

Mr Fang and his daughter looked more and more worried.

Their faces turned pale as they hung their heads and stood motionlessly with sweat dripping from their foreheads.

"Mr Fang, do you mind explaining what's going on? Hurry up and explain yourselves!" said Chen Nan. She swiftly realized what was going on in her heart.

Chen Nan glared at the both of them coldly as she asked.

"Miss Chen, we...we..." replied the restaurant owner as he shivered nonstop in fear. He felt so guilty that he couldn't even talk straight.

"Speak up. The Deputy Mayor is right here. If you confess, Fan might be magnanimous enough to let you off. But if you don't cooperate and get the cops involved, you will have to do jail time!" said Chen Nan. Her words left Mr Fang and his daughter terrified.

Considering the circumstance, Mr Fang and his daughter didn't dare withhold the truth and confessed everything to everyone.

"Miss Chen, Mr Ye, it's not our fault. He was the one who told us to do it. He paid us to put on an act and accuse Mr Ye of molest. I made a mistake because that wicked man tempted me. Miss Chen, Mr Ye, we are sorry. I beg you, can you let us off this once?" implored Mr Fang. They were terror-stricken and kept apologizing.

In the end, they pushed all the blame on Ye Jian.

Ye Jian's faced turned white. He pointed at Fang Yao-Yao and her father and shouted angrily, "Mr Fang, you...you assholes!"

Ye Jian didn't expect Mr Fang and his daughter to confess this quickly and even pushed all blame on him. In an instant, his face turned dark as he cursed them.

The patrons felt outraged when they heard the truth.

"Oh my god! So he was accused wrongly."

"This guy is an animal!"

"How could he do this to his own cousin?"

"He's simply immoral!"

"He even acted all righteous. From the looks of it now, he's just scum."

"How can you have the cheek to dine here?
Get lost!"

....

"That's right, get lost!"

"You are such a scum!"

.....

"You're worse than an animal!"

.....

After the truth came out, the tables abruptly turned and the angry mob who was scolding Ye Fan, turned to curse Ye Jian instead.

Public condemnation can be a fearful thing!

Ye Jian was on the verge of getting drowned by everyone's saliva. Jiang Yu-Lang and Jiang Yu-Qing found it embarrassing too. They instantly told him quietly, "Jian, we can't fight back when the odds are against us. Why don't we leave now? You have incurred public wrath."

"I'm not leaving. Why should I leave since I already paid for lunch? I'm simply not leaving!" said Ye Jian with deep resentment. He wanted Ye Fan to lose all reputation but ended up sabotaging himself instead.

Ye Jian felt furious and indignant.

If he left like a loser with his tails between his legs, he would become completely embarrassed.

“Jian, why are you doing this?”

“If you keep being stubborn, things will end up worse!”

“Bloody hell, if you want to stay here and disgrace yourself, then be my guest! Yu-Qing, let’s go!”

Jiang Yu-Lang and his sister were just inexperienced university undergrads, so they were too thin-skinned to face the embarrassment.

They attempted to persuade Ye Jian, but he refused to listen to them.

Then they turned to leave and dumped Ye Jian at the restaurant.

“You...you...” stammered Ye Jian with his face livid. He stood up and wanted to scold Jiang Yu-Lang and his sister but didn’t have the cheek to do it.

But the moment Ye Jian spoke, a burly man walked over and kicked him onto the ground with a thud.

"You you you my ass! What the hell? We told you to bloody leave. Why do you keep talking? You should count your lucky stars that you didn't get slaughtered for disturbing Miss Chen's peace. How dare you keep causing trouble?" cursed the burly man as he beat Ye Jian up.

"AHHH! You asshole. How dare you hit me? Do you know who I am? My uncle is Deputy County Mayor of Dongyang. My Dad is an entrepreneur, and my cousin is a soldier..."

Ye Jian screamed as he yelled in fury.

The burly man was instantly delighted and said, "The Deputy County Mayor? A soldier? Wow just look at how strong your background is!"

Ye Jian thought he had succeeded in threatening the man, so he climbed up and wanted to scold him.

But the man shockingly slapped Ye Jian on the face with a thud right away.

He cursed Ye Jian as he hit him.

"The Deputy County Mayor you say... A soldier you say... How dare you threaten me? How dare you bloody act tough? How dare you bloody threaten me? Where the hell were you when I started working in Jingzhou? How dare threaten me with your connections?" said Wei Wu-Jie as he smiled sinisterly and gnashed his teeth.

He kicked and hit Ye Jian until he whimpered in pain.

"AHHH! That hurts!"

"Stop hitting me. Please stop. Sir, I'm sorry. Please...please stop hitting me."

As the saying went, bad guys never end well. Wei Wu-Jie pummeled Ye Jian until he lost all dignity and knelt on the ground begging for mercy.

Ye Jian kept crying pitifully.

In the end, the restaurant owner couldn't bear the sight and hurriedly came over and dissuaded, "Mr Wei, Mr Wei, enough. Stop hitting him. Or else you'll kill him."

Instead, Wei Wu-Jie slapped Mr Fang with a backhand the moment Mr Fang stepped forward to stop him.

"Do you still have the cheek to talk about this? I haven't settled the score with you for disturbing Miss Chen," said Wei Wu-Jie as he raised his hands to hit him.

"Enough. Mr Wei, let's not take things too far. Since you've already beaten him, they've already learned their lesson. If you go on, things won't end well," persuaded a stern man who came with Chen Nan.

Wei Wu-Jie and the man seemed to be acquainted.

"Haha, you're here too, Mayor Lin. In that case, I will certainly do you a favor and stop," replied Wei Wu-Jie as he chuckled. Then he turned to kick Ye Jian's butt.

"Get lost, you brat! Don't ever let me see you again, or else I will beat you up every time I do!" roared Wei Wu-Jie furiously. Ye Jian didn't dare linger and quickly stumbled out of the restaurant.

After Ye Jian left, Wei Wu-Jie smiled and walked over to Chen Nan with a reverent look on his face and said ingratiatingly, "Miss Chen, those irritating buggers are gone. Please go on and eat. No one will dare disturb you now."

Chen Nan looked a little puzzledly at Wei Wu-Jie and wasn't sure where this man had popped out from. "You are...?"

"Haha! Miss Chen, my name is Wei Wu-Jie, and we used to be in the construction business around here with Master Lei San. My family is quite well known in the business in Jingzhou," Wei Wu-Jie introduced himself.

"Wei Wu-Jie?" Chen Nan was still puzzled. She couldn't remember if she knew this man.

Wei Wu-Jie just smiled and replied, "Haha, Miss Chen, I'm just an ordinary man, so I'm not worth mentioning in front of you and it's only normal that you don't know who I am. You are Mr Chu's woman and it's only right to say that you're the queen of Jiangdong."

"I don't ask to become friends with you, and it's really enough for me to have seen your face today. But Miss Chen, you really should have let Mr Chu know that you're here in Jiangdong. Then Mr Chu just has to give the order and even Master Lei San of Jingzhou will have to receive you personally and offer the queen of Jiangdong a toast."

Wei Wu-Jie continued laughing merrily. Being able to talk at such a close distance from the queen of Jiangdong was his great honor and it made him very excited.

Ye Fan frowned slightly and asked, "Hmmm? Do you know me?"

Wei Wu-Jie was stunned by these words.

He turned around and saw that the false accused live-in son-in-law was the one talking to him. His expression instantly darkened and he started yelling, "Go away! I'm talking to Miss Chen here, so how could a punk like you interrupt me? And you asked if I know you? Who the hell do you think you are? Why would I know you?"

Wei Wu-Jie rolled his eyes and looked at Ye Fan like he was an idiot.

This young man's brain was probably damaged somewhere. Didn't he know how to think before speaking?

He was happily having a chat with Miss Chen and this fellow suddenly asked if he knew him?

Wei Wu-Jie didn't see why he would know any live-in son-in-law.

If Chen Nan wasn't watching from the side, Wei Wu-Jie would have gone into a rage and bashed this brainless fellow long ago.

Ye Fan's eyes twitched at this response and couldn't get a word out.

Chen Nan was equally puzzled.

According to what Wei Wu-Jie said earlier, he should know Ye Fan.

So why...

In her confusion, Chen Nan asked, "You... you've never seen Mr Chu before?"

"Of course not. I'm just a lowly person who runs errands for Master Lei San, and I don't even see Master Lei San more than a few times a year. How could I possibly have seen Mr Chu before? That's the king of Jiangdong, you know? I don't think I'll ever see him in my lifetime," exclaimed Wei Wu-Jie as he shook his head and sighed. His words were filled with great admiration and reverence for Mr Chu.

But Chen Nan was at a loss and asked, "Since you've never met Mr Chu, how did you recognize me?"

Wei Wu-Jie replied, "My little brother recognized you. He's Master Lei's driver. He had the fortune of going to Yunzhou with Master Lei on New Year's Day for the Feast of the Sea and Sky. My little brother said Miss Chen leaned into Mr Chu's arms and toasted all the heavyweights in Haiyuan Restaurant. A great man rules the world by day and is accompanied by his woman by night. He is a true hero."

Gusto and pride emanated from Wei Wu-Jie as he recounted the story.

If no one didn't know better, they would have thought it was Wei Wu-Jie himself leaning into Mr Chu's arms that fateful day.

"Sigh. It's a pity that I will probably never have the fortune of meeting Mr Chu in my life," said Wei Wu-Jie sadly.

Ye Fan couldn't stand it anymore.

After some hesitation, he walked over and said truthfully, "Er... Mr Wei, I'm Mr Chu."

"Who the hell do you think you are? Get lost. Get out of my way and stop bugging me," scolded Wei Wu-Jie right away.

He naturally didn't believe that this young punk was the famous hero of Jiangdong, Mr Chu.

Ye Fan, "I'm really Mr Chu."

"The hell you are! Hurry up and get lost," scolded Wei Wu-Jie again.

Ye Fan's instantly turned darker as he said speechlessly, "But I'm really..."

"Damn it! Are you about done? I kept tolerating you and didn't beat you up because Miss Chen is around, and I don't want to upset her. But you keep pushing your luck! Just look at how pathetic you look! How can you be Mr Chu? If you are Mr Chu, then I'll call you my grandpa!" said Wei Wu-Jie angrily.

Instead, Ye Fan smiled bitterly.

He didn't think that there would come a day when no one believed him.

Chen Nan bent over and laughed as Ye Fan sat speechlessly.

Her uncontrollable laughter sounded melodious and was particularly pleasant to the ear.

"How can you have the cheek to laugh, girl! Hurry up and explain things to him!" said Ye Fan with his face dark as he glared at Chen Nan.

Chen Nan was probably the only person who could help Ye Fan prove his identity to boors like Wei Wu-Jie.

"Hmmm? What do you want me to explain? I don't know what you're talking about. Isn't your surname Ye?" asked Chen Nan as she acted obliviously.

"You..." said Ye Fan. He was on the verge of blowing up.

He didn't think Chen Nan would help an outsider make fun of him.

But Ye Fan had no clue how amusing it was for Chen Nan to see Jiangdong's ultimate leader, Mr Chu, looking so frustrated.

So Chen Nan naturally didn't let a moment of his suffering escape her eyes.

Wei Wu-Jie became even more confident of his opinion.

"You punk. You are a bloody Ye. How dare you claim to be Mr Chu? I think you have a death wish!" shouted Wei Wu-Jie as he glared at Ye Fan and scolded him.

Fine.

It seemed impossible to clarify the misunderstanding.

So Ye Fan smiled helplessly and gave up trying to prove he was Mr Chu.

Ye Fan rubbed her nose reproachingly as he said, "How can you laugh? How dare you make fun of me? Are you itching for me to spank you? Enough. Let's go. Come over to my place since you're in Jingzhou."

Ye Fan's home was in Jingzhou, so he ought to show Chen Nan some hospitality since she was visiting.

Before Ye Fan and Chen Nan even left, Wei

Wu-Jie blew up without warning.

“Darn! Do you want to die, you punk? How dare you touch Mr Chu’s woman? I am going to help Mr Chu kill you today!”

Wei Wu-Jie’s eyes turned bloodshot right away in a fit of anger when he caught sight of Ye Fan touching Chen Nan’s face!

Rate the Translation to Get 2 Pearls.

Wait! I Have Something to Say!

Send a Gift to the Writer!