Chapter 2429

Elliot came out of the shower and heard Avery's phone call, so he walked to her and glanced at the call reminder.

"Why did Eric call you so late?" Elliot asked casually.

"I contacted him first. I'll answer the phone first and tell you later." Avery took the mobile phone and walked towards the balcony.

About ten minutes later, Avery finished talking on the phone and went back to the bedroom.

"Is it for endorsement?" Elliot sat beside the bed and looked at Avery.

"Yeah! The vice president is very anxious about this. He has privately obtained the number of Eric's agent." Avery put the phone on the cabinet, and said, "But I have already agreed with Eric."

"What price?" Elliot knew that Eric would agree to this endorsement, but he was just curious about the price they negotiated.

As Avery said, Eric wouldn't speak loudly, and he was willing to help even without money, but Avery would definitely not agree.

“Eric said it would be fine at the price of his last endorsement.” Avery said, “He said he forgot the price of his last endorsement, and he had to go home to find the contract.”

“Can’t remember the last price of an endorsement, it must have been a long time since the last endorsement?” Elliot guessed.

“Maybe! His agent said that he doesn’t like to take endorsements. He said that a cosmetics company with a first-tier international brand recently paid him nine figures for an endorsement, but he also refused.” Avery sighed, “Suddenly I found out that he is very valuable.”

In Avery’s eyes, Elliot saw her admiration for Eric:

“Why didn’t I see you praise me so much? I can make money too.”

“Oh...Did I praise you? No, I just sighed.” Avery patted her head, “I’m going to take a bath first! By the way, go see your daughter. If she is still reading, tell her not to read this time.”

“Daughter is so hardworking!” Elliot glanced at the time and immediately walked towards the door of the room, “I’ll take a look.”

After a while, Avery came out of the shower, and Elliot was already lying on the bed.

“Is Layla asleep?” Avery asked.

“Yeah. She was about to go to sleep when I passed by just now. She said that the final exam was coming soon, and she was a little nervous.” Elliot’s voice couldn’t hide his distress, “She wasn’t so nervous about studying before. I don’t know why she cares so much about grades all of a sudden and ranking.”

“Have you noticed that your daughter has rarely said she wants to enter the entertainment industry when she grows up?” Avery also felt her daughter’s change.

“Well. Let it be! Let her do whatever she wants in the future.” Elliot said dotingly.

The next day.

Eric came to the Tate Industries directly with the last endorsement contract.

Vice President Jesse Caldwell was surprised when he saw Eric in Avery’s office when he passed by.

It’s only early 9 o’clock, and Avery hadn’t come yet.

Jesse Caldwell immediately entered Avery’s office and greeted Eric warmly.

“Are you the new vice president?” Eric put down the coffee cup in his hand and asked.

“Yeah! It’s a great honor for you to know me.” Jesse sat down on the sofa beside Eric, “Are you here to find President Tate? She should be here soon.”

“I’m here with you today to sign an endorsement contract.” Eric said, and took out his last endorsement contract, “I negotiated with Avery last night, according to the price of my last endorsement.”

Jesse’s cheeks flushed, and his face was pleasantly surprised, “President Tate hasn’t told me yet... You guys are too efficient!”

After interviewing two people this morning, Elliot settled on one of them as his assistant.
