

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2301

Chapter 2301

Wesley: "Well. I'm mentally prepared."

"Brother Wesley, you don't have to be nervous. The host is very good. She hopes that the children are all well. As long as you promise to take good care of Lilly in the future, she will not be embarrassed."

Wesley: "I understand."

Avery took Wesley to the host and went to the backyard to find the children.

Just now, the host took Lilly, Layla and Robert to the backyard to distribute gifts and red envelopes to the children.

The kids were there this weekend.

Because of the arrival of Layla and Robert, the backyard was very lively at the moment.

Under the host, the children lined up in two teams.

When Avery walked into the yard, the host was introducing Layla and Robert to the children.

the host told the children that Layla and Robert were friends down the mountain, and did not focus on the family situation of Layla and Robert.

This made Avery relieved.

"The red envelopes Robert gave you are the lucky money he has accumulated for a long time. After you receive the red envelopes, remember to say thank you to Robert. And sister Layla gave you hairpins, what should you say?"

" Thank you sister Layla!" The children said in unison, thanking Layla.

Layla's young heart was touched.

She had a lot of jewelry, mostly from her parents and brothers. She also had a lot of beautiful clothes and shoes, a new set every day, at least a month without repeating the same.

She had always been held by her family in the palm of her hand, and she had never lacked any material, so seeing these girls abandoned by her parents made her eyes felt sore.

Her life was so happy, so happy that she couldn't see a trace of darkness and poverty, but it didn't mean that there was no darkness and poverty in this world.

"I'll clip your hair!" Layla said, walking to the little girl closest to her, and carefully clipping the hairpin in her hand to her hair.

Little Lilly stood on the side in loss and wiped away her tears.

She didn't find Siena.

The host walked up to Lilly and explained to her: "Little Lilly, Siena is very sad because you went down the mountain. So Siena also left."

"Then will I never see her again?" Lilly cried with tears. The flow was faster.

Seeing this scene, Avery immediately walked over and asked what happened.

"Auntie Tate, Siena is left. She must have thought that I would never come back, so she left." Lilly threw herself into Avery's arms.

Avery frowned and looked at The Host: "Master, where did Siena go? Who did she go with? Could it be that she was adopted?"

"Siena is not a child adopted by our monastery." The Host is right Avery explained, "She came with her mother-in-law. Her mother-in-law was working here, and Siena would eat and sleep with the other children."

Avery: "Siena left with her mother-in-law?"

"Yes. Where they are going, I don't know either." The Host said, "I'm also very reluctant to give up Siena. She had a good time with Lilly. She cried before she left. She was reluctant to leave Lilly, and she was reluctant to leave here, but her mother-in-law had other ideas. It was planned, so they left."

"Master, do you have the contact information of Siena's mother-in-law?" Avery saw Lilly's crying eyes flushed, and she was very distressed.

The Host shook her head: "But Siena asked me for your contact information before she left. She might call you."

Chapter 2302

Avery did not expect such a small child to be so careful.

Avery: "Little Lilly, Siena has my number, she will definitely call me."

Lilly then felt a little better: "Why does mother-in-law have to bring Siena down the mountain?"

Her life was also good. If it wasn't for Avery and Shea, Lilly would definitely not be willing to go down the mountain.

"Little Lilly, this is her mother-in-law's decision. We can't force it." The Host said calmly, "Are you doing well down the mountain?"

"I'm doing well. Auntie Tate took me to the hospital. Sister Layla and Brother Robert are also very good to me. I also met Auntie Shea... Auntie Shea wants to adopt me. By the way, Auntie Shea and Auntie Tate are a family. I think they are both good people, I'd like to be with them."

The Host looked at Avery and smiled: "Miss Tate, since Lilly is willing to go with you, it means that there is a fate between you. Lilly will trouble you in the future."

"It is serious. In the future, I will often bring Lilly back to visit everyone. If there are other difficulties in the temple, you can tell me. I am very happy to be able to make a little contribution to the society." Avery said sincerely.

"Miss Tate, thank you very much for your kindness. We will pray for you and your family here." The Host said gratefully.

"Speaking of which, my wish to go up the mountain this time is indeed related to my family. I have a daughter who has not been by my side since she was born. When I went to find her, she had no idea where she had gone. Until now, I don't know if she is alive or dead, whether she is safe or not." Avery said her heart knot, and when the words settled, she breathed a sigh of relief.

The master heard the words and comforted: "Miss Tate, everything has a certainty. If your child is still alive, she will definitely come back to you. If she is gone, you must learn to let go."

Avery: "Thank you Master for persuading me. I'm not as restless as before. And seeing these children on the mountain doing so well, I also imagined that if my children were living in such a place, they might also lead a free life."

The Host: "Miss Tate, you are kind-hearted. If my children are still alive, they will definitely be taken care of by good people."

Beside, after Layla clipped the children's hairpins, she saw Lilly's expression was a little lost, and immediately called her to come and play together.

"Little Lilly, I know your good friend is left, don't be sad. Because you will make many good friends in the future." Layla touched Lilly's head, "These children are also your friends! "

Little Lilly glanced at everyone, then nodded.

Lilly: "Siena will definitely find me. She asked for Auntie Tate's phone number, and she will definitely call Auntie Tate in the future."

Layla: "That's easy. Next time Siena calls my mother and asks my mother to go directly and bring her to play with us. How about it?" Layla said dotingly.

Lilly suddenly smiled: "Sister Layla, you are so kind."

"Of course! You can trust no one, but you can always trust me, you know?" Layla conquered.

After they stayed at the temple for lunch, they were ready to go down the mountain.

When Lilly waved goodbye to her Masters and friends, she couldn't help but redden her eyes.

Wesley picked her up and comforted her in a soft voice: "I'll bring you back every week, okay?"

Lilly: "Well."

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Avery sent Lilly to Wesley's house, and brought Layla and Robert home with her...

They came back because Little Lilly was asleep.

On the way back to Foster's house, Robert also fell asleep in the car.

They got up too early in the morning.

Chapter 2303

Layla's eyelids also began to fight, and she couldn't hold it anymore.

“Mom, I decided to write today’s story in this week’s journal.” Layla flipped through the photos she took today on her phone.

Originally, G-Temple did not allow tourists to take pictures, but Layla did not know this rule. She asked The Host to help her take a group photo with other children. The Host was smiled and agreed.

Avery: “Okay! You’ve written it down for Mom to read.”

“Okay. Mom, look at the photos. I counted, except for me and my brother, there are a total of 32 children.” Layla said with a smile, “It’s a coincidence. There are exactly 32 people in the class.”

“Lilly has gone down the mountain, and there are only 31 children on the mountain.” Avery said.

Layla: “And Siena has also gone down the mountain!”

“Siena is not included. Because Siena has relatives. It’s a pity that I didn’t see her. Little Lilly likes Siena so much. Siena must be as well-behaved and sensible as Little Lilly.” Avery sighed.

“Why did Siena’s mother-in-law take Siena away? Why did Lilly leave, Siena is going to leave? Didn’t the master say Siena was reluctant to leave the temple? What is the name of the mother-in-law?” Layla asked the question, “Does mother-in-law mean grandma? Where do you call grandma?”

Avery finally stopped this question.

In fact, Avery didn’t know how to answer the question in front of her daughter.

Siena lived well on the mountain, but because Little Lilly was adopted down the mountain, her mother-in-law was so anxious and took Siena away.

The behavior of the mother-in-law was somewhat puzzling.

“Maybe in some places, grandma is called mother-in-law.” Avery guessed, “Lilly said that Siena is younger than her.”

“Oh. Does Siena have no parents? Otherwise, why would her grandma take her to live in the mountains?” Layla felt that it was also pitiful.

Although there were relatives, but there was only one Grandma. Grandma was getting old, and Layla’s afraid Grandma couldn’t take good care of Siena.

Layla didn’t know what would happen to their grandchildren in the future.

Especially thinking that Lilly was adopted by Auntie Shea, life will be very good in the future, and if Siena has been following her grandmother, life can be imagined, and it will not be very good.

Originally two good friends who were in similar circumstances, their future lives will be very different, and life feels cruel in an instant.

In the future, when the gap between the two of them gets bigger and bigger, even if the two of them meet again, it will not be as good as it is now.

“Layla, I don’t know about Siena and her grandma. I’m afraid the Masters on the mountain don’t know either.” Avery said, “Let’s see if Siena will call me in the future!”

Layla: “Well.”

Back home, Mrs. Cooper carried Robert to the room, while Layla ran to her father and showed her the photos taken on the mountain today.

“Has Lilly gone to Wesley’s house?” Elliot put his arms around his daughter, but looked at Avery.

“Yeah. Lilly got up too early today and fell asleep at Wesley’s house.” Avery sat down on the sofa and leaned against the back of the sofa, “I’m sleepy too.”

“If you fall asleep now, I definitely won’t be able to sleep at night.” Elliot said, he took the cell phone his daughter handed over, and glanced at the large group photo of them in the temple, “These little girls are quite clean and tidy. Why is Lilly’s expression so unhappy?”

“Lilly didn’t see her best friend Siena. Siena was taken away.” Layla answered her Dad’s question.

“Aren’t all the children on the mountain adopted by temples?” Elliot asked in confusion.

Layla: “Siena is not. Siena has a mother-in-law. Her mother-in-law took her away.”

Chapter 2304

Elliot responded and returned the phone to his daughter.

Elliot: “Have you had a good time in the mountains today?”

“Not very happy. It’s very sad to see so many children with congenital diseases being abandoned, and some healthy children being abandoned by their parents.” Speaking of which, Layla was unhappy, “Dad, I think I am too happy.”

“Layla, there are many unfortunate people in this world, but also many happy people. Happiness is not your fault.” Elliot patiently comforted his daughter, “If you go to more remote mountain villages, you will see more poor children. They may not even be able to eat.”

After listening to her father’s words, Layla became even more depressed: “Dad, how can I help them?”

Elliot: “You can donate money. I and your Mom donate to charity every year. We can’t change the fate of everyone, but our strength can improve the lives of at least some people.”

Layla: “Dad, I see.”

Elliot: “Layla, wait, for me. Now that you can go out, I can take you to see more places.”

Layla: “Okay Dad! I hope you get better soon!”

Avery listened to the conversation between the father and daughter, and couldn’t help but laugh: “Elliot, let’s be honest. Have you ever lived in a remote place? I believe you donate to the society every year, but you must have never tried to live a poor life.”

Elliot: “...”

“Don’t take your daughter to that kind of place. I’m afraid of places you don’t know well.” Avery laughed ruthlessly, “I’m afraid that you will need your daughter to take care of you instead.”

Elliot: “...”

As for what?

In front of the child, can’t he save some face for him?

“Layla, your father’s ancestors are three generations old. They are all businessmen and rich people. Your father has never lived a poor life since he was a child.” Avery said to her daughter Science.

Layla heard it fresh and asked, “Mom, are you talking about Dad’s adoptive father’s family? I remember Dad’s real dad was a badass!”

Avery: "The Foster family. Although Elliot is not the child of the Foster family, the Foster family treats him as a treasure."

"Avery, don't exaggerate the facts. I also had a lot of troubles when I was young." Elliot corrected Avery.

Avery: "I didn't say anything about you and Shea. I'm talking about the material aspects of your life. You still look like you can't eat the fireworks. How dare you say that you suffered when you were a child?"

Elliot was speechless again.

"Of course, I didn't advocate enduring hardship. It's just that you don't take my daughter out to run around." Avery warned him with her eyes.

Elliot: "If I want to take my daughter out, I'll definitely be with you."

"We'll talk about it when you're well! You haven't been out for a long time now, so you must want to go anywhere." Avery teased, "When the time comes, that's great, I must be focused on work."

Seeing her father being stunned by what her mother said, Layla couldn't help laughing: "Mom, you have seen everything through my father."

Avery: "Can you not see through? He's known you older than you."

Layla laughed, and the whole living room was filled with her daughter's bell-like laughter.

At 9:00 p.m., Avery fell asleep.

Elliot took a nap at noon and was not sleepy at all.

He looked at Avery's sleeping face, helplessness flashed in his eyes.

She must have forgotten what she said in the morning.

But seeing her so tired, he couldn't bear to wake her up.

He picked up the book on the bedside table, intending to read it before going to bed.

The phone screen suddenly lights up.

He took the phone and saw the message from Ben: [I heard that you adopted a little girl, is it true?]

Elliot replied: [The child was adopted by Shea and Wesley.]

Chapter 2305

Ben: [oh oh oh! Pretty good! I heard that it is a little girl with white hair, when will I go and see?]

Elliot: [If you want to see her, you have to know her situation clearly before you see her. She is not a small animal, don't make fun of children.]

Ben: [You scared people!]

Elliot: [...]

Ben: [Why are you so serious? Are you in a bad mood? Shall I take you to play?]

Elliot: [Avery fell asleep.]

Ben: [Good! understood! I will arrange it! You wait, I will send you a car at the gate of your house.]

Elliot: [I said she's sleeping peacefully, and I'm going to sleep too!]

Ben: [Why don't you come?]

Elliot: [She is very tired from running around all day today. And, without her permission, I won't go out. You don't want to spoil me.]

Ben: [Humph! I wanted to gossip with you! It seems that we can only chat on the phone.]

Elliot: [What gossip?]

Ben: [Isn't Travis dead? Norah finally showed up. Hahaha! I guess she will never go back to Aryadelle in the future. She should also do well in Bridgedale. If she can grab part of the inheritance from Emilio.]

Elliot: [Is she fighting for inheritance?]

Ben: [She is also Travis's daughter. After Travis's will was announced, except Emilio, the other Jones family children gathered together to overturn the will.]

Elliot: [Funny, wills are protected by law, can they be overturned if they want?]

Ben: [So they will have a lawsuit. With Norah's scheming and methods, she felt that she would definitely get part of the inheritance. When she gets the inheritance, she can be resurrected with full blood!]

Elliot: [She'd better not appear in front of me, otherwise I won't be able to spare her.]

Ben: [Hahahaha! So I said she was afraid to go back to Aryadelle. However, she may be able to contact Sasha. This time, she used Sasha as a bait to bring Travis into the trap. It's possible that she used this trick on you as well.]

Elliot: [Then she will try to see if I won't take the bait.]

.....

Bridgedale.

It's Travis's funeral.

Travis made many friends in his life, so even if the number of guests at the funeral was repeatedly reduced, hundreds of people still came to the scene.

Travis's body had been cremated in advance, so after the funeral ceremony, the ashes could be sent directly for burial.

During the luncheon, Mike planned to find an opportunity to chat with Emilio.

As a result, when he looked at Emilio's table, he accidentally met Norah's.

All Travis's children sat at a table.

The grievances between Norah and Travis were unknown to outsiders. Outsiders didn't even know that Travis was killed by Norah. So everyone was not surprised that Norah attended the funeral.

After Norah saw Mike, the expression on her face was obviously stunned.

Mike raised his glass and gestured to Norah in the air.

"Is Mike a friend of my father?" Norah asked Emilio, looking away from Mike's face.

"No. Mike is my friend. What's wrong?" Emilio asked.

They had a few brothers and sisters, who seemed to be peaceful on the surface today, but they had split into two privately, preparing to sue for the issue of inheritance.

“Haha, Mike is Avery’s follower. Avery asked him to come!” Norah said this deliberately, embarrassing Emilio.

“So what? Now I have the final say in the Jones family, and I have the final say in who to invite.” Emilio replied bluntly.

“Okay, I know you have Avery to support you.” Norah sneered, “Unfortunately, you will still lose the lawsuit.”
