

21:42

Chapter 151

After sending this message, Jason went offline.

"Jason, do you really like him?" John asked in confusion.

"Let's see again. Pay more attention to other things for me. Call me if you need anything. I'll hang up first."

Jason hung up the phone and picked up a call from Ada.

"Mom, what's the matter? Why did you call me at this time?"

Jason looked at the time. It was already eight in the evening.

"Are you in Nandu? If you have nothing on tomorrow, I want to invite your second aunt and uncle up to our house. Come along as well. If you can, bring along Yennie Jiang. That's it."

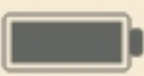

Snap.

Before Jason could make a decision, Ada hung up the phone.

Inviting his second aunt's family over to their house?

Jason frowned.

Although he had rolled his eyes at his second aunt's house last time, but in the eyes of the older generation, the relationship between siblings were very important. This was especially so when they were old, the affection between them couldn't be cut off.

21:43

Forget it. He was going to Yennie's house anyway, he would ask if she was free.

Jason was mainly there to eat.

During this period, he got used to Lusa's cooking. After he finished a whole box of takeaway, he still felt that he wasn't fully satisfied.

When he went out, Jason deliberately stood on the hillside to see if there was anyone at William's door.

Then he ran down the mountain and ran into Stephanie, who was carrying a purple clay jar.

Even when she was outside her house, Stephanie still dressed herself up very delicately.

She was wearing a black fitting skirt, which showed off her slender waist and pale thighs. Her black hair was tied up high, with a bright silk ribbon on it. Her hair hung down from her temples, shaking from time to time, and her face was covered in light makeup.

"You haven't eaten yet, have you?"

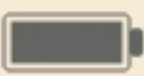

However, her voice was still cold and clear.

Even through a simple greeting, she could push someone far away, and it made people lose their appetite.

"I've eaten." Jason said truthfully.

"Oh, then I'll throw it away."

Stephanie turned around and walked to the trash can on the side of the road, throwing the pot inside.

21:43

"Are you angry?" Jason asked, speechless.

He just ate dinner, it didn't amount to her throwing away the pot right?

"No, I'm just not used to taking back the things I brought out." Stephanie clapped her hands and said.

"Well... well, are you alright now?" Jason felt that he couldn't communicate with this woman.

"Yes, it's fine." Stephanie nodded.

"Can I go now?"

"Okay."

"Goodbye."

The two of them walked down the mountain side by side and said goodbye in front of Yennie's villa.

He rang the doorbell and Yennie opened the door.

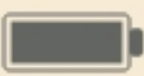

She wasn't in her uniform, dressed casually. Her skirt was fluttering in the wind and her legs were beautiful.

She was holding a bag in her hand, stuffed full of fresh vegetables, meat and some seafood.

"Did you just come back from grocery shopping?" Jason rushed forward to take it.

Yennie smiled gently and said, "I heard that Master Qin is coming, so I had to prepare thoroughly."

At the moment, Yennie transformed from a cold and arrogant goddess into an ideal wife and mother. She busied herself in the kitchen for half an hour, and then many delicious dishes were served on the table.

21:43

"You actually know how to cook, and it's so delicious..." Jason was wolfing down the food. He couldn't help but say that Yennie's cooking was far beyond his expectation.

"I rarely cook. I heard that you didn't eat well at night, so I prepared some ingredients and just casually cooked them." Yennie looked at Jason with a smile.

In the past few days, she had been busy dealing with the aftermath from Sunset Mountain. After Jason got transferred from the mountain to the hospital, her heart had been on tenterhooks. But looking at him wolfing down the food she made, Yennie finally relaxed and felt as if she had shed a huge burden. It felt good.

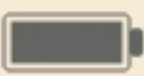

After dinner.

Jason mentioned to her that he had begun to select members for the e-sports club.

Yennie said with a smile, "You can leave these things to the coach and manager. I have bought you a club that has just entered the league. The money has been transferred. I will give you the contract tomorrow noon, and you can sign it."

"Er..."

Jason looked at Yennie in surprise. He saw her smiling and said, "Alright, let's get down to business. You came to me at such a late hour not just for a meal, right? Just tell me what you want."

21:43

"Come with me to see my mother at noon tomorrow. She wants to invite my aunt for dinner." Jason explained why he was there.

After two minutes of silence.

Yennie frowned and asked, "Are you serious?"

"Yes, my mother asked me to bring you there. I happened to be free, and then I came to have a meal." Jason simply told the truth.

"Sorry, I can't go with you." Yennie shook her head and said.

Looking at Jason's confused eyes, Yennie sighed helplessly.

"It seems that Sis Liu is right. You are still a virgin..."

.....

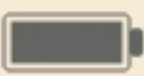

At noon the next day.

Yennie sent Jason to the gate of Hundred Flowers Mountain Villa and left.

Michael Qin and his wife just came back yesterday, so they needed to treat their sister well.

"Come in and sit down. You know that my second sister and Sarah are fond of dragon fruit. Your sister-in-law and I deliberately went to the supermarket for the whole morning and bought the biggest and freshest. Have a try."

Michael quickly brought out the dragon fruit that had been cut in the kitchen, not daring to be slow.

21:43

As soon as Hannah and her family entered the villa, they were all stunned. They looked around in disbelief at the surroundings and the environment in the villa. Their faces were full of disbelief.

"Is this Uncle's house? Our section chief didn't even live in such a big house. Where did they get the money?"

As soon as they entered the door, Sarah looked suspiciously at the decoration and furniture in the villa, whispering.

"Ha, villagers just want to live a life of honor. Seeing that we bought a house in Nandu and settled down, they got greedy. So they had to buy a house like this as soon as possible. It's rooted in them, they will never change."

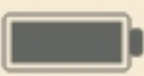

Sean chuckled, and his tone was full of disdain.

The family of three entered the room and sat on the sofa. Their faces were full of smiles, and no one could tell what they were thinking.

Michael, as well as Ada, quickly brought out fruits and tea, and sat opposite them enthusiastically.

"My second sister and I haven't seen each other for many years. The last time we met, it seemed that it was when Jason got into college. Four years have passed in a flash. We're really old." Michael looked at his sister's family of three, and his eyes were full of vicissitudes of life.

Hannah pretended to smile and said, "How can we compare with our big brother? He just came to the city from the countryside for a few days and he already got such a large house. It's not cheap, is it? How much did you spend?"

21:43

"Buy it?" Michael was stunned for a moment, then smiled and said, "How can we afford this kind of house? It is a temporary residence for us by an old friend. After a few days, we will go back to our hometown in the countryside, and the house will be returned to others."

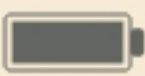

As soon as Michael finished speaking, Hannah and her family immediately looked at each other.

What are you pretending to be? You've lived in the countryside all your life. How can you know such a rich friend from Nandu? He just let you live in a big villa, do you think it's a pig sty? Borrowing it with a single sentence. You really lie without a script.

Hannah snorted silently, and then said with a smile, "Jason is about to graduate from college, and has he found a job? Last time when he went to my house, your brother-in-law and I gave him a good talk, telling him to end up like our Sarah. It's good enough that he can become a civil servant, don't interview at those rubbish companies. You never know when they might shut down. How will he make a name for himself if he becomes an unemployed vagrant?"

On the surface, Hannah showed that she was thinking about Jason, but secretly, she was showing off that her daughter was a civil servant.

"Sarah has become a civil servant? That's really amazing. Second sister, why didn't you say that before? According to the rules of your hometown, you should hold a banquet for Sarah." Michael was a simple and honest person, so he didn't read the underlying message in her words. He was just happy for them.

21:43

"Uncle, this is the city. Don't talk nonsense. Civil servants are very strict with their living style. They don't like those events that the villagers throw. If we throw a banquet, the provincial Committee of Discipline Inspection will definitely investigate me and then punish me. Aren't you pushing me into the fire?" Sarah said grumpily.

Chapter 152

Jason knew that Sarah was showing off her superiority as a civil servant and a city person, and then took the opportunity to belittle his home as a rural country.

Not all the relatives were looking forward to your good health.

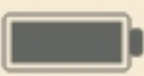

Jason now had a deep understanding of this sentence.

"Oh, oh, so your unit still has this rule. I didn't know, either. Then just take it that I didn't say that. Such a good job, if you lose it because of something I said, it will be a pity." Michael said in a hurry.

"Oh, you don't have to worry, big brother. We are chatting at home, so we can talk about anything. Although our Sarah is a civil servant, this kind of thing will certainly not be taken seriously. However, Jason is not young, and he has not had a job until now. If he keeps going on like this, how long can you two hold on?"

Jim said lightly. The underlying meaning was that, Sarah from their family was already a civil servant. You guys from the village, should seize the opportunity to find a job to earn some money. They didn't know why Jason was so idle everyday.

"Yes, if Jason wants to stay in Nandu, you should find a job quickly. The college students nowadays are not worth much either. Don't think too highly of yourself. It will be very good if you can find a job that provides you with food and lodging. You have to earn back the tuition fees you paid for four years of college. Otherwise, your university will be in vain, and you will waste so much money for nothing."

21:43

Sarah didn't care about calling Jason 'cousin' at all, but directly called him by his name.

At this time, Michael and his wife's faces did not look very good.

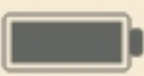

They had wanted to get Hannah and her family over to have a good talk before they left Nandu.

Also, they wanted to entrust Jason in their care, but instead it seemed like they were being entrusted in Jason's care instead.

Unexpectedly, what should have been a warm and peaceful gathering turned out to be a session where others looked down on their child.

Hannah looked at the embarrassed faces of the family on the opposite side and laughed with her hand covering her mouth, "In fact, you don't have to worry. Last time when you were at my house, didn't Sarah introduce a job to Jason. It's a job where he stands guard at the door of their site. You can earn two thousand yuan a month. Although it's not decent, it's enough for Jason."

"Thank you. I said last time that I'm not thinking about working there for the time being." Jason frowned and said.

21:43

"Jason, the way you behaved at my house previously has already made me very dissatisfied. This time in front of your parents, you should tell me why you don't want such a good job. What's wrong with standing guard at the door, it's better than being idle at home? You don't want to make money by yourself at such a young age. You think about your reputation every day, unless you can become a civil servant like our Sarah, then let's talk about reputation."

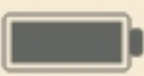

Seeing Jason reject her over and over again, Hannah was instantly unhappy.

Sarah also said disdainfully, "Do you know how many people in the village have given me gifts for the position of guarding the gate? Their conditions are much better than your family's. Even these people are willing to send their children to guard the gate. What are you so proud of?"

"Here, why not Sara do this as a part time job in the morning. Anyway, you said that you stay at the site every day, so you don't need to go back at night. You can even get two persons' worth of salary. Your salary isn't that high anyway, so you can use it to support your family." Jason said with a smile.

He heard that Phoebe Wen was working in the municipal party committee. Her monthly salary was only slightly more than 3,000 yuan. It was a stable job but it was only enough to support yourself.

Of course, unless you also had a father as a governor.

21:43

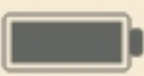

As expected, as soon as Jason said this, Sarah jumped up. "Jason, who are you talking about? My salary is not high now, but I am a civil servant and have a stable job. No matter how rich you are, you are just a worker in front of us. When you see us, you have to be polite to us. Can it be measured by money?"

"Ha, that's right, but not all civil servants have the chance to climb up to that position. Do you think you can be the mayor, the director, or a governor in the next 30 years? You can't do it. Stop using other people's matters to make yourself look impressive." Jason said helplessly.

"You!" Sarah's face was red with anger. Although she knew that if there was no strong relationship in the system, it would be good enough to be able to be at a deputy position when she retired, but everyone was tacit on this matter. Today, Jason pointed it out directly, and she suddenly felt embarrassed.

"Jason, how can you talk to your cousin like that? Can the value of a civil servant be measured by money? In the future, when the child goes to school, or when he's hospitalized or looking for a job, without the connection from our family, you won't even have a place to cry. You even said that a civil servant is not good enough. From what I see, your character is terrible and you probably won't amount to much in this life!"

When Jim saw his baby daughter being bullied, of course he would stand up and speak for her.

21:43

However, he completely forgot how they slandered Jason before.

Hannah snorted and said disdainfully, "Big brother, look at your good son. He dared to talk about my daughter in front of us. I don't know how he is outside, but it's a waste to see you both spend so much money to send him to college!"

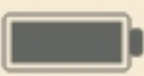

Michael and his wife were used to this.

Hannah was also one of their siblings who had married into a good family. She often gave guidance on others' family affairs. So when Michael heard what she said, he quickly stood up with a smile and poured her a glass of water. He said, "Cool down. Jason was spoiled by us at home. He's not being polite, don't argue with him. Have some water and eat fruit. Don't argue with the child."

"I don't eat this fruit. Since my Sarah became a civil servant, the fruit farmer in the town sends us a lot of fruit every day. He even said that he shipped them from abroad. I'm sick of fruit." Hannah curled her lip and said.

"Yes, they're piling up at home and have worms. I can't remember how long it has been since we went to the supermarket. A few days ago, someone sent dozens of pounds of chicken that had been washed and cut to our home. The refrigerator couldn't fit it anymore. Brother, if you can't afford it, I'll get them to send you some. I can't finish them anyway." Sarah also said.

"Oh, is there a company with such good benefits? Which unit does it belong to? I also want to work there."

21:43

As they were talking, the door was pushed open and a graceful figure came in.

The girl stood at the door, with a ponytail simply tied behind her head. She did not wear any jewelry, and her clothes were not branded. But her natural aura was impressive, and stood at the door smiling at Jason, holding some yogurt from the supermarket.

Phoebe Wen?

When Jason saw who came in, he was stunned.

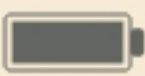

Why did she come?

"Who is it? You are so rude that you don't even knock on the door when you enter someone else's house. Did your parents teach you properly?" Sarah was also shocked by the girl. When she reacted, she was deeply jealous and disdainful.

No matter how good-looking girls were, no one knew how she was like in society. They were not like the girls in Sarah's unit. Although they were a bit rigid, they were all very good girls.

In fact, Phoebe was also stunned as soon as she entered the door.

Today, she was forced by Marvin to go to the hospital to visit Jason, but did not find him. When she went out, she happened to meet Yennie and was sent here.

21:43

When she got off the car, Yennie just told her that Jason was chatting with his parents at the moment. When she went to the door and heard the content of the conversation, she thought that Jason had gone to work in the unit. As soon as she entered the door, she felt that there was something wrong with the atmosphere.

"Nice to meet you, uncle and aunt. I'm here to see Jason. I didn't disturb you, did I?"

Phoebe soon found Jason's parents and greeted them with a smile.

"Come, come, have a seat. Since you're Jason's friend, why didn't you let him know before you came? Because of this, we were not prepared at all. Hurry, please don't be so polite."

Hearing that it was Jason's friend and it was such a beautiful girl with a great aura, Ada immediately greeted her with a smile and went over to welcome her.

Chapter 153

"What's your name? How old are you? Are you still in school? What's your relationship with Jason?"

Holding Phoebe's hand, Ada looked at her with delight and asked, glancing at her and happily asking.

"Hello aunt, my name is Phoebe. I'm the same age as Jason. I've finished studying, now I'm working at the unit and I'm just good friends with Jason."

Phoebe answered Ada's question patiently with a smile on her face.

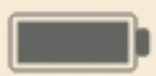

"Oh, you're his age. That's great. Where are you working?" Ada enthusiastically took Phoebe's hand, and the smile on her face got even brighter.

Jason looked at the two, speechless, and suddenly thought, if his mother knew that the girl she's asking questions nonstop, is actually the daughter of the new governor in Nandu Province, he didn't know if she would continue behaving like this...

"Are you also working at the unit? You don't look like that style..."

Sarah looked at Phoebe with a disdainful look.

In her impression, no matter in their town or in Hannah's school or in Jim's government department, she had never seen anyone dressed like Phoebe.

21:44

In her opinion, girls working in the unit should be like her, with a middle-aged woman's hairstyle and a formal suit, looking mature.

"Really? Are you also working in the unit?" Phoebe blinked her beautiful eyes and asked.

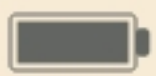

"Oh, my Sarah just got past the examination this year in Nanguan County, but she'll probably be transferred to the district in half a year at most. She's just there for orientation." Hannah said proudly.

She also felt that Phoebe didn't look like a normal civil servant, wearing fancy clothes and exposing her legs. It was obvious that she was not a child of a decent family.

"Nanguan County?" Phoebe said with a smile, "It's good. Starting from the foundation, we can cultivate the people and let them build a strong foundation. In the future, she will definitely be promoted and put in an important position."

In fact, if Hannah and her family didn't look at Jason's family with snobbish eyes, with this sentence from Phoebe, Sarah would really just be having an orientation in the county, and she would have no problem moving up the ranks.

But now, Sarah looked disdainfully at Phoebe and said, "I see you watch the news often, you know about starting from the roots with the people. I don't have much roots with that group of farmers. If it weren't for the half-year working period stipulated in the contract, I would have wanted to transfer to the district directly. I have already found the director of Education. I had enough of that horrible place."

21:44

"That's right. Our Sarah is not suitable for a small town. After this, Sarah is going to enter the local Education Bureau and work there. I hope those farmers don't think that they can keep us there by sending us that little bit of chicken, duck and fish. Even if I agree, our Old Wu won't agree." Hannah said arrogantly.

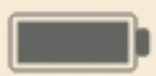

"Ah? Uncle, are you also working in the government office?" Phoebe asked in surprise.

"Ha, I'm in the government office of the New District of Nandu. I usually help the district mayor to sort out materials and prepare for meetings. As for my daily schedule, I'm just a secretary. It's not worth mentioning," Jim said flatly.

"Dad, you are too modest. Everyone knows that if the director of the district wants to see the district magistrate, he has to bow in front of you. If you don't agree, the district magistrate is just an empty-handed person. Therefore, you don't have to be a district magistrate to have power. But you are not like someone who is good-for-nothing and likes to gossip with us."

At the end of his words, Sarah deliberately raised her voice and glanced at Jason.

"By the way, after talking for so long, you haven't told us which unit you're in. Not everyone can enter the unit. Now there is a lot of manpower invested in the government. To put it bluntly, you're probably a contract worker, which is far from the permanent positions like us." Hannah said in a pretentious manner.

21:44

"Oh, I just started work this year, and I'm in the office of the municipal party committee." Phoebe said with a smile.

Spit!

Jim was drinking a mouthful of water and spat it all out.

"Where did you said you were?" Sarah also widened her eyes, full of disbelief.

"I'm the first secretary of the municipal committee. Is there any problem?" Phoebe asked in confusion.

"The first secretary of the municipal committee... Hahaha..."

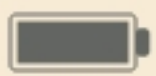

Sarah couldn't help but laugh.

Hannah couldn't help laughing either. She took the opportunity to wipe Jim's mouth and snickered.

"What? The municipal party committee? What is it? What kind of unit is it?"

Michael and his wife had been living in the village their whole lives. They found out about political affairs through the news, and had never heard of this unit.

"Although it's not illegal to pretend to be a civil servant, but you have to be careful. Other people don't know what the municipal party committee's office is, but my dad does. It's the office where the secretary works for the mayor. The first secretary is the mayor's secretary! With your dressing, how would the office let you in? It would be difficult enough to meet the security guards."

21:44

Sarah still didn't believe that Phoebe was a civil servant, especially with her dressing and beautiful appearance. She was completely different from the civil servant in her mind.

"Really?"

Phoebe blinked her big eyes. She worked in the office just to kill time. She didn't hear from Mayor Wang that there was something wrong with her dressing, and he often praised her.

However, it didn't matter anymore.

She came to Jason for business today, so she turned to Jason and said, "Can you come out for a bit? I have something to tell you."

Jason nodded. He just couldn't sit here anymore.

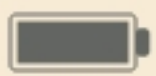

"Why can't you say it in front of us, and you still have to do it secretly? Our Sarah never keeps secrets from us. There are no outsiders here, so why don't you say it in front of us?"

Hannah looked at Phoebe and said calmly.

She didn't believe that Phoebe was a civil servant at all. She must want to collude with Jason in private and then come back to embarrass them.

"Let them talk about it in private. Adults shouldn't meddle in it. " Michael persuaded.

"It's okay. I just want to ask Jason if your hospital has an empty bed space. I don't feel very well recently, so I want to do a thorough examination." Phoebe said generously.

21:44

Examination?

Jason looked at her in surprise and asked, "What's wrong?"

"I don't know. Recently, I'm always sleepy and my back is sore. I didn't find out the problem when I went to several hospitals. Your hospital's pretty good, right? I just want to have a check. Don't worry, I'll pay for all the expenses by myself. I don't need to bother you." Phoebe said.

Sleepy? Sore back?

Jason was stunned for a moment, and then he heard Hannah said incredulously, "You're not pregnant, are you?"

Spat!

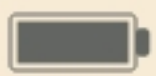

Michael choked on his saliva.

The couple looked at Jason and Phoebe in shock and said happily, "Really? Jason, when did it happen?"

"But you haven't got married yet, have you?" Hannah looked at them and said shamelessly, "Sister-in-law, what are you happy about? The two children didn't even get married and made the girl pregnant. Do you think you are in the countryside? How can you be happy about such an immoral and immoral thing?"

"I..."

"Shut up!"

21:44

Jason frowned and glanced at Hannah, then looked at Phoebe and asked, "When are you free, I can arrange for them to look at you any time."

"Why not just today?" Phoebe said with a smile.

"Alright, I'll take you there. Let's go."

Jason couldn't stay here another second. He stood up and was about to leave with Phoebe.

"Wait a minute!" Hannah suddenly shouted and stopped Jason. "Jason Qin, do you really know someone in the hospital?"

Jason nodded and said, "I have a friend in there."

"Which hospital?" Hannah continued to ask.

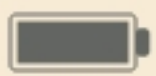

"St. De Hospital. I guess you haven't heard of it before." Jason shook his head and was about to leave.

"St. De Hospital?" Hannah suddenly stood up and said agitatedly, "Is it a private hospital? I heard that the decoration is luxurious, and many doctors are top doctors from the country. Is your friend in this hospital?"

Jason frowned, turned his head and asked in surprise, "You know this hospital?"

"Oh, of course I know. Not only do I not know, but I have been looking for an acquaintance to arrange an operation for me!" Hannah said excitedly.

"An operation? Second sister, what's wrong with you?" Michael asked anxiously.

21:44

"Oh, it's gallstones. They discovered it in the Central Hospital a few days ago, but the operating skills of that hospital aren't very good, and there is no acquaintance. I don't trust them to do it for me. Since Jason knows someone from St. De Hospital, I'll get him to introduce me to his acquaintance, and get them to introduce me an attending doctor. What do you think?"

Seeing that Jason did not say anything, Hannah suddenly changed her expression. She sneered and said, "Jason Qin, you can even arrange something for an outsider. I am your aunt. You won't refuse to help me with something as small as this, right?"

Chapter 154

Jason glanced at his parents and asked, "For that small surgery, you can just do it at any hospital. You don't have to go St. De, do you?"

"That's right. Old Liu, who was from the west part of our village, removed his half a year ago. It didn't take long for him to go back to work as a farmer. He's recovering quite well."

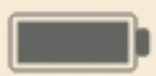

As soon as Michael opened his mouth, he was interrupted by Hannah's rolling eyes. "Big brother, this thing isn't in you, what do you know? And I have checked before. The most powerful gallbladder surgeon in the country is in St. De Hospital. Just let him do it for me when the time comes."

"You're talking about Director Yang, aren't you?" Jason said, speechless. He didn't expect that his aunt, who had no other skills, was pretty thorough with her research.

"Yes, yes, yes, Director Yang, who is on the board of the national gallbladder operation. I have to get him for this kind of operation. I don't trust others." Hannah curled her lips and said.

Hearing this, Jason smiled and said, "I'm afraid it's difficult. Director Yang's schedule is pretty full recently. If you want him to do it, you'll have to wait till next month."

"Next month?" Hannah frowned. "That can't do. If the stones grow during this period of time and go into the bile duct, it will be serious. If anything happens, can you take the responsibility?"

21:44

"Then you can go to other hospitals. I said that it's just a gallstone removal surgery, many hospitals can do it. Why do you have to choose St. De?" Jason asked exasperatedly.

Hannah looked at Jason suspiciously. Then, she suddenly realized something and said, "I can see it now. You just don't want to help. You wanted to bring an outsider to St. De Hospital for a check up, but you're giving me all sorts of excuses now. Relatives? We still came over out of goodwill to see you, but I didn't expect that your family would be like this."

Michael panicked when he heard this. He quickly stood up and poured water for his second sister. He comforted her and said, "It's fine. I don't want Jason to come up with a solution. Nandu is a big city, there are many other good hospitals other than St. De."

"Instead of using existing connections, why should we go to other hospitals? If we were really going to other hospitals, with my connections in the district office, do I still need to come to you? We just want Director Yang to do the operation. As a doctor, is he as busy as the district mayor?" Jim sat by the side and said with great authority.

"But Director Yang is really very busy. Even if he is in Nandu, he may not have the time to do this operation." Jason said.

21:44

"See, this is the good son you have raised. Who is the outsider now? My father doted on me the most since I was a child. I remember that when I was in middle school, I was hospitalized with appendicitis. Others didn't come, and only my father came to see me every day. If he knew that I was like this, he would be really anxious. If only he knew that his son raised such a promising grandson who treats me like this."

Jason's grandfather had passed away for many years. Seeing that Hannah had even mentioned him now, Michael had to turn his head to look at Jason and said, "Jason, if we leave, they'll be your only relatives left in Nandu. Blood is thicker than water. How about we think of a way?"

"All right, your baby son doesn't treat our family as his family at all. It's just St. De Hospital. I'll call Chief Wang of the District Education Bureau now. There are so many people in the society who get his help. I don't believe there's no one from the hospital."

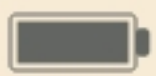

Sarah rolled her eyes at Michael's family, took out her mobile phone and made a call.

"Hello, Chief Wang."

The call was connected.

"Sarah, it's the weekend. What's up?"

"I just want to ask you about something. You know so many teachers and students' parents. Are there any team leaders from St. De Hospital among them?"

21:44

Sarah deliberately asked Chief Wang whether he knew any team leaders or not, so it would look better than Jason's nurse or doctor friends.

"St. De Hospital? I've never heard of such a hospital. It's a private hospital, right?" Chief Wang asked in confusion.

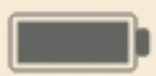

"Ah, it's my mother's gallstone. She wants to find some Director Yang in the hospital to do the surgery. It won't be difficult for you, right?" Sarah said loudly.

"Well, I don't even know anything about the hospital, not to mention the doctors inside. How about I check for you later, or you can look for someone else. If it's just a gallstone surgery, she can do it at any hospital right?" Chief Wang said.

Even Chief Wang didn't know the people inside?

Sarah frowned, but she quickly pretended to be surprised and said loudly, "Ah? You know the Director of the St. De Hospital. That's great. No need. The Director doesn't have to operate on my mother personally. Just arrange for that Director Yang. I know. I'll wait for your news. Thank you, Chief Wang."

In fact, the call had already ended, but Sarah still pretended to hang up on her end. Then she raised the phone in his hand proudly and said, "See, do you think it's a big favor? It's just a phone call for me. Now you know the benefits of the company. You can't afford this kind of reputation with money."

21:44

Jason nodded. This was exactly what he wanted.

Being humiliated and having to suck up to someone else, Jason couldn't do it no matter how good-tempered he was.

"Look, at the critical moment, we still have to count on our Sarah. What kind of relative are you? The blood is thicker than the water. I was really wrong in the past. I treated you as family. Now thinking about it, you still have to rely on your own family."

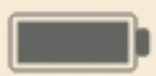

Hannah didn't expect that Sarah could really have any connection with St. De Hospital, and the director at that! Naturally, she was more proud and didn't want to leave any face for Michael and his family.

Michael and his wife's expressions were very ugly.

Originally, this was just meant to be a family gathering, and there wasn't really much to talk about. They decided to find an excuse to send the guests off, otherwise it would get increasingly uncomfortable.

"However, if some people still recognize their relatives, I think it's better to show the attitude of the younger generation. For Chief Wang's connections, it's better not to use them. It's an important relationship and I still need to talk to him when I get transferred to the bureau. Some people, as relatives, can't even help with this little thing. We'd better not walk around in the future." Sarah said with sarcasm.

Jim nodded and agreed, "Sarah is thinking far ahead. These real connections should be used as little as possible. This are the people and behaviour that the unit cultivates. Jason, I think it's better for you to handle this matter. After it is done, I will meet Director Yang in person and invite him to dinner. It will be a great honor for him."

21:44

Asking someone for help?

And saying it's a honor for him?

Jason looked at his aunt's family, speechless.

However, when he saw his parents looking embarrassed and sighing, he heard a voice suddenly say, "Uncle, I think what you said is right. Jason, why don't you just go greet your friends in the hospital? Anyway, I have to do a check-up. Let's do it together, so we don't bother them a second time."

Phoebe?

Jason looked at her blankly, and saw her smiling and saying, "No problem, right, Jason?"

"Okay, I'll call him now. You guys talk."

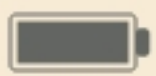

Jason glared at her grumpily, stood up, and walked out.

"Please sit down, uncle and aunt. I'll go out for a while."

Phoebe also got up in a hurry and followed him out.

"Look, look, aren't they just getting someone to arrange an operation for us? What kind of attitude is this!" Jim said with dissatisfaction.

"Forget it, forget it. Jason has agreed. Hurry up and have some tea. Let's wait for him to finish his call and hear what he will say." Michael hurried forward with a smile.

21:44

"It's fine, how much water have I drunk? Do you want me to bloat to death?" Hannah curled her lips and said.

Jason walked out of the gate of the villa, stood next to the garden, lit a cigarette, and then desperately took a deep puff.

At the same time, Phoebe also came over and stood at the side with a smile, "Do you hate your relatives so much?"

"What do you think?" Jason asked back.

"I don't know." Phoebe blinked and said innocently.

"I can't wait to cut off their tongues, not to mention their gallstones..." Jason looked at Phoebe's bright eyes, but he couldn't get angry.

"All right, it's just a small operation. Don't worry, let the hospital do it for her. It's okay."

Phoebe patted Jason on the shoulder and said with a smile.

Chapter 155

Jason had no choice but to call the acting director of St. De Hospital.

"Hello, Master Qin." The call was connected, and Byron Liu's tone sounded very agitated.

"Director Liu, if Director Yang is free in the next two days, can you please get him to prepare for a gallstone surgery." Jason said.

"Gallstones? If it's your body..."

"No, it's a relative. She may go over these two days. Director Liu, please arrange it for me." Jason said bluntly.

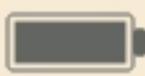

"Your relative? Okay, I'll arrange a VIP room now. At the same time, I'll arrange the best operation team and treatment for her. Please rest assured, Master Qin." Byron responded.

"There's no need. The ordinary ward is enough. Just arrange it like any other ordinary patient. Don't mention the hospital and me as well. Let's do this first."

When Jason hung up the phone, he saw Phoebe tilting her head to look at him. "Have you forgotten something?"

"I know. I'll tell them when we go over, I'll bring you there directly."

Jason said grumpily and turned back to the villa.

21:45

"Jason, how is the matter going? Is there any other problem? Can't the operation be arranged?"

As soon as he entered the door, Sarah's cold voice came into his ears.

"It's already arranged. When are you going to go?" Jason said.

"So fast?" Hannah's eyes showed that she didn't really believe it. "Where is St. De Hospital? Is it close to our house? If it's too far, I'll get carsick."

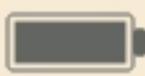

"Ha-ha, it's just nearby. Why don't you go and have a look first? To see if it's up to your expectations?" Jason said calmly.

"Here?" Jim looked at Jason and said, "The Hundred Flowers Mountain is a national geographical park. It's good enough that you can rent a villa here. Whoever dares to build a private hospital here, I can report it when I go back and tear down this hospital!"

"It's your business if you want to tear it down. I'm going to St. De Hospital now. You can go if you like."

Jason didn't want to say a word to these relatives, so he turned and left directly.

"Look! Look! Big brother, this is your good son. Isn't he just helping his relatives? Look at how proud he is. If he really has some achievements one day, I think even the government office won't take him seriously!" Jim said with anger.

21:45

"That's right. Look at our Sarah. She didn't say anything when she became a civil servant. Unlike Jason, he doesn't respect his elders. I don't know how you taught him. How can he be promising when he enters the society?" Hannah said with great dissatisfaction.

"Mom, let's go and see how the hospital is. You used to praise the hospital so highly, but now I don't think it's as good as you said. Since it's an operation, I think it's better to check it first, or what if we get cheated?"

Although Sarah didn't say it outright, she still secretly pointed out that she didn't believe Jason's character.

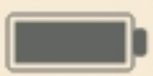

Hannah nodded and said, "Alright, let's go have a look. Anyway, it is nearby. It's my first time coming to Hundred Flowers Mountain. I'll take it as a trip to relieve boredom. Then I'll go and see if the hospital is as good as what they said."

Not long after Jason went out, Michael and his wife came out with Hannah and her family.

Sarah looked at Jason and Phoebe standing side by side, and a trace of jealousy flashed in her eyes.

"What's so great about her? No matter how beautiful she is, she's just a vase. She's far worse than us." She muttered in a low voice.

"That's right. From the looks of it, this kind of girl is not a girl from a good family. Sarah, don't learn from her. We are a decent family, and she will envy you in the future." Hannah tried to comfort her by the side.

21:45

Jason was walking with Phoebe in front, but weren't too far. They heard the sarcasm coming from behind.

"Did you hear that? This is the person you asked me to help." Jason said grumpily.

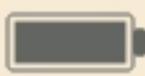

"Whatever they say is their business, and it has nothing to do with me." Phoebe smiled. "These people are used to criticising others. A relative of their side suddenly became rich, and they will feel uncomfortable for the time being. They will get used to it in the long run. If they can't change others, then they can only change themselves."

Jason looked at Phoebe's almost perfect side profile and said, "I don't understand. What's in your mind? I thought I was good-tempered enough, but you're better than me."

"That's not necessarily true." Phoebe rolled her eyes and sped up her pace.

There was a road leading directly to the emergency entrance of St. De Hospital from all the three villas of The Hundred Flowers Mountain, which was convenient for patients to get treated in time.

"It's too much. There really is someone who dares to build such a large private hospital here. I don't know how the leader of the Northern District is doing his duties. When I go back, I must mention this matter carefully at the meeting. The money of the rich people also comes from the society. We can't be so extravagant and waste it. They don't care about our government!"

21:45

Standing at the entrance of the emergency entrance, Jim looked at St. De Hospital in front of him, which looked like an European palace. His eyes were full of both anger and jealousy.

"Oh no, someone is going to tell on me." Jason laughed, amused and slightly angry. They tried their best to get in touch with the hospital, but they wanted to report it as well. He had never seen such a shameless person before.

"Ha, if he likes to report this then go ahead. I'll grab his wife then turn myself in!"

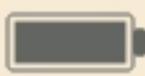

Phoebe smiled and walked into the hospital with her long legs.

The decoration of the hospital was undoubtedly concise and luxurious.

The walls and floors were made of colorless natural rubber, which ensured that the hospital was quiet and peaceful. At the same time, it was largely reduced the impact of the patient's falling down.

The medical equipment and systems were top of the grade. It was a perfect combination of science and art. Even the casually placed chairs in the hall were imported and the cheapest ones still went up to a six-digit figure.

And these chairs could be seen everywhere, placed casually just like when you entered an ordinary hospital's registration hall.

21:45

As soon as they entered the hall, several nurses immediately came up to them.

After the double recurrence of Emily's illness a few days ago.

All the staff here knew Jason.

They were not like those interns who were ignorant and did not understand this situation.

Therefore, they all asked for Jason's photo in private looked at it day and night, memorising his face.

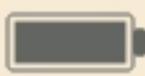

However, ten minutes ago, Byron, the acting director of the hospital, just made a notice through the system. In the next two days, no matter who Jason appeared with in the hospital, as long as he didn't take the initiative, no one should reveal his identity.

Otherwise, they would be fired on the spot.

Therefore, when they saw Jason, although these nurses were excited, they still maintained their professionalism. Standing aside with a smile, they bowed and said, "Hello, sir, welcome to St. De Hospital."

Jason nodded with a smile but he heard Sarah snort behind him.

"Is this a hospital? Look at your clothes and these strange chairs. It doesn't look like a regular hospital. Mom, let's stop looking around. You must have been deceived by your friends. Look, there are no patients here. How can a hospital look like this?" Sarah rolled her eyes and criticized the nurses' clothes, saying that they didn't look like ordinary nurses.

21:45

The two nurses looked at each other.

They were all graduates from major medical colleges, and the youngest of them was a medical post graduate. How could they be compared with the average nurses in the hospital?

However, their professionalism still made them keep smiling and they repeatedly asked, "Sir, what are you here for?"

"Prepare a physical examination for my friend first. I have already made an appointment on the phone." Jason looked at Phoebe and said.

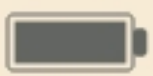

"Wait! Didn't you say that you were bringing my mother here for the operation? Why did it become a physical examination for your friend again? Jason Qin, don't tell me that you didn't make an appointment with Director Yang and deliberately took us around to waste time, did you?" Sarah said loudly.

"Have you ever been to school? Do you go straight into the operation room when you come to the hospital. You have to do a pre-op check and registration first. You are really ignorant."

Jason couldn't hold back his anger and retorted back.

"You!"

Sarah was about to lose her temper when he heard Hannah looking at the nurse and saying, "Hey, about that guy Director Yang, is he in the hospital or not? I want him to operate on me. Call him here. I want to ask him about some things first."

21:45

Chapter 156

"You're the patient who wants the gallbladder surgery right?"

Hearing Hannah's words, the nurse immediately asked with a smile.

"Ah, how did you know?" Hannah asked in surprise.

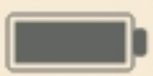

"So you are Mr. Qin, aren't you?" The young nurse immediately turned her eyes to Jason, while her palms were slightly sweating.

"That's me." Jason nodded.

"Hello, Mr. Qin, we have already notified Director Yang that you have made an appointment for the gallbladder surgery. Director Yang said that it can be done tomorrow. If there is no problem, the patient can be admitted to the hospital for a pre-op examination today. Is it convenient for you?" The little nurse asked cautiously.

"He really made an appointment..."

Sarah looked at Jason in surprise, then curled her lips and said, "However, there are no patients in this hospital. The doctor must be very free. He still pretended to tell us that Director Yang was busy with other operations and had no time. There are no patients at all. If we had known this, we would have come by ourselves. As soon as we came, we would have gotten an appointment as well. He even acted like he did us a big favor."

21:45

By themselves?

Jason smiled.

At the same time, the nurse saw through the relationship between the group of people in front of her, so she said with a smile, "I'm sorry, Ma'am. St. De Hospital is a private hospital. Without an internal appointment, no matter how free Director Yang is, he won't take on just any operation."

"How dare you speak like that!" Jim immediately frowned and scolded, "Since this is the hospital, you have to open up your service for everyone. When did medical resources become private resources? If you dare to say that this hospital was opened by someone privately, believe it or not, I can close it tomorrow and get all you fired and unemployed!"

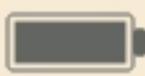

Jim had been very unhappy since he entered the door.

In the office of the New District, he was with the deputy district mayor every day. No matter where he went, his leader was the first, and he was the second.

When was he ever ignored like this?

He was still standing at the back, letting a little kid he looked down upon the most, put on an act in front of him.

Jason just made an appointment with a surgeon. No matter how powerful the doctor was, was he more powerful than the district mayor?

21:45

They were rude, and didn't know the rules.

Shut down St. De Hospital?

The nurse was shocked.

Who dared to say that St. De Hospital would be closed tomorrow?

Following Jim's statement, the nurse burst into laughter.

In the hospital, she had seen too many so-called big businessmen and leaders.

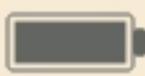

As for people like Jim Wu, she could tell at a glance that this kind of person must always be behind a leader. He was used to pretending to be powerful, and used to being worshipped that if people didn't pay them any attention, they would start looking for some.

However, what kind of place was St. De Hospital?

The nurse smiled and said, "Sir, if you have any problems with my service or our hospital, you can call the Commission of Health to report it. You are welcome to supervise us for twenty-four hours."

"What do you mean?" Jim frowned. "You are just a private hospital. Do I need to call the Commission of Health? Do you believe that I can make a call now and get this place sealed up?"

"I'm sorry. St. De Hospital was set up by the National Ministry of Health, a private medical institution that is half profit and half public. In short, we don't even belong to the Commission of Health. Even if you call them, the staff there will only conduct a routine inquiry without actual rights to interfere." The little nurse said with a smile.

21:45

"You!" Jim was pissed off. He never thought that a private hospital could involve the top management of the country. Whether it was true or not, this was not what a small employee in a district office could say to him.

"Forget it, Dad. Let's just get admitted first. The hospital is just a place to see patients. What does it have to do with the unit? If they can't cure people, what good will it be intertwined with the National Ministry of Health? If it's a hospital that doesn't treat patients, it should just close down." Sarah said hurriedly.

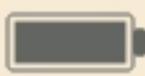

"Yes, let's do as you said." Jim pretended to nod his head, as if he had found an excuse to stop.

"Beauty, the physical examination department is ready. I'll take you to do the examination now."

The little nurse smiled and led Phoebe upstairs. At the same time, another nurse came forward and asked, "Mr. Qin, will the patient get admitted into the hospital today?"

Jason did not speak. He turned his head and looked at Hannah.

"Let's look at the environment of the ward first. I'm not used to sleeping in a hard bed, and I want a single room. Those patients in the hospital are so dirty. Who knows what disease they're carrying, I don't want to live with them,"

21:45

Hannah said, rolling her eyes.

"Okay, please go upstairs with me and have a look."

The little nurse took a deep breath. If this group of people didn't come with Jason, she would have asked all the security guards to drive her out. She had not seen such a shameless person for so many years.

"I won't go along. I happen to have a friend hospitalized here. I'll go and see her." Jason turned back and said.

"Sure, you should be busy with your work. Your mother and I will accompany them to the ward. It's okay."

Michael was so honest, and he didn't dare to say anything. Now seeing that Jason was leaving, he hurriedly stood up and said.

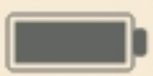

"Your friend is hospitalized here?"

Unexpectedly, Sarah suddenly became excited and disdainfully looked at Jason and said, "I thought you knew some big shot here. It turns out that your friend is a patient here. If I am not mistaken, his operation should be under Director Yang, and you asked your friend to plead with Director Yang, that's why you got this opportunity, right?"

Hearing Sarah's words, Hannah and Jim also looked enlightened.

At the same time, they looked at Jason with even more disdain.

Jason was a little frustrated. No matter what means he used to make an appointment with Director Yang, he just wanted to get them an appointment. He wasn't even the one being treated. Why did they have to ridicule and embarrass him?

21:45

However, he didn't want to tell them a single word. He turned around and went straight to the third floor.

Hannah and her family members were left feeling extremely dissatisfied.

"I really don't know what is on Phoebe's mind. If it weren't for the fact that Governor Wen had saved me, I would have asked the security guards to throw them out today. No matter who they are, I won't give bother keeping them here!"

Jason was muttering to himself when he heard someone coming toward him. She smiled and asked, "What's wrong? Our Master Qin wants to kick someone out, but he doesn't dare to say it in their faces and would rather talk behind their backs."

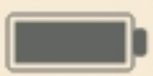

Jason looked up and saw Yennie standing in the middle of the corridor and looking at him with a smile.

"Why are you here?" Jason asked in surprise.

"I'm here to visit Lusa, to see how she's recovering." Yennie said with a smile.

"Is she willing to meet you?" Jason said agitatedly.

"Yes, we talked for a while. It seems that the psychotherapy the past few days has been very effective. She also said that she can go back to work when the wound is completely healed in two days, and she won't let Master Qin down."

21:45

"That's good. I was worried about how to find a way to persuade her later. Now it seems that it's not necessary."

Knowing that Lusa's mood had changed, Jason cheered up a little.

"You can go and see her, but what were you muttering just now? There are still people in the hospital who dare to make you angry. It seems that the lesson you taught them last time is not enough." Yennie smiled softly.

"It has nothing to do with the medical staff." Jason shook his head and didn't want to tell Yennie about Hannah Qin. So he changed the topic and asked, "Is there any news from Tokyo? It has been two days since there was any movement. How is Emily Xia now?"

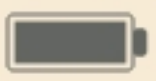

"Her condition is generally good, and the cells are well cultivated. The frequency of Emily's hemorrhage has improved but we need to observe further," Yennie said.

"Sure, thank you for your hard work."

Jason nodded and was about to leave.

"I just met Phoebe. She asked me about some medical expenses. Does it have anything to do with what you said?" Yennie suddenly turned back and asked.

"Medical expenses?" Jason was stunned. Phoebe asking about medical expenses? He didn't intend to ask her for payment either.

21:45

"Forget it, you'd better go see Lusa. I still have something to do. If you don't have a place to eat at night, call me in advance."

After saying that, Yennie left.

Jason was still in a daze when his cell phone rang.

"Mom, what's the matter?" Jason picked up the phone and asked.

"Nothing's wrong. I just want to tell you that your second aunt is very satisfied with the ward. She will stay here today, and have her operation tomorrow morning!"

Ada said excitedly on the phone.

Chapter 157

"Okay, I got it. You should go back and rest early."

When Jason was about to hang up the phone, Ada said in a hurry, "Jason, I know the attitude that your second aunt's family had towards you today, but you have to take your father into consideration. He is old now, and he only has your second aunt left. If we can hold it in, let's hold it in. Anyway, we will go back to our hometown in a few days. If you don't meet, you don't have to be angry anymore."

"Are you going back so soon?"

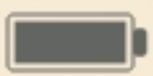

Jason knew that his parents couldn't stay in the city, but he didn't expect that they would go back so quickly.

"Yes, we had planned to go back long ago, but you got into that accident so we delayed it for a few days. Now that you are well, we don't have to stay here. We want to go back early. To be honest, no matter how big the city is, it is not as comfortable as our small courtyard in the countryside..."

Listening to his mother's sigh on the phone, Jason was also slightly moved.

At his parents' age, the most important thing was to go back to their roots and rest.

They were used to staying in the countryside. They usually slept early and got up early, fed chickens and pigs, and then moved a stool to sit next to the millstone at the entrance of the village. They chatted with the aunties and uncles in the village for a whole day. Although it looked very ordinary, their hearts were very full.

21:46

In Nandu, although Mary had arranged the best villas, the best housekeeper, and endless money for them.

But Jason Qin could feel that the two old folks were almost getting depression.

There was not even a single person who they could chat with here.

Every time he went to visit them, before he entered, the house was very quiet.

One could imagine the loneliness in it.

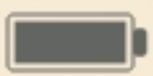

Jason thought about it as he held the phone. He felt that it was time to make it happen since he had once played cool in front of Sherry.

"Okay, I'll go back and have dinner with you tonight. Since you've settled second aunt in, go back and rest. Don't tire yourselves out." Jason said with a smile.

"Alright, don't be angry with your second aunt. I'll stop talking, your second aunt has asked me to take something for her again."

After hanging up the call, Jason sent a message to Yennie and went to the door of Lusa's ward.

Through the glass on the door, Jason saw Lusa sitting on the bed. Her eyes were a little hazed over and her hair was a little messy.

21:46

"It seems that she is not as good as Yennie said..."

Jason sighed. After hesitating for a moment, he still raised his hand and knocked on the door.

"Is it Master Qin?" Lusa raised her head and looked at Jason, who was outside the door.

Jason smiled through the glass and then pushed the door open and walked in.

"Master Qin, why are you here?"

Seeing Jason enter by himself, a trace of panic flashed through Lusa's eyes.

Almost subconsciously, she turned her left cheek to one side and covered it with her hair so that Jason would not see it.

Seeing this, Jason just smiled.

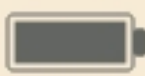

"I have contacted the best plastic surgeon in Korea. I have made an appointment with his team. When your wound is healed, they will fly over and operate on you."

Jason felt that no matter what he said at this time, it was very unnecessary.

It was better to give her the best hope, and that's what he did.

"Really?" Lusa's eyes lit up at first, but then dimmed.

"I know what you are thinking." Jason was not satisfied with her condition. "Do you know the two stars who got into a car accident and got disfigured two years ago? They returned to the big screen after a year, and their faces looked the same as before. They just spent a lot of money to find this surgery team."

21:46

"What's more, their whole face was disfigured, and yours is just a small scar, so it's not a big deal. They don't even think it's necessary to alert them over this, and they almost refused."

Jason added with a smile.

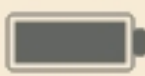

"Okay." Lusa nodded silently, but her tone sounded better.

"Besides, it's not a big deal for you to lie on a hospital bed all the time. Fred Wu has made great contributions in Tokyo to protect Emily Xia until she recovers. There are still not enough people in the high-level care team. Byron told me that he was going to recruit a lot of nurses to fill in. But without the deputy general nurse's supervision, it's difficult to go on smoothly..."

Jason looked at Lusa and said meaningfully.

"But, the head nurse is around... What's more, how can I go out to meet people now..." Lusa whispered.

"The head nurse has gone to the German scientific research center and is assisting Doctor Martin in a very important research and development of a new material. At present, the only proper nurse is you, the deputy general nurse, in the whole of St. De Hospital. If you refuse again, I am afraid that the Shen family will laugh at me..."

21:46

Jason sighed, and his eyes were full of helplessness.

"Master Qin..."

Lusa turned her head, with tears at the corner of her eyes and her teeth tightly biting her lower lip.

"Don't worry, now everyone in the hospital knows that you are one of us, and there are some people watching you all the time. After all, you were the first senior level staff promoted by me. If any rumors are spread to my parents, you know, I am afraid that I will have a hard time in the future..."

Looking at Jason looking at her seriously, Lusa hurriedly wiped away the tears at the corner of her eyes and said anxiously, "Master Qin, don't worry. I will work hard starting from today and won't let you down."

"Alright, you don't need to start today. Just get yourself ready. I'll tell Byron that you'll start work tomorrow."

Jason patted Lusa's shoulder heavily, and then stood up, leaving a cool and unrestrained back to her.

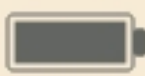

Now Lusa needed to live a full life to squeeze away those times when she was thinking too much.

Of course, no one dared to stare at Jason here.

Even if they were not in the hospital, no one dared to do that.

It was just an excuse to encourage Lusa to be busy.

After leaving the ward, Jason planned to go home and rest for a while.

21:46

He had that entire conversation with Hannah's family along with his parents for the whole morning.

His head was a little groggy, and the veins on his forehead were popping slightly.

In order to avoid meeting Hannah's family, Jason chose to take the elevator down to the first floor. As soon as he walked to the entrance of the hospital, he received a call from Byron.

"What's wrong, Director Liu?"

Jason did not know why, but now, if anything related to the hospital happened, he would have a bad feeling in his heart.

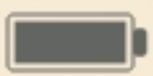

"Er, Master Qin, are you still at the hospital?" Byron's voice was a little hesitant and scared.

"Yes, I'm at the entrance," Jason Qin said.

"Master Qin, it's like this. Originally, I didn't want to trouble you with this matter, but it was really a bit difficult being caught in the middle. I don't know what to do. The relative you arranged to enter the hospital is now quarrelling with someone related to the Shen family on the second floor. Can you..."

Before Byron finished speaking, Jason hung up with a curse. Then he turned around and walked back to the hospital.

"Why didn't you watch where you're going? It's such a wide corridor and you have to hit me. I think you did it on purpose, don't you? Why are you so rude? I'm going to have surgery tomorrow. If you've hurt me anywhere, can you take that responsibility?"

21:46

Before Jason reached the second floor, he heard Hannah's fierce voice echoing in the corridor.

Then, he stood at the entrance of the stairs and saw Hannah, who was in her hospital gown, standing in the middle of the corridor, pointing at a patient on the opposite side and shouting loudly.

"I've apologized to you. Aren't your words too harsh?" Hannah blocked half of the patient's face, so Jason couldn't see what he looked like. But judging from his tone, this person had a good temper.

"Apologize? Is that all? If apologies are useful, why do you still need the law? I don't care. So many nurses saw it. You must tell me his background information. If something goes wrong with the operation tomorrow, it will be his responsibility. And before I finish the operation, you have to look after him and don't let him leave. Otherwise, I will sue all of you!"

As Hannah spoke, she reached out and grabbed the patient's collar, looking like a shrew.

The patient was also shocked.

He was stunned at first, then he pushed Hannah away with a slight raise of his hand.

"What the heck, where the hell is this crazy woman from?"

21:46

Why haven't I seen her in the Shen family before? Where is the security guard? Drag her out!"

Chapter 158

From the moment he heard Hannah's voice, Jason knew that something was going to happen.

This was St. De Hospital.

Those who could see a doctor here were either rich or high-ranking, and most of them were relatives and friends of the Shen family.

It was not like your own house where everyone gave in to you.

Moreover, most of the rich people were bad-tempered.

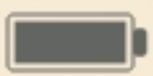

With the patient's roar, a group of security guards rushed out and surrounded Hannah fiercely.

They knew the other patient, but they had never seen Hannah.

"Get this shrew out of here, and ask her clearly, which bastard secretly arranged for outsiders to enter the Shen Family hospital. Drag them out, I won't let go of anyone!"

The patient pointed at Hannah's nose exasperatedly. After so many years, it was the first time that someone dared to pull his collar and scold him right to his face.

The lead security guard stood between them and said to Hannah in a cold voice, "Come with us to the security department. We need to figure out some things."

21:46

"What kind of attitude is that? Do you have the right to treat patients like this? Our health system is still improving the service quality. How can you, a security guard, be qualified to judge me? Isn't this St. De Hospital too arrogant?"

Hannah rolled her eyes. She didn't take these security guards seriously at all.

"Sorry, I now have doubts about your qualifications to enter the hospital. No matter which system you are from, you'd better explain it clearly to us in the security department."

St. De Hospital had always allowed family members of the staff to enter the hospital to enjoy the benefits of their medical resources.

However, that was on the premise of not colliding with the original patients here.

"I'll see who dares to touch me. What's wrong with this d*mn hospital? Who gives you the right to enforce the law? I am a public teacher. Why should you security guards touch me?"

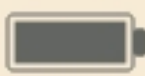

Seeing that both sides were about to fight, Jason frowned and was about to stand out to stop them.

But then, a nurse ran to him and gasped, "Mr. Qin... Mr. Qin, why are you here? I was going to find you. Your relative and..."

"Yes, I saw it. Call that man over." Jason said.

"Do you mean your relative, or..."

"Only the man, get him to come see me." Jason said flatly.

21:46

The nurse nodded and ran over in a hurry.

"Please don't be angry. Young Master Chan, someone is looking for you in the corridor." The little nurse stood between the security guard and Hannah, and said to the patient.

"Who the hell is looking for me at this time? Didn't you see that I'm trying to deal with someone? Let him wait first. Today, I have to find out who arranged for this shrew to come in. I have never been bullied like this before in my life..."

Before the patient finished his words, the young nurse rushed to him and whispered something in his ear.

"Are you serious?" Luther Chan's eyes were obviously full of disbelief. This shrew was actually a patient arranged by the Shen family? No matter how he looked at it, it seemed that she was not a noble person at all.

"Please go over first. Master Qin is waiting for you." The little nurse said anxiously.

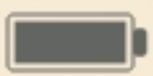

"Okay, you guys watch out. If this shrew runs away, all of you can consider yourself fired!"

Luther glared at Hannah, then turned around and walked toward Jason angrily.

"Are you Jason Qin?" Luther said arrogantly.

"Yes." Jason nodded. "That person is my aunt."

Although he didn't want to admit it, but if Hannah got beat up here, his parents would have a difficult time.

21:46

"Oh, it turns out that this shrew is your second aunt. Since she's one of us, please apologize to me and let's forget about it." Luther was full of pride.

"You know who I am, don't you?" Jason frowned.

"Then you should know who I am." Luther asked back.

Jason looked at the good looking young man and asked lightly, "Who are you?"

"My name is Luther Chan. Mary Chan is my aunt. Do I need to say anything else?" Luther said with a smile.

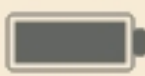

"Oh." Jason nodded.

"Oh?" Luther looked at Jason and said, "Don't you have anything else to say?"

At the same time, he thought, this guy didn't play according to the routine at all. On the surface, he looks honest, but in fact, he has a face that doesn't take Jason seriously at all.

"Are you mute? You just randomly arranged for this rural relative to enter St. De Hospital and offended someone from the Shen family. If my aunt finds out, do you think she will cut off your qualification to enter St. De Hospital, and only get you to enter those public hospitals full of people, trash and bacteria. It's exciting just thinking about it."

Looking at Luther's crazy face, Jason asked in confusion, "You know who I am, but you still insist on talking to me like this. Aren't you afraid of death?"

21:46

Although Jason didn't meet many people from the Shen family.

However, because of the actions he had made in St. De Hospital during this period, his name must have already been heard by every Shen family member or those related to them.

Although Luther was not a descendant of the Shen family, he was his cousin after all. He wasn't dumb, so he was probably just looking to vent off some anger.

"No matter who you are, as long as you don't take the initiative to apologize to me today, your relative will be driven away from here," Luther said in a gloomy tone. He had never been humiliated like this before.

"You're sick in the head."

Jason glanced at him and took out his mobile phone to call Byron.

"You have one minute, get down here."

After that, he hung up.

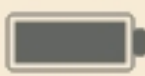

Although Byron was diligent, he was not as good as Fred in dealing with some things.

Jason thought to himself.

Soon, Byron ran into sight, sweat all over his head.

"Master Qin, Master Chan, this..."

Byron wiped his sweat and asked carefully.

21:46

"Hello, Director Liu."

To Jason's surprise, Luther changed his face in an instant after Byron appeared.

"I am chatting with my cousin. It's all right. You should get busy with your work. Don't worry about us." Luther said with a smile, and at the same time, he winked at Jason desperately.

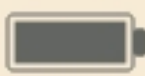

Jason looked at him and frowned. Then he nodded and said, "Well, it's all right. Get the security guards to leave."

Byron looked at the two of them with hesitation. He hesitated to step back, but Luther stared at him.

"This Director is not good at all. He's timid and hides when things happen. If such a person continues being the Director, with his pay of millions of dollars a year. It's better to have a dog leashed in the Director's office. The effect is the same." Luther said disdainfully.

"You put on this show just to tell me that Byron Liu is not up to the job?" Jason looked at him and asked in confusion.

"Not entirely. Your aunt pissed me off. I accidentally bumped into her and apologized quickly, but she was such a shrew. If the nurse didn't tell me that you arranged for her to come in, I wouldn't have waited for the security guards and just slapped her directly. Who hasn't hit someone else?" Luther said with disdain. "Then you deliberately got involved and then waited for me to show up?" Jason said grumpily. In fact, he had already figured it out.

21:46

"Yes..." Luther looked at Jason strangely. "You, the eldest Young Master of the Shen Family, lost everything but returned. Now the whole Shen Family and the Chans have caused a commotion. No one has seen you before, so I won't let go of this good opportunity."

With this, Luther added, "It's just the right time for the experiment. You, a long-lost young master, suddenly become rich. Will you be as arrogant and domineering as those upstarts in the society and look down upon us Chans?"

"So it seems that I have passed the test now?" Jason said speechlessly.

"Not bad, well, you barely passed. At least you have the calmness of the Shen family. If it were someone else, he would definitely fight with me on the spot for the sake of your reputation. You did good. Now I will report your situation to the family, I guess you've passed the first test."

As Luther said so, he took out his mobile phone and quickly took pictures of Jason, and then sent the photos to the family group.

At the same time, the eyes of two people were watching Byron dismiss the security guards. While he was comforting Hannah, she was furious. She shook off Byron's hand and said coldly, "Get the patient and the security captain to apologize to me now. Otherwise, I will sue you to the Sanitary Bureau and get you all fired!"

Chapter 159

"See? It's completely meaningless for you to help such a person. Just now I heard her call and complain that she was in an ordinary ward instead of a VIP room. She said it was your fault for not doing better. I don't need to guess to know that your current identity has not been exposed to them, right?"

In the face of Luther's chatter, Jason frowned and asked, "Which department are you working in now?"

"The HR department. Why?" Luther asked in confusion.

"I think you should go to the Public Relations Department," Jason said.

"Why?"

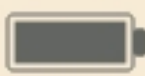

"Don't waste your glib tongue."

"..."

While speaking, they saw Byron give Hannah an upgrade to the VIP ward.

"Only a ward upgrade? What about my mental damage? I don't know how the patient got this group of security guards to scare me. My heart is beating so fast now, and I feel a little dizzy. If it affects tomorrow's operation, will you be able to take responsibility?" Hannah said aggressively.

"Well, in order to apologize, we will give you another comprehensive physical examination. Our hospital's physical examination system is the top in the world. No matter how small your problems are, after completing the physical examination in our hospital, we can help you with it and then give you a corresponding treatment plan."

21:47

Byron was almost crushed. The VIP room of the hospital alone cost more than 70 thousand yuan per day, and it was equipped with secondary care throughout the whole stay. Even if the mayor came here, he could only enjoy slightly similar benefits.

However, Hannah was still not satisfied with the result, so she hinted that she wanted another physical examination.

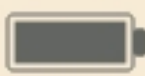

Damn, if it wasn't for Master Qin's sake, even Byron would have wanted to call the security guards over and throw her out.

"Fine, the physical examination must be arranged today, otherwise, I can't take more after the operation tomorrow. After recovering, I have to go back to school to for my classes, I am a school teacher. If something happens to my body, you can't bear the responsibility."

Looking at Hannah's proud face, Byron nodded repeatedly.

"You're right. Why don't you go back to your ward and have a rest first? I'll arrange a physical examination for you now. When they're ready, I'll inform you directly. Miss Qin, do you think it's appropriate?"

"That's more like it, but I want to go to the VIP room now.

21:47

The general ward is a little hot, and I'm not used to it."

As Hannah said that, she got Byron to go pack her stuff for her. Then she asked a nurse to lead her to the VIP area.

"What's wrong with this b*tch? Cousin, are you going to endure her like this?"

Luther was born in a high-class family. He had been the center of attention since he was a child, and it was the first time that he had seen a woman like Hannah Qin.

"What else can I do? Do you want me to ask the security guards to drive my aunt out?"

Jason shook his head. He just wanted Hannah to finish the operation quickly and get out of here. He didn't want to have any contact with her anymore in this life.

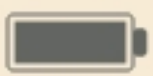

Luther invited Jason to his ward, but Jason refused, saying that he had something on at home.

Jason looked at the time and thought that Phoebe's medical examination should have been done. He decided to wait for her and smoke a cigarette in the meantime.

In his phone, all his classmates were talking about graduation and job seeking.

Most of them had already found their internships. They either wanted to go home to play for a while, or take the postgraduate entrance examination.

Anyway, as long as they didn't mind their reputation, they could accept lower salaries. There were many jobs, and they didn't have to worry.

21:47

Jason was reading messages when he received a voice message from Jenny.

"I have verified that there is indeed a violation of law in the Limsy Group project. I have ordered Jack Lin to come to the project office to make a reasonable explanation within two days. Otherwise, he will be penalized for breaking the contract terms." Jenny said in her message.

"Alright, it's up to you. I haven't had time to go to the construction site recently. You can take charge."

Jason closed his app, but a unknown number called him.

"Who is it?"

Jason answered the phone.

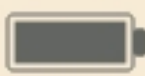

"Jason Qin, you're really capable! We just left, but my mother got bullied in the hospital, didn't she. You did it on purpose, didn't you? My father and I are going back to the hospital now. If my mother is missing a hair, you can just wait and see!"

Snap!

The call was hung up heavily.

Jason frowned at his phone.

If he hadn't taken the initiative to show up, Hannah would have been thrown out of the hospital by the security guards with her belongings. As a result, with Sarah's words, it now looked like he was the one making trouble...

21:47

Jason heaved a deep sigh. He didn't want to wait for Phoebe anymore. He sent her a text message and quickly left the hospital.

At 7:30 p.m. in the evening.

Jason hid at home for a day. After eating dinner with his parents at night, he couldn't wait to get Yennie to test drive the car.

He was now afraid of meeting Hannah's family. All he wanted was to stay quiet for the night. He would draw a clear line with them tomorrow.

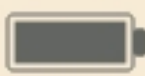

However, what he didn't expect was that at noon the next day, Jason received a phone call from Michael, asking him to go to the hospital immediately.

At the hospital payment area.

Jason spotted Sarah, who was holding a long string of bills and desperately looking for the personnel to talk about it.

"What kind of crap hospital is this? My mother just did a gallstone surgery, and it cost her more than seven hundred thousand yuan! You are robbing openly! I tell you, if you don't explain this bill clearly to me, I will report it to the health bureau now and get them to check it carefully. Are you in the hospital or in a black market?"

The staff of the payment department also said politely, "All the prices of the hospital are transparent and open. And you have also signed in the corresponding family member notice. Now that you're complaining about the high price, I'm afraid it's not appropriate."

21:47

"Nonsense! The rules you gave me were so thick and there were so many words. How can I read all the contents clearly? I think you are deliberately trying to cheat the patient's money!"

Sarah shouted loudly, attracting the attention of many medical staff and blocking Jason out.

Medical bill?

Jason stood on tiptoe and looked inside. There was indeed a stack of documents with the words "St. De Hospital" in Sarah's hand, which were full of words. At the same time, there were some signatures and seals on them.

Seven hundred and ninety thousand yuan.

Jason noticed the amount at the end of the bill. It was the total cost of Hannah's surgery and hospitalization in St. De Hospital.

Jason knew that the price to stay at St. De Hospital was very high.

He remembered very clearly that Emily had told him. Even if it was a medical cotton swab, it was imported from abroad, and the price was dozens or even hundreds of times higher than that in the market.

Not to mention that Director Yang had personally led the team to operate on her.

However, it was him who arranged for Hannah to come in.

21:47

By right, the hospital should not be charging her. Even if they did, it should only be a symbolic amount, and should be charged according to market price. Why did Byron charge them the full amount?

While Jason was thinking, someone suddenly patted him.

"Are you waiting for me?"

Behind him was Phoebe, who was smiling, eyes narrowed into crescents.

"Why are you here? Haven't you finished the physical examination?" Jason said.

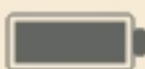

"I'm done, I'm just here to get the medical report. Also, I was here to see if anything bad would happen. After all, we've gotten a task from the higher ups. We must strictly prevent such a thing from happening and maintain the good medical style and the treatment environment in Nandu!"

Looking at the solemn look on Phoebe's face, Jason's eyes suddenly widened.

"It was your idea to get the hospital to charge Hannah the full medical expenses?" Jason asked incredulously.

"Don't talk nonsense. The hospital belongs to your family. What qualifications do I have to meddle in this? I just suggested it to Director Liu. I didn't expect that he really agreed with my opinion. He is really a good director..." Phoebe said with a smile.

At this time, Sarah's voice became louder.

21:47

Jason hurriedly turned his head and saw Sarah tearing up the bill in her hand. She shouted with a red face, "Stop faking it! I'm not taking this bill. You say that's the amount, and I have to accept it? You really think you're a hotshot. It's just a private hospital. I'm telling you, my father works in the government office. If you provoke us, he'll get this hospital closed in minutes, let's see how you charge me then!"

Chapter 160

"Sorry, every time you sign a document, there are two copies. There's no use tearing it up." the staff said lightly.

"Ha, I seriously doubt the nature of your hospital now. I'm going to report it to the unit and ask them to check. Is this hospital here to save lives or to rob money?"

As Sarah said, she took out her mobile phone and called someone.

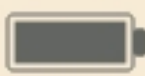

"Hello Chief Wang, I'm Sarah. Is it convenient for you to talk now?"

The call was connected.

"What's wrong, Sarah? It's the weekend but you keep calling me. Did anything happen again?" Chief Wang said with a faint smile.

"Chief Wang, I do have something to ask you. Remember when I called yesterday and asked you to inform the dean of the hospital to arrange a surgery for my mother? I am at the hospital now, but they don't allow us to go. They also asked us for 700,000 yuan in medical fees. Do you think we should report this to the superiors?" Sarah said proudly.

"St. De Hospital... I remember that I told you that I didn't know anyone there. But what kind of operation did your mother do? 700,000 yuan is too exaggerated." Chief Wang frowned and said.

21:47

"That's what we're talking about. I'm surrounded by them now. If you know someone who's in this field, please call them and ask them to come here. What kind of hospital is it? It costs 700,000 yuan for a gallstone surgery. It's an open robbery!" Sarah said loudly.

"Yes, I do know the section chief of the City Public Health Bureau. It's called St. De Hospital, right? Don't move. I'll call them now to see what's going on," Chief Wang said.

"Okay, I'll wait for your message."

Sarah said loudly and then hung up the phone.

"Just wait and see. The person I called just now is the leader of the health bureau. He has asked about this matter and is about to come over to investigate it. This lame hospital, let's see how long you can be arrogant for!"

Sarah said arrogantly, arms crossed in front of her chest.

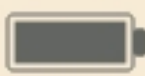

"We'll wait for the superiors to check. However, if the patient stays here for one more day, we'll have to charge an extra day's ward and treatment fee. We hope that you'll be able to settle the bill together when you leave." the staff said lightly.

Would the public health bureau dare to investigate St. De Hospital?

Even the mayor himself would not dare to make such a boastful remark.

In the face of Sarah's threat, the staff still looked very calm.

"All right, she won't put on the show for long anyway. The department. I don't know the results, but there is one thing. Her teaching career can be ended, it won't even stop at suspension, and she will be fired directly."

21:47

"But what if she can pay the medical fees?" Jason asked.

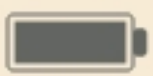

"We're talking about 790,000 yuan. Don't think too highly of the salary of the unit staff. Unless their family has been thrifty for many years and has no large expenses, maybe they could afford this. But if they can't explain the source of the money, not only Hannah Qin, but your uncle will also have to accept the interrogation of the discipline inspection committee. The result could be light or heavy. If it's heavy, they will be handed over to the inspection agency. If it's light, they might have to be jailed for 6 years, 12 years if it's heavier. If it were you, what would you do?"

Looking at Phoebe's clear eyes, Jason shivered inexplicably.

"You didn't plan all this in advance, did you?" Jason asked subconsciously.

"I don't have such a big ability. Once they entered the hospital, they wanted good food, a good ward, and the best medical team. Just the operation alone would cost more than 500,000 yuan. They could have chose something cheaper but they didn't want to. Who can they blame for their own greed?" Phoebe said with a smile.

Jason dared to swear on his ten year career. Phoebe was definitely a devil. If she didn't work in the government, she would have wasted her angel-like appearance and top potential.

21:47

"Your phone is ringing," Phoebe reminded him.

Jason took out his mobile phone from his pocket and saw that it was a call from his father.

"I think he's here to find out whose fault it is." Phoebe replied with a smile.

Jason took a look at her and walked to the other side with his mobile phone. Then he answered the phone hesitantly.

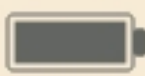

"Jason, what is going on? Why is it so expensive to get something done in St. De Hospital? Your aunt has to pay 790,000 yuan for a gallstone surgery. Do you want their lives?"

As soon as the call was connected, Michael's anxious voice was heard.

"790,000 yuan? I don't know. It's aunt who chose the hospital. Doesn't she know this?" Jason repeated whatever he heard from Phoebe.

"Your aunt said she doesn't know either. She thought you would arrange everything. Now they are trapped in the hospital, and they can't get out. The whole family is in a hurry. This hospital belongs to your biological parents'. Why don't you think of a way to help them?" Michael asked.

"How can I help her? Do you want me to foot the 790,000 yuan, or do you want me to call David Shen, telling him that I have a relative in St. De who can't afford the fee after she got a surgery done. And after that, get him to call the Director and waive the bill?" Jason said.

21:47

"Please don't call him. Our trip to Nandu was enough trouble for Mr. Shen. It would be really embarrassing to look for him over this."

Hearing his father's down tone on the phone, Jason sighed and said, "Dad, we treat second aunt and her family as relatives, but when did they treat us as relatives? You are the man of the family. You always call her on your own initiative during the holidays. When did she ever care about you? Even if you pleaded with them on the phone to visit my grandparents' graves every year, then they would just show their faces in our hometown."

"And to tell you the truth, in my four years in college, my second aunt and my second uncle-in-law never called me over their house. Some time ago, I went to his house because of you, and they didn't even pour a glass of water for me. At that time, I was hungry and they nagged at me for half a day. A relative like this, you want me to foot their 790,000 yuan bill? Honestly, I can't do it."

"What's more, you and Mom also saw how they mocked me yesterday. Now we are living a good life and don't care about these things. But what if we were still the same as before and had to live life honestly, do you think they will still treat you as their big brother?"

Jason vented all the anger in his heart in one breath, and finally added, "You'd better handle this matter with Mom. Pretend that you don't know about this. I will handle it well..."

at least, I won't embarrass them too much."

NOVEL HOOD

No Pearls Only Novels

Join the Novel Hood family today, we welcome everyone!
No exceptions and we are happy to help you at all times.

With us, there will never be any monetary requirements,
only reading and fun!

So what are you waiting for hurry and join now!

Join us today by clicking our logo or the link given below:

DISCORD