

The plump woman spoke in a very loud accusatory voice, which was quite uncomfortable to the ear.

"Who is she?" Lusa frowned and asked, staring at their interlocked arms.

"She is my..."

The man opened his mouth but heard the plump woman beside him suddenly raise her voice. She pointed at Lusa and said, "This b*tch, is she the nurse you told me about before who gave you living expenses every month?"

B*tchy nurse?

Jason frowned and vaguely understood something.

"Dear, let me explain..."

The man looked up nervously. When he saw the plump woman's doubtful eyes, he suddenly shivered and his expression changed. He turned to look at Lusa and said fiercely, "What's wrong with you? Didn't I tell you not to pester me? Why are you still following me? Why is this woman so shameless? Get out of here! I don't want to see you again in the future!"

21:57

As he spoke, the man looked like he was determined, reaching out and pushing Lusa's shoulder.

Without any defense, Lusa staggered and fell to the ground.

"Ha, little goblin, you're so young and shameless. Antony is my man now, you better stay away in the future. If I see you again, I'll tear your mouth apart!"

The plump woman cursed at Lusa and held Antony in her arms, ready to go into the shop.

"Wait a minute."

Jason bent down and helped Lusa stand up. He lowered his head and said, "You're so rude, at least apologize before you leave."

"Apologize?" The plump woman stopped, looked at Jason with disdain and said, "So you two know each other. It seems that after Antony dumped this nurse, her standard for men has dropped. How desperate is she? She even went for men like you, and bought so many things. I guess she can only afford it by selling her blood?"

Jason looked at the plump woman in front of him.

She weighed at least 85 kilograms, and she had huge curls in her hair. Dressed flamboyantly like a tyrant, her ears, neck, and hands were decked in jewels and diamonds.

21:57

"What are you looking at? Let me tell you, I'm not interested in you at all. What's more, you look like those beggars from the countryside, unlike my baby. Not only is he good-looking, he is highly skilled in bed. From what I see, you're not even worth half of my baby, and you suit this poor nurse. A b*tch suits a dog, forever." The plump woman looked disdainful.

"You're not allowed to talk about our Jason like that!"

There was a sudden agitation on Lusa's face.

"Ha, she's protecting him now. Baby, look at the woman who wanted you by her side with that pitiful salary. You've only broken up with her for a while and she has found a gigolo who's worse than you. It's lucky that you listened and decided to be with me. If you were still with this nurse, you would be shamed unknowingly!" The plump woman said proudly.

In fact, Antony had been with this plump woman for a long time.

At that time, Lusa and Jason did not know each other.

Lusa also gave Antony a few thousand yuan as living expenses every month.

But from start to end, Antony had never touched Lusa.

Lusa just wanted Antony as a form of psychological comfort. With the difference in their ages, Lusa was not able to overcome that mental barrier.

21:57

Secondly, Lusa was stuck in the hospital almost every day, and there were not many opportunities for them to meet. Even if Antony had the thought, they didn't have time.

But more importantly, the plump woman was richer than Lusa.

The plump woman was in the jewelry business and was quite famous in Nandu. She gave Antony more than 12,000 yuan every time, and promised that once he graduated, she would gift him with a Mercedes, which was easily worth more than 300,000 yuan.

As for Antony, he got used to spending money. He was worried that Lusa was not giving him enough money, so he decided to go with the plump woman.

Anyway, he couldn't get her body, and she wasn't as rich as the plump woman.

However, Antony had always fantasized about Lusa. He wanted to drag it on until he got to sleep with her, but unexpectedly, everything was revealed today.

"Forget it, honey, let's not argue with them. Didn't you say that you wanted to buy me the latest shoes and clothes from this store? We're going to buy them now. Don't pay attention to these two poor people."

Antony looked at Jason and Lusa with disdain. He took the plump woman's hand and was about to leave.

"We're not selling the clothes to you." Jason said lightly.

21:57

"Wow, you're being all haughty now. I am the VIP of this store. Would they not sell it to me just with your words? Do you think this store is yours? Why don't you take a look at yourself first?"

The plump woman snorted disdainfully and followed Antony into the hall.

"Go and take out all the clothes and shoes in the store. I want them all."

Jason turned his head and told the salesgirl next to him.

"What?" The salesgirl was still completely immersed in the dramatic plot and didn't react immediately.

"You, come here."

Jason turned his eyes directly to the salesgirl next to him and said, "Whether it's for men or ladies, clothes, shoes, belts... anything that your store is selling, including your stock, I want it all. Understand?"

"Yes, I understand!"

The salesgirl answered in a trembling voice. Then she turned her head and said to the others, "What are you waiting for? Hurry up and retrieve the products for the guests. Hurry!"

Only then did the salesgirls realize what was going on. In an instant, they dispersed and ran madly toward the warehouse and display.

No matter how much richer the woman looked compared to 21:57

Jason.

But Jason just spent 320,000 yuan on the black card earlier.

This meant that this card, which was said to be a limited-edition Supreme Black Card jointly created by the five major banks of Huaxia, was real!

In the entire Nandu, there was only one possibility where someone had the right to hold this black card.

This little boy was from the Chan family!

In Nandu, no one dared to offend the richest man.

Even the CEO of LV was no exception.

Soon, the angry cries of the plump woman rang out from the display cabinet in the hall.

At the same time, bags of goods, which were quickly packed up, were sent to the counter respectfully by the salesgirls.

The cashier machine on the counter didn't stop at all.

In less than ten minutes, a long receipt dropped from the counter and extended towards the ground, not stopping.

"What's wrong with this, why did you remove all the products and not sell me any of them?"

The plump woman finally couldn't bear it anymore. She rushed to the front desk with Antony in anger and questioned the busy salesgirl.

"Sorry, currently all the goods in this store have been bought by this gentleman, even the ones in our warehouse. If you need anything, we will call you or send you a text message when the new goods are delivered next month. Please remember to pick up the call."

21:57

The salesgirl explained with a smile as she quickly keyed in the orders.

"All, all of them? Him?"

The plump woman pointed a trembling chubby finger at Jason and said with astonishment, "Do you mean that this little loser, bought all the products and stock in your shop, and paid for it all at once?"

"Yes, Ma'am." The salesgirl smiled.

"You're wrong. That card is not mine. It belongs to my wife."

Jason put the Supreme Black Card in Lusa's hand from behind and then said with a smile, "Dear, I think we're almost done. We can pay now."

"Alright!"

Lusa bit her lip tightly, stood up, and walked to the counter.

"Ma'am, the total is 1.9 million yuan. Earlier, we have asked the manager for permission, and he approved for us to give you a 8% discount. After the discount, it will be 1,432,000 yuan. Also, we will gift you new products to try every month. Will you be paying by card?"

The salesgirl was trembling lightly. It was as if she could see this month's salary. In the commission column, it would be a terrifying number.

21:57

"By card."

Lusa smiled and put the black card in the salesgirl's hand.

Chapter 165

Ting!

The payment was successful!

When Lusa took the bill and signed it, the plump woman and Antony looked shocked.

More than 1.4 million...

The plump woman did not think that she could afford it.

But all of a sudden, they spent so much money on clothes and shoes.

The plump woman thought, even if she could do it, she would have to take some time to consider.

She even had to check her company's capital, to see if there would be a sizeable gap.

But this nurse in front of her...

She made a decision that the plump woman couldn't make, without as much as a blink. The key was the expression on Lusa's face, she looked so relaxed as if she didn't just spend 1.4 million yuan, but just a cup of pearl milk tea on the roadside.

"How is it possible, Lusa Chou. Your monthly salary is less than 10,000 yuan, isn't it? How can you have so much money to, to, to buy these things..."

21:57

Antony couldn't even speak properly. He remembered that Lusa clearly told him she was just a nurse and had worked in Nandu for a short period of time. This was more than one million yuan. How could she afford this?

This was completely different from the Lusa in his impression!

"You know it's just her salary. As the head nurse of our hospital, she receives more dividends than this at the end of each year. Why are you so agitated?" Jason rolled his eyes and told the truth.

"Head nurse?"

Antony and the plump woman looked at each other.

Antony might not know much about this position, but the plump woman knew.

She had a big customer who was the head nurse of a hospital in Nandu.

It was said that she had more power than some directors.

Some powerful people wanted to enter the hospital to appoint the famous doctors to do their surgeries, and some medical representatives wanted to enter the hospital to sell their products. Without the head nurse's consent, they couldn't even step in.

When the woman was hospitalized previously because of a cerebral ischemic stroke, she even gave the client 90,000 yuan as a red packet, so she could get the best cardiovascular surgeon for her operation.

Moreover, the accumulated expenses of this head nurse in the plump woman's store, was far more than one million yuan!

However, the head nurse was already over fifty years old and was about to retire. The little girl in front of her looked too young, didn't she?

"Ha, stop pretending. There is no head nurse as young as you in this world. You, a low-level nurse, was probably bought over by some man. Today, in order to annoy me, you suddenly spent so much of your man's money. I'm guessing that he probably received a text about the expenditure and is rushing over right?"

The plump woman thought for a while and said with a strange smile.

"H-honey, are you saying that Lusa is also being supported by a man?" Antony's eyes flashed and he sneered.

"Of course. I have been a businesswoman for so many years, and I still have some friends in Nandu. I also know a lot of people in the hospital. I haven't heard of such a young head nurse." The plump woman said proudly.

"I knew it, you were so stingy when you gave me money, and I couldn't buy enough equipment to play my games every month. How could you spend more than one million yuan on clothes and shoes? So after you were bought over by a man, you went to get a gigolo for yourself. You must be so busy, sleeping back and forth between two men. You still pretended to be pure and clean in front of me, but you're just one of those women who sleep around with numerous men. This is unexpected."

When he heard the plump woman say that Lusa was also being supported by a man, Antony thought of how she refused to let him kiss her, and he was jealous, words becoming more unscrupulous.

"Ma'am, these are all your items. Would you like to check them on the spot?"

At this time, the salesgirl came over, stood in the middle and said to Lusa with a smile.

"No, I'll write an address for you. You can arrange for someone to send it over directly."

Lusa picked up the paper and pen on the counter, wrote down the name of Jason's villa in the Jade Valley, and handed it to the salesgirl.

"Okay, I'll get someone to send things to your house now..."

"No need." Jason waved his hand and interrupted the salesgirl. "My wife has people waiting downstairs. They'll be up soon."

People?

While Lusa was in a daze, she heard a burst of rapid and steady footsteps sounding in the corridor outside the store.

"Head Nurse Chou, I've already prepared the car for you.

21:58

"We'll handle the items, you can go back and have a rest."

Several muscular men stood at the door. The leader was Byron's driver who had just sent them to the shopping mall. After receiving a text message from Jason, he immediately called the security department of the hospital for help.

"Alright." A little surprised, Lusa calmed herself and nodded lightly. She said, "Move the things into the car and send them to the No. 2 villa in the Jade Valley when you are done."

"Yes!"

These people did not ask a single word. They stepped into the store and began to carry Lusa's bags in a hurry.

"Well, it's time for us to go."

Jason stood up from the sofa and glanced at the plump woman and Antony's embarrassed faces.

After all, whether Lusa was the head nurse of a hospital or not, it didn't matter.

Before their eyes, she spent 1.4 million yuan in the blink of an eye on clothes. At the same time, this group of men who came in to help obviously came from a military background. A person who could hire such people as her followers were bound to be extraordinary.

She was not like how Antony described her, just a simple little nurse.

Antony looked at Lusa, and his face was almost green.

21:58

"Why did you keep it from me before?" Antony hesitated for a moment, then opened his mouth and asked.

"What am I hiding from you?" Lusa asked in confusion.

"You are obviously very rich, but why did you just give me so little money every month? You even told me that you were just a nurse, and your monthly salary was not much. Did you lie just to test me?" Antony said reluctantly.

In terms of appearance, Lusa was far ahead of the plump woman.

In terms of money, Lusa was not inferior to her either.

But Antony got rid of such a beautiful goddess for an ugly woman with fat all over her body. At this moment, Antony's face did not look good.

"No, I wanted to give you a surprise after you graduated, but I didn't expect that you would give me a surprise instead."

Lusa smiled slightly, her beautiful face lighting up.

"Let's go."

At this moment, a hand suddenly reached out and held Lusa's cheek.

Jason touched her cheek and said with a smile, "We still have to go look at cars in the afternoon. I have already made an appointment. We shouldn't let others wait too long."

"Okay." Lusa nodded, and the two of them walked out of the shop and left.

21:58

It was not until they left the mall and got in the car that Jason let go of the hand that was holding Lusa's cheek.

"Thank, thank you."

Lusa's heart was pounding and she touched the wound on her left cheek with her hand.

If Jason had not been quick-witted and used his hand to cover her left cheek, no matter what they had done earlier, it would have been ruined by this scar.

But for some unknown reason, at this moment, not only did Lusa feel that there was nothing wrong with this scar, but she was even a little grateful.

If it hadn't been for the scar, everything in the mall would not have happened.

Especially in the end, how Jason took her in his arms and tried to cover up for her.

"He's obviously a kid who hasn't grown up yet. Why would he give me a sense of security..."

Lusa murmured secretly, but suddenly she raised her head and said to Jason in a hurry, "Um, that, the money I spent today, when I get my salary, I will return it all to you. Thank you, Jason!"

Jason looked at her and was stunned.

But at this time, the phone suddenly rang.

Jason took out his mobile phone and looked at it. He frowned.

21:58

"Mom, what's wrong?" Jason took a deep breath and asked.

"Where are you, Jason? Quick, come home. Your cousin and your uncle are trying to drag your father to the hospital. They want him to pay their medical expenses!"

On the phone, it was the anxious voice of Ada who sounded like she was on the verge of tears.

Chapter 166

"Let's call the police."

Jason ended the call and turned to Lusa.

Lusa nodded. When she was in the ward, she already knew what had happened outside.

"Master Qin, return to Jade Valley to rest. I will settle Uncle's affairs." Lusa said after thinking for a while.

She had worked in a small hospital before, so she still had some experience in dealing with people who made trouble.

Jason thought for a moment and nodded in agreement.

Three cars, more than 100 items.

They were stuffed into the cloakroom on the first floor of Jason's Jade Valley villa.

Then, Lusa bid goodbye to him and took a car back to the hospital.

"I'm not going to report to Director Liu first. Here are some instructions that you can pass down first."

Lusa, who had changed into a fitted white LV uniform, looked very capable.

As she walked into the hospital, she issued three orders to the director of the hospital who had arrived in a hurry.

"First, throw Hannah and her family out of the VIP room and lock them up in the security department. I've contacted Director Yang of the Municipal Bureau. The police will be here soon. You don't have to worry about being held responsible."

"Second, register Hannah Qin into the debtor system, and alert the banks, the railroads, the hospitals and other related departments. If she can't pay the medical fees on time today, she won't be able to take a train, plane, book a hotel, take out any loans or enjoy any societal benefits in the next seven years. Even if she goes to the hospital to get flu medicine, if she doesn't pay a certain deposit first, no hospital will accept her."

"Thirdly, get the leaders of the Education Bureau waiting in the office to go back first, and tell them that Hannah Qin will be sent to the detention center today and will be on the list of debtors. If they don't want their school and unit to be exposed, these people will know what to do."

"Fourth, about Jim and Sarah..."

Lusa paused and shook her head. "Forget it. Take care of these three issues for me first. I'll call you if I need anything else."

Jason had instructed her to leave a way out for the family.

Otherwise, just by the fact that Sarah tore the receipts in public and verbally abused the staff, she would already have a list of existing charges, and would be questioned by multiple departments within minutes. She would probably lose her job afterwards.

21:58

After all, this was St. De hospital.

Just with the name alone, any department in the state would not underestimate their power.

After that, Lusa waited outside the ward in person.

After the security guard got Hannah and her family out of the ward, she sent Jason's father home.

"Why are you here again? Who let you in? Get out of here. This is my ward. You are invading the patient's privacy. Get out of here now, or I will call the police now and arrest all of you and put you in prison!"

As soon as the security guard pushed the door open and walked into the ward, Hannah's crazy shouts came from inside.

"Apologies, since you are suspected of delaying your medical fees, the hospital has decided to stop providing compensation for you, and you can't leave without permission before paying the medical fees. So, come with us to the Security department," said the security chief.

"Michael, do you see this? This is the hospital that your son introduced us! The medical fee is 790,000 yuan, and now they still want to arrest me. Settle this by yourself. If you don't pay the medical fees, I will disown you as my big brother, and neither of us will ever contact each other!" Hannah sat on the bed, arms crossed over her chest, forcing Michael.

21:58

"But, but, I don't have 790,000 yuan either..."

Michael's face was full of disbelief.

Although he also wanted to help his second sister, he couldn't help but hesitate when he thought of what Jason had said to him on the phone.

"Why would you not have money? If you don't have money, why did you rent such a good villa to show off? And don't think I'm unaware that the country has been subsidising money to the rural areas every year. Although my registration has been transferred out of my hometown, some of the money should belong to us, right? Anyway, I don't care. My current situation is caused by your family. If you don't pay the medical fees, I won't let you go!"

Hannah's attitude was tough.

In her opinion, Michael's family was very thrifty. They didn't even buy a car. They must have a lot of savings.

It was just that he didn't want to use it.

"Yes, uncle. Our family lived a good life in Nandu, but as soon as you came over, it became like this. If it weren't for Jason, my mother wouldn't be trapped in this hospital and owe them so much medical expenses. You can't deny it."

Sarah also curled her lips and said.

"Michael, to be honest, with our family's status, do you really think that this hospital can do anything to us? After all, we have been in the industry for so many years, how can we not have any acquaintances in the health system? We are almost family now. Or else, let me call the leaders of the health bureau directly and we can settle it in a few minutes. But what would happen later? Are you ever going to see your sister and niece again? Is money or kinship more important? Don't tell me you can't even differentiate between that?"

21:58

Jim sat on a chair by the side and said to Michael in a well-educated tone.

Looking at the three members of Hannah's family and the security guard who was standing at the door, Michael grit his teeth and said, "Fine. Second sister, brother-in-law, I'll pay half of it. I'll pay 400,000 yuan, and you can settle the remaining 390,000 yuan. Will that do?"

400,000?

When they heard this number, Hannah and her family's eyes lit up.

But soon, Hannah and Jim looked at each other and immediately became arrogant. They said coldly, "Big brother, I think you have to be clear that we are not negotiating. You should be paying for this. If it wasn't because of your son, why would I owe such a large sum of money here? Besides, if you can afford 400,000, I'm sure you can afford the remaining 390,000."

"Yes, you can pay the 390,000 yuan as well. Just take it as the money that you've claimed on our behalf ever since we shifted our registration out." Jim said lightly.

"What money? The money is split by the number of people in the village according to their household registration. Each person only gets less than 500 yuan a year. You won't get anything once you're shifted your registration out. I haven't received any money on your behalf." Michael said with a confused look.

"Why can't you understand what I mean? I'm giving you a way out. If I have to be completely honest, you should be paying for this. Villagers will always be villagers. I can talk in a nicer manner, but you will never understand what I mean." Jim said grumpily.

Michael was also stunned.

He looked at Jim in confusion and said, "You mean that you want me to pay the 790,000 yuan on your behalf, but take it that you paid?"

Jim frowned and said, "What do you mean by 'on your behalf'? You should be paying. Without your family, this wouldn't have happened to us. So your family should take the responsibility. Do you understand?"

"Sigh, my big brother is a villager. If you tell him these theories, how will he understand? Just get him to pay. Go to the office to pay. I'm so angry that I can't breathe properly." Hannah said impatiently.

Michael slowly understood.

He stood up and nodded, saying, "I'm a villager, and I don't understand the theories you learned in school and the unit. But the day you barged into my house to the way you forced Jason to find an acquaintance to get you into the hospital, I witnessed it with my own eyes. No one forced you to come here. You insisted on coming here, but you couldn't afford the medical fees. So you had to come to me. I'm telling you now, stop threatening me with our relationship. I'm a villager, but I'm not blind. I can tell the difference between right and wrong. You're my sister, but Jason is my son. I'm telling you, I'm not paying a single cent. Do whatever you want!"

21:58

Chapter 167

Michael left angrily, which made Hannah and her parents stunned.

They thought that as long as they took advantage of the sibling relationship, the three of them could take turns to attack, and Michael would pay the medical fees for her even if he used all his money and mortgaged the house in his hometown.

But they didn't expect this.

They didn't expect that Michael would say this, and side with his son.

This was totally different from the honest relatives in their hearts previously. As long as they talked, they would only bow to each other.

Seeing Michael leaving the ward directly, the security guard at the door did not wait anymore.

"Move all the things they have used away and take them to the Department of Security. We'll deal with them when the police come."

As soon as the security captain finished his words, he saw Sarah suddenly jump up. She pointed at the security guard's nose and scolded, "I'll see who dares to touch my mother, you stinky security guards. Today, I have to destroy him!"

21:58

Jim got up indignantly, stood in front of the security guards, and snapped, "Do you know who we are? We are all civil servants. A group of security guards are rebelling. How dare you attack us? Believe it or not, I will call the police right now and arrest you all!"

"A civil servant?" The security captain smiled. "Can a civil servant delay their medical expenses? Don't talk nonsense. Take them away!"

"I'll see who dares to do that!"

At the moment when the security guard came up, Jim and Sarah rushed up and grabbed the other party's neck. Then, they heard Hannah, who was lying on the bed behind them, scream "Ouch", and started to grab her head and roll around.

"I can't make it! I can't! Oh, the headache is here again. Sarah, call the doctor forme! Honey, drive these people out! I'm out of breath!"

"Get out of here! Can't you see that my mother is angry with you? If anything happens to her, none of you can escape!"

Sarah saw the opportunity and rushed back to the hospital bed, holding Hannah's hand tightly, with a sad expression on his face.

"Haha, don't worry. As long as she's not dead, she can be saved in our hospital. Take them away. Don't waste time!"

While speaking, Jim was directly subdued by the security guards who suppressed him. Then Sarah has also pulled away from the hospital bed. They watched helplessly as Hannah was brought out of the hospital bed and then shooed from the VIP ward.

21:58

An hour later.

Jason, who had just walked to the door of Yennie's house, received a text message from Lusa.

"Hannah Qin has been taken away by the police. I will report to you immediately if there is any news."

"Okay."

Jason replied and rang the doorbell.

"Have you settled the problem at the hospital? I'm helping you look at flights to Tokyo."

Yennie opened the door and said with a smile.

"Alright, have you cooked yet?" Jason raised his head and asked.

Yennie, who was wearing high heels, was indeed half a head taller than Jason.

She was twenty- seven or twenty- eight. No matter in appearance or body, she did not have any sense of immaturity at all. She was a ripe peach.

"Yes, I made some seafood you like. Let's have some wine. It's rare for you to smoothly deal with your relatives. It's also something worth celebrating."

Yennie smiled and led Jason into the villa.

21:58

Perhaps it was because of the bad nature in men's bones, or the feeling of romance deep in Jason, or maybe just because he lacked a woman in his life.

Although he was not willing to admit it, Jason liked the feeling of being with Yennie.

When the two of them were together, he really felt relaxed and full of security.

"Water or coffee?"

As Yennie said, she went to the kitchen.

"Just plain water, I still want to have a good sleep at night," Jason said with a smile.

"Alright, let's have some wine then. I have a bottle of good wine from Earl. I've had it for several years. Let's drink it today."

Yennie seemed to be in a good mood. Maybe it had something to do with what Jason had experienced in the past two days.

She could deeply understand the feeling of being suppressed by a relative to a state where she could not breathe.

Otherwise, she would not have chosen to leave the capital city, go abroad to study alone, and then come to Nandu University to work and live in this city that was thousands of kilometers away from her family.

The warm light, the aroma of seafood, and the two pieces of broccoli and fruit salad made people's appetite grow.

21:58

Yennie gracefully cut the french oyster on the plate in front of her, but she didn't put it in her mouth. She looked at Jason sitting opposite and asked, "Are you really going to Tokyo so soon?"

"Yes, I'm a little tired recently. I want to go there and relax for a few days." Jason nodded and answered.

"According to the latest news from Tokyo, Emily is recovering quite well. But even if you go there, I'm afraid you won't be able to see her." Yennie tentatively asked.

"I know," Jason said. He wiped the corner of his mouth with a white napkin and said frankly, "The main thing is that I want to be in a different environment before my family gathering. I'll be back in two days."

"Then I think you'd better not go," Yennie said with a smile.

"Why?" Jason asked in confusion.

"I'm just worried that while you're in Tokyo, you won't even be able to see Emily and it might affect your mood. Why not you divert your attention and try to do some exercise. Maybe the effect will be more ideal." Yennie said.

"Do sports?" Jason frowned and lowered his head to cut the oyster on the plate.

Yennie looked at Jason's reaction and smiled gently. She said, "Rowing, diving, surfing... All the exercises that stimulate the nerves in your brain and will let you relax after. It will reduce a lot of negative emotions that are constrained in your brain. It is very suitable for your current state."

21:59

"But as you said, I don't know how to do any of that."

Jason shook his head with a wry smile.

These activities were not something that an ordinary family could do.

He hadn't even seen the sea yet, let alone do these expensive exercises.

"I can bring you with me." Yennie looked at Jason with a smile on her beautiful face. "When I finish the business on hand, we can fly directly to Sanya. At this time, there are not many people on the sea. Those sports I just mentioned can be taught to you slowly. What do you think?"

Jason raised his head and looked into Yennie's long, narrow and charming eyes. He nodded and began to eat.

The delicious wine and dishes were fragrant. With their gentle chatter, the atmosphere over dinner was quite harmonious.

When Jason left, Yennie handed him half a bottle of red wine that had not been finished yet. The red wine helped him to sleep, which was suitable for Jason's current state.

That night, Lusa did not come back.

On the first day of work, there was a huge amount of work that she had to take on.

Especially when it came to Hannah, Lusa had to keep an eye on her at all times. If there was any news, she would have to report it to Jason for the first time.

21:59

Jason sat on the sofa with the bottle in his arms. While drinking, he messaged Luther and asked him about the family gathering in a few days.

Mary had arranged the family gathering on her own.

The main purpose of the celebration was to celebrate their reunion after nineteen years. At the same time, Jason would officially be put on the stage and introduced to the Shen family and the Chans, for everyone to see the only son of the Shen family.

This feeling of being surrounded by people made Jason feel quite uncomfortable.

Especially since he had been hidden for so many years, approaching so many people in the upper class gave him quite a bit of pressure.

"Jessica should arrive on that day, right? And when are you going over? Are you driving, can you give me a lift?"

Jason hoped that some relatives he knew would come with him so that he would not be embarrassed.

"My cousin will definitely go, but what are you thinking about? I won't take you with me even if I drive. You're representing the Shen family as their son. You should be with your parents. Why would you go with the Chans?"

Luther sent a voice message and the background was quite noisy. It seemed that he had been discharged from the hospital and was having a good time outside.

21:59

"Alright, go have some fun. I'll go to sleep first."

Jason had just finished sending the voice message when a pretty profile picture popped out, with an unread message.

"Fifteen minutes, Livehouse. Get over here right now!"

Chapter 168

After he finished listening to the voice message.

Jason frowned and looked at the girl's beautiful profile picture.

Phoebe Wen?

He clearly remembered that Phoebe's profile picture was a green-eyed golden kitten. When did she change it back to her photo?

Wasn't she afraid of attracting perverts?

After all, the people nearby were still very powerful.

Previously, Jason had found out about a few of his female and male seniors...

"What's the matter? I'm going to sleep."

Jason looked at the time. It was already ten at night.

"Sleep? You have 14 minutes. If you don't come, just wait and see what happens!"

In the end, she sent a couple of threatening emojis.

"Looks like this girl has drunk too much."

Jason sighed, thought for a while, and felt that it was not suitable for Yennie to drive after drinking. So he called a driver and left.

The LiveHouse that Phoebe mentioned was a famous bar in 21:59

Nandu.

The environment was not as rowdy as ordinary bars, but they often invited some famous folk singers and rock bands to sing live, so it was pretty popular. You had to buy tickets to enter.

Because Jason lived in the North Ring, and LiveHouse was towards the city center. No matter how much Phoebe urged him, it was almost eleven when he reached the place.

It was the most exciting timing of the night.

As soon as he got out of the taxi, Jason saw the colorful bar with a glass exterior and many sports cars parked at the door.

Porsches, Maseratis, and some Mercedes-Benz and BMW sports cars were neatly lined up at the door. Especially a black Lamborghini bat, lying there quietly like a beast hunting in the dark night, it was particularly eye-catching.

Of course, where there were luxury cars, there were also beautiful women.

It was midsummer.

Beautiful long legged ladies in mini skirts and high heels walked into the bar with their arms entwined. The smell of perfume was everywhere. Everywhere you could see thighs, arms, and even your ears were filled with the sound of seductive laughter.

"I didn't expect that Phoebe would like such a place?"

21:59

Jason stood at the door for a while, shook his head, bought the ticket and walked into the bar's lobby.

"They all deserve to die! They are our enemies! We have to tear him to pieces so that we can get some peace in this world for a moment!"

As soon as Jason entered the hall, he saw a group of rock singers with disheveled hair standing on the stage in front of the dance floor. The drumbeats sounded like they were hammering into his heart, urging the young men and women in the dance floor to twist their waists, venting their restless hormones.

"This girl really has two sides to her..."

Jason stood there for five minutes. Finally, he gave up on looking for Phoebe with just his eyes. He took out his mobile phone and was about to call her.

"Jason, why are you here?"

Jason looked back and met Cindy's equally surprised face.

At this moment, Cindy was standing hand in hand with another girl.

The ponytail, pink miniskirts, unique figure and temperament of girls who majored in dance, made them particularly outstanding even in this kind of place.

"Er, I haven't seen you in a while." Jason smiled awkwardly.

In fact, they did not contact each other during this period of time.

21:59

Jason could feel that Cindy seemed to be avoiding him deliberately after they left Melody Karaoke.

He didn't know the reason, but he could see that that day had left a big shadow on Cindy. After all, it was a matter of life and death. Cindy's reaction at that time left a deep impression on Jason.

"Yes, are you here to play or to look for someone? I have something else to do, so I won't stay with you."

Cindy seemed to be still avoiding Jason. After a few simple sentences, she waved goodbye.

Jason thought for a while.

He thought that Cindy must have recalled the unpleasant experience from that day as soon as she saw him. After all, the two of them were just acquaintances, nothing deeper.

He resumed making his call. Jason waited and looked around.

He could tell that the young people who came here, by appearance, auras and consumption level, it was at a different level as compared to the bar next to his school.

Long-legged ladies could be seen everywhere with their makeup done.

There were even a few familiar faces. Jason narrowed his eyes and looked at them carefully. He realised that it was Nina and a couple of her friends sitting in the booth not far away, drinking and smoking.

21:59

He had to admit that.

The posture of a beautiful woman smoking was very attractive to men.

Especially a young and beautiful woman like Nina.

Her pale legs were on display under her mini skirt as she leaned lazily on the sofa to smoke and drink, which attracted many men passing by.

However, in a place like this, Nina would not just only be with a couple of girlfriends.

Jason looked around.

As expected, Jason saw a few people striding toward him. One of them was very familiar. It was Simon, which he never saw after they separated at the foot of Sunset Mountain.

Moreover, looking at the way they were gazing at Jason, Jason knew that they weren't approaching with good intentions.

"Brother Lin, this is the rich second generation guy you told me about?"

The leader was a middle-aged man in a black T-shirt and jeans. His eyes swept over Jason, and the contempt in his eyes grew stronger.

"Yes, has Brother Jared not seen him before?" Simon said.

"Haha, no. In the whole of Nandu, only William Chan's two precious daughters frequent our bar. As for other kids who come from a decent family background, I've seen all of them. This guy looks unfamiliar. It seems that this is the first time he came to a place like ours."

The middle-aged man said as he used his hand to flick some imaginary dust on Jason's collar. He grinned and said, "Boy, it's very enjoyable to pretend to be a rich second generation, isn't it? Do you know where we are? Did you buy a ticket, or are you just taking a look? Or are you just taking a photo just to pretend that you're cool before you leave?"

Take a photo and pretend that I'm cool?

Jason shook his head. He didn't understand what they meant.

"Are you scared?" The middle-aged man turned his head and smiled at Simon. "Are you sure he's the rich second generation you're talking about?"

In fact, Simon was not willing to provoke Jason.

On the contrary, in the depths of his heart, he had an indescribable fear of Jason.

His looks, dressing, and experience were very ordinary. But every time there was news about him, none of those things could have been done by an ordinary person.

From the 2 million dollar Mercedes-Benz G to the generous treat of 300,000 yuan at the Royal Water Club with his classmates.

It was as if he was an unstoppable opponent. The opponent had seen through Simon thoroughly, but he knew nothing about him.

Especially the day before yesterday, he found his uncle and asked about the investigation of the Sunset Mountain case.

He remembered that his uncle, the director of the Public Security Bureau, only said one sentence to him.

"Don't meddle in it, don't ask about it, protect yourself."

After listening to this sentence, he pondered for a long time.

In the end, they could only come to a conclusion that the Sunset Mountain case should have been taken by higher-level people, and even the deputy director in charge of criminal investigation had no right to question it.

Meeting Jason at LiveHouse was purely a coincidence.

He was a frequent visitor of this bar, and he was very familiar with the manager. He also knew that all the rich second generations in Nandu often visited this place, so he planned to ask the manager to help him see if Jason was really a well-hidden rich second generation, or if it was just his illusion.

Just like rumors in the outside world, Jason was just a man who was being supported by a woman. He just liked to show off in front of his classmates with his woman's money.

"Say, did this guy offend you before? Do you need me to help you deal with it?" When the middle-aged man saw that Simon did not reply, he immediately said with dissatisfaction.

21:59

"There was a little conflict before, but Brother Jared is here today. I think it's better to let it go," Simon said with a smile.

The middle-aged man was stunned, and then sneered, "Oh, you're already calling me Brother Jared. I will help you settle this matter today."

With this, the middle-aged man turned his head and looked at Jason and said, "What's the matter? You have to give me an explanation."

"What do you want?" Jason didn't expect that he would meet these two people when he was just looking for someone. The most important thing was that Phoebe was still not answering her phone.

"Don't you like to pretend to be a rich second generation? Since a rich second generation has come to our bar, why don't you pay for everyone? It's not expensive, it's only 700,000 yuan. You can pay for everyone tonight. What do you think?"

Chapter 169

Pay for everyone there?

Jason frowned and looked at the bar manager in front of him.

Simon was not the only one behind him.

Behind him, there were three or four thugs who looked very imposing.

"Why do you want me to pay for everyone?" Jason asked in confusion.

"Why?" Jared turned his head and smiled. "Why? You made my friend unhappy. You can either kowtow to apologize, or pay for everyone in my friend's name. Since you don't want to pay, you can kneel down and kowtow."

"700,000 yuan is not a big deal for you, Master Qin. Some time ago, you spent more than 300,000 yuan at the Royal Water Club. We are old friends. It's not too much to spend 700,000 yuan to make friends with each other, is it?" Simon also laughed.

700,000 yuan was indeed not a big deal for Jason.

David gave him a hundred million at the beginning, but he hadn't spent that much yet.

Now with the balance in his card, not to mention paying for everyone, even if he directly bought LiveHouse, it would be a piece of cake for him.

21:59

However, Jason did not intend to spend a penny here tonight. He was just looking for someone.

"I'm talking to you, rich second generation! Do you want to kowtow, apologize, or pay for everyone? Look at how cowardly you are! If you pretend to be dumb again, believe it or not, I will ruin you now!"

Jared cursed, and at the same time, he was calculating wildly.

Simon had told him about Jason before. A fool who could spend 300,000 yuan on his classmates at the Royal Water Club had come to his place, like a sheep wandering into a tiger's mouth. If he didn't take advantage of Jason, Jared would not let him go.

Jason did not speak. He just frowned and looked at the number that he was calling, but was met with no response.

It was clear that she had hurriedly called him over, but why did she disappear when he arrived?

"You're pretending to be stupid, aren't you? John, get the band to stop singing. I want to see how he becomes a coward. First, he doesn't want to pay for everyone, second, he doesn't want to kowtow. I want to see how he can walk out of here safely!"

As Jared spoke, the man behind him nodded and ran to the stage, telling the band to stop.

As soon as the noisy bar quieted down, the crowd was stunned.

21:59

"What's going on? We were having fun, why did you stop the music?"

When several girls gathering around saw this scene, they started gossiping.

"It seems that the manager stopped the band. Could something have happened?" A sharp-eyed girl said.

"Could it be that some local tyrant wants to pay for everyone? I heard that this bar has a local tyrant who pays for everyone once a month. Did we run into him tonight? But I just came here and didn't have time to order any alcohol. What a great loss!"

"Look, the tyrant has appeared!"

Someone shouted and pointed his finger at the entrance.

As expected, under the eager gazes of the crowd, Jared took Jason's arm, held the microphone and said with a smile, "Everyone, you must have guessed what's going on. Yes, tonight, Master Qin will pay for everyone's expenses!"

A brief silence.

Then came waves and waves of cheers!

"Pay for everyone!"

"Pay for everyone!"

"Pay for everyone!"

The consumption for LiveHouse was pretty high.

21:59

The cheapest bottle of beer there was sold for more than 80 yuan.

After all, there were also a lot of rich second generations and young masters who often came here to play. The alcohol on the table in front of them had already piled up like a mountain. It could be imagined that the price to pay would be a horrifying number.

"Nina, this tyrant looks a little familiar. Have we seen him before?" A short-haired girl sitting beside Nina asked curiously.

"Haha, did you forget that previously at Nandu Airport, it was this person who secretly bought Haagen Daaz and followed the beautiful female guest into the private lounge room. At that time, Quincy and I wanted to expose him on the spot, but we didn't expect him to run away." Nina said, smoking.

"Oh my God, it's really him. But how can this kind of loser pay for everyone? Is the bar manager lying? Do you want us to remind him? Otherwise, when he gets the bill, he'll die from shock." The short-haired girl opened her mouth wide and said worriedly.

"No, it's not necessary. He's not as big a loser as you think. Besides, even if he doesn't have money, someone will come to pay the bill for him later."

Nina looked at Jason, puzzled. She was curious on what kind of woman would spend so much money to raise a loser like him, and she wanted to know what she looked like and where she came from.

At the same time.

In the other corner of the hall.

The girl in black leather pants held Cindy's hand tightly and said with a smile, "Cindy, it's not a small amount of money if he wants to pay for everyone. Do you think your friend really has the ability to do that?"

"Maybe. I'm not familiar with him, and I'm not sure."

Cindy frowned and swirled the wine in her hand. She did not believe that Jason would fall prey to such a small bar. She was just curious who Jason came to look for. Looking at the anxious look on his face at the entrance, it must be an important person.

The woman in leather pants noticed Cindy's expression.

She smiled and put her arm through Cindy's. She put her red lips close to her ear and said, "Stop pretending. I won't fight over the rich man with you. But you should be careful. If your body is stained, I don't want you anymore."

Cindy's hazed eyes were stunned. She looked back at the girl and nodded silently.

As the atmosphere reached its climax, Jared held Jason's arm and pushed him to the front.

"Master Qin, aren't you going to say something in front of so many enthusiastic fans?"

Jared was very satisfied with how the crowd was reacting.

22:00

He handed the microphone to Jason and whispered in his ear,

"Boy, don't play tricks. I know your background. It's only 700,000 yuan. If you clear it on my behalf, you'll be a friend of mine. But if you don't give me face, 700,000 isn't enough, but I'll take your two arms as well. Can you understand what I'm saying?"

Jason did not speak, and his eyes kept searching for that familiar face in the crowd.

He didn't care about the 700,000 yuan at all, but was more concerned about Phoebe's whereabouts.

He had called more than a dozen times and she didn't answer. Thinking of how she had begged him over the voice message, an ominous premonition inexplicably rose in Jason's heart.

"Then I'll say something."

Jason took the microphone and said in a dignified tone.

"This is the first time I have come to such a place. I don't know what the rule is, but since the manager said that I should pay for everyone, then, please turn on all the lights."

Everyone was stunned by Jason's words.

If you were paying, then pay. When did anyone turn the lights on in a club? Was there anything wrong with this person's brain?

"Kid, what are you trying to do?"

22:00

Seeing the commotion, Jared lowered his voice and said fiercely in Jason's ear.

"Paying for everyone. I spent hundreds of thousands of yuan to buy everyone drinks. Can't I even get the lights turned on?" Jason asked in confusion.

Jared looked at Jason with complicated eyes, nodded, and said loudly, "Turn on the lights!"

Whoosh!

A row of incandescent lamps instantly lit up the bar.

Those men and women, who were still immersed in the darkness and had not reacted yet, were suddenly blinded by the sudden light and covered their faces with their hands.

"What the heck, are you out of your mind? Why are you turning on the lights?"

"That's right. All the makeup on my face has been ruined by other people's kissing. Aren't you deliberately looking for trouble by turning on the lights now?"

"Hey? Where is my girlfriend? Who the hell took my girlfriend away? Return her to me quickly!"

When the lights were suddenly turned on, some of the actions hidden under the dim lights were exposed.

Some boys looked at their girlfriends, who should have been sitting next to them, but had somehow gotten into the arms of other men.

There were also some girls who looked at their boyfriend, with one hand reaching into their best friend's skirt...

22:00

The bar, which was originally quiet, soon fell into chaos.

"Turn off the lights! Turn off the lights!"

Jared suddenly panicked and shouted, but he didn't realise that Jason, who had been standing beside him, had disappeared quietly.

Chapter 170

"Where are you now? I'm at the entrance of the bar you mentioned. Why can't I see you?"

Jason slipped away from Jared, bent down and left the bar, hiding behind a black Jeep at the entrance.

He almost used the microphone to call out Phoebe's name.

But at the thought of her father's identity, he tried his best to hold it back.

The status of this family was too special.

Jason was not sure if someone in the bar would recognize her after he called out her name.

What's more, that situation just now was too high-profile.

If he had paid the 700,000 yuan for everyone, to look for one person.

No matter who this person was, she was bound to appear in the gossip websites and news media tomorrow in Nandu, including the social media of every young man.

If such a thing really happened.

Jason could guess how Phoebe would appear in front of him, and how much he would have to spend to solve this matter.

After sending a voice message, Jason clicked on an unread voice message sent by Luther ten minutes ago.

22:00

"Jason, it's such a great night, you really don't intend to come out and find me a sister-in-law?"

Judging from his voice, it was obvious that Luther had drunk too much.

He was slurring, and the surrounding environment was noisy. Some people were singing, and there were many girls laughing.

Singing?

Jason was stunned for a moment and quickly clicked on the voice message again.

"Jason, it's such a great night, you really don't intend to come out and find me a sister-in-law?"

What the heck?

Jason then clicked on the several voice messages that Luther sent before and listened again.

In the end, he came to a conclusion.

When Luther sent him this voice message, he was at LiveHouse!

The sound of those rock singers was too loud.

And his voice was also in the voice message that Phoebe sent.

The music was the same!

Was Luther together with Phoebe?

22:00

Doubtful, Jason video called Luther.

"D*mn you, this brat is hiding here!"

Hearing the cursing and footsteps behind him, Jason turned back in a hurry and saw Jared, together with Simon and a group of thugs from the bar, coming over angrily.

"What do you want?"

Jason frowned. He didn't expect that they would come out of the bar so soon.

"What do I want?" Jared walked up to Jason, looked him up and down contemptuously for a while, then pushed his head with his hand and said, "You haven't paid yet. Why are you running away?"

He was still clear minded. After all, today's main task was to let Jason take the blame and pay for everyone. As for the other new grudges, it would not be too late to solve them after he settled this matter.

"Did I promise you?" Jason frowned.

He did not promise Jared that he would pay. He just wanted to take the opportunity to confirm whether Phoebe was inside.

"Are you kidding me? Why did you ask me to turn on the lights if you weren't paying? Besides, I've already told everyone that you're paying. If you don't pay, I can't be the one paying right?" Jared pointed at Jason and said with a sneer.

22:00

Jason looked at the group of people in front of him and knew that tonight's matter could not be settled peacefully.

He suddenly remembered that with Luther's arrogant and domineering style, the bar manager should know him.

If he could find Luther, he should be able to solve all the problems.

He looked down at his cell phone and found that Luther was also not answering. He made several video calls but he wasn't answering.

"Yo, are you calling someone?"

Just as the video call was finally connected, Jared grabbed the phone from Jason's hand.

"What's the matter? You sent me so many videos calls. Have you found my sister-in-law? Are you in a hurry to let me see her.."

As soon as the call was connected, a blurry picture of Luther's face, which was against a woman's chest, appeared on the phone screen.

"Sh*t, what kind of rubbish mobile phone is this? He can still make a video call with this terrible video quality? Simon, is this guy a bumpkin? With this kind of phone, can he afford tonight's bill?"

Jared held his mobile phone and couldn't help but look back at Jason suspiciously.

Jason had bought this as a temporary phone after he came back from Sunset Mountain.

22:00

It was a thousand yuan phone that was made in China, but he felt that it was pretty useful. At least, the signal was good and the battery was powerful. So he just kept it and didn't change it.

"Haha, don't worry. This guy is rich. He just likes to pretend to be poor." Simon laughed.

At the same time, Simon was very curious who Jason wanted to call for help in such a situation.

As long as the identity of the person behind Jason was confirmed, it would be easy for him to solve the doubts that had been haunting him.

"Sh*t, who are you? Return the phone to my friend. I want to talk to him!"

On Luther's side, he couldn't help swearing when he saw a strange middle-aged man's face in the video.

"Haha, you're Master Qin's friend, aren't you? Are you going to transfer us the money, or send cash to our bar in person, and then take your friend away?"

Luther was in a car at the moment. The light was dim, and he was quite tipsy. He was swaying while holding his mobile phone, so he couldn't see clearly what he looked like.

"What did you say?"

Looking at Jared in the video, Luther curled his lips and said, "I don't need to pay for him. Are you a fool? Do you know who he is? You even asked me to bring him money..."

22:00

"What is it?"

While Luther was talking, he suddenly shook, pushed away the woman on his body and asked, "What did you say? You want me to bring money in exchange for the person?"

"Yes, your cousin said that he wanted to pay for everyone in our bar. But he wanted to run away before he paid. Fortunately, I caught him, he is by my side now. Bring 700,000 yuan over to pay for everyone, and you can take him away. What do you think?" Jared smiled proudly.

"Which bar do you belong to? And where is my cousin? Give him the mobile phone. I have something to tell him." Luther, who sobered up quickly, stared at the camera and said.

"Haha, the bar is called LiveHouse. Now your cousin is in my hand, I won't give him the phone. But I can show you."

As he said this, Jared pointed the phone camera at Jason. Luther saw from the video that his cousin was surrounded by a group of thugs.

However, in the blink of an eye, Jared pointed the camera at himself and said with a smile, "Did you see that? He is now in my hands. Before 12 o'clock, send 700,000 yuan to pay for the expenses and then take him away. If you can't send the money, I will send him back, but I can't guarantee that there won't be any missing body parts."

LiveHouse was a very famous bar in Nandu. Without the support of both the government and the underworld, it would not be able to get so popular.

Therefore, Jared's words were not just a threat. Luther believed that he would definitely do it.

"Okay, just wait and see. It's just 700,000 yuan. Stand still and don't move. I'll send the money there in ten minutes. Don't move. Do you hear me?"

As Luther continued shouting, Jared hung up the phone and threw it into Simon's hand.

"Good job. This guy in the video looks like a rich second generation. I expect that the money will be delivered soon. Let's not talk too much. Let's record half a million in the books, then we can split the remaining 200,000. Is there any problem?"

Jared smiled proudly and did not care about Jason.

None of the people who were able to be a manager in the bar had a clean background.

Especially when dealing with a child like Jason, who seemed to have just stepped into society, they knew what to do.

Jared stood in front of Jason. With a cigarette in his hand, he pointed at Jason's face and said, "You know how to greet Brother Simon in the future right? Today, I'm teaching you a lesson with this 700,000 yuan. Next time, if I hear Simon say something bad about you in my ear again, money is nothing, I will break your legs and let you kneel on the ground to kowtow and apologize. Do you understand?"

Before Jason could say anything, a cold voice wafted over.

22:00

"Who do you think you are?"
