Chapter 601 Cerberus

The East, Horton City.

In the study of the Lund mansion.

Todd Lund smashed the porcelain cup into pieces and yelled, "How dare Nathan kill Charles!"

Todd's most capable aides, Cecil Norman and Berus Matthew, nicknamed 'Cerberus', stood before Todd with their heads bowed.

Cecil reported, "Yes, your brother is dead."

Berus added, "His four most trusted guards and another fifty men he brought have died in Channing as well."

Todd burst out in rage, "Very well. Assemble the Tartarus Troops and get Hades as well. Prepare to set off to Channing. I won't stop until I bury Nathan Cross' family with my very hands."

Cecil and Berus had a shocked expression and replied in unison, "Roger!"

The Tartarus Troops were a group of highly-paid mercenaries the Lund family painstakingly assembled from all over the world.

These included MMA champions, top assassins, as well as mercenaries.

Every single one of them was considered an expert in their own fields.

Although there were only a hundred of them, they cost the Lund family a billion every year.

They were the Lund family's trump card, one that allowed them to take control over the entire Horton City, a city known as the Jewel of the East.

On the other hand, Hades was the leader of the Tartarus Troops.

No one knew Hades' background or how strong he truly was. Anyone who dared to find out had already been killed.

Hades was the Lund family's guardian angel, and he was someone worthy of the title 'God of the Underworld'.

This time, Todd Lund was prepared to bring Hades, Cerberus, as well as the Tartarus Troops to Channing. It was clear that he was set on exterminating Nathan's entire family.

Meanwhile, in a Channing teahouse, there was an opera being performed.

Nathan, Penny, Kylie, and Queenie were watching the show while enjoying tea.

It was the weekend, so Nathan brought his daughter to listen to some operas to make her understand art and culture.

An opera about a war was being performed. The guests at the teahouse were mesmerized by the show.

An actor sang, "I'm enjoying the scenery from the city's walls, but the chaos outside disturbs me..."

Suddenly, two burly men barged in.

One of them was large and had a glare like a hellhound.

The other looked like he was about to bite at any time.

They were Todd Lund's trusted generals, Cecil Norman and Berus Matthew, or the Cerberus duo.

When the pair showed up, everyone in the teahouse turned their attention towards them.

Cecil spat, "Stop singing. It hurts my ears. I'll kill the next person who so much as speaks."

The actors on stage froze and did not dare to continue.

Cerberus seemed satisfied that they had scared the entire crowd into silence.

Queenie was just a child, so she was not afraid. She scrutinized Cecil and Berus, who looked strange.

She pointed at Cecil and whispered to Nathan, “Papa, that man looks like a puppy!”

Berus’ expression turned ferocious and exuded a killing intent.

Instantly, Queenie was scared out of her wits and hid behind Nathan.

Nathan got up and smiled at Berus. He apologized, “Mr. Puppyface, my daughter is young and naïve, so she might have offended you unknowingly. I apologize on her behalf...”

Mr. Puppyface!

Berus flared up and clenched his fists, “What did you call me?”

Although Berus was part of Todd Lund’s Cerberus, he hated it when people pointed out that he looked like a dog and was especially angered by the title ‘Mr. Puppyface’.

Nathan was taken aback and realized that he had said something rude. He wanted his daughter to hear his apology, so he addressed that man the same way without considering his feelings.

Before Nathan could correct himself, Cecil interrupted them, “Berus, enough talk. We’re here to deliver a declaration of war, not trash talk with him.”

Nathan frowned, “Declaration of war?”

Berus conjured up a letter as though by magic and sneered at Nathan, “That’s right. The Lund family is here to declare war on behalf of our master.”

He then threw the war declaration at Nathan’s throat as though it was a dagger.

Nathan caught the letter in midair, giving Cerberus a shock.

Nathan glanced at the letter and saw that it was written by Todd Lund: I invite you, Nathan Cross, to Channing East Cemetery for a showdown! If you show up, I might consider just killing you. Otherwise, I'll kill everyone in the Smith family to avenge my brother and son!

Nathan threw the letter into the bin and sneered, "The Lund family sure are full of persistent cockroaches."

Cecil and Berus were enraged that Nathan tossed the declaration of war just like that.

Earlier, Berus was already angry that Nathan called him 'Mr. Puppyface', so he told Cecil, "Hey, Cecil, this brat dared to ignore our master like that. Let's just kill him now."

Cecil grinned maliciously, "Well, he's a dead man sooner or later. Let's send him off, shall we?"

The moment he said this, they attacked him from both sides - a pincer attack!

Everyone in the teahouse gasped!

Penny held her daughter in fear and screamed, "Nathan, be careful!"

Nathan smirked and was prepared to defeat the two of them, but a tall figure appeared in front of Nathan and proclaimed, "I won't forgive anyone who dares to attack Mr. Cross!"

A towering figure in camouflaged-patterned trousers and a green vest had bulging muscles all over his body. It was as though he was a giant.

Anyone who knew the North Army well would get a shock when they saw this man.

After all, this man was one of the North General's subordinates, Destroyer.

Fang, Destroyer, and Heptakill formed the North General's Three Tigers. All three of them were major-generals in the North Army and were Nathan's three strongest subordinates. They were also known as the Three Heroes of the North.

Nathan was taken aback as well. Why is Destroyer in the South?

The Cerberus duo did not know who Destroyer was.

When they saw that someone dared to stop them, they were enraged.

Cecil yelled, "Get lost, scumbag!"

"Let's just kill this fool!" Berus added.

The two of them pounced towards Destroyer, aiming to kill him first.

Destroyer chuckled. He avoided Cecil's fists and caught him in a lock with his left arm.

At the same time, he grabbed Berus' fist with his right palm.

Chapter 603 Destroyer Is My Buddy

Nathan glared at Destroyer and explained to Penny, "I was a platoon leader in the army, so this man used to be one of my three section leaders."

After explaining, he snapped at Destroyer in a fluster, "I've already retired! Stop calling me sir, you imbecile!"

Destroyer gave a daft smile and no longer looked like the towering giant from earlier.

Kylie's heart was racing excitedly. Brother-in-law is awesome! He just scolded a major-general!

...

Soon, the police captain Zed Walker brought a few policemen over.

Walker did not know who Destroyer was either.

However, since Nathan was present and Destroyer was in military attire, as well as the authoritative presence he exuded, he knew that Destroyer must be one of

Chapter 603 Destroyer Is My Buddy

Nathan's subordinates.

He took over the scene after a brief investigation.

As for Nathan's family, they left the teahouse with Destroyer.

When they reached home, Benson and Leah were shocked by the two-meter-tall giant as well.

When they heard that Destroyer was Nathan's old comrade, they immediately started preparing a meal for him.

During the meal, Destroyer ate at a rapid pace. Soon, he had finished all of his portions.

He quickly swept past the other food as well, eating everything in sight.

Penny was left in shock and Nathan smiled bitterly.

Destroyer had lived half his life in the army, so he had the habit of eating quickly.

Chapter 603 Destroyer Is My Buddy

By eating quickly, he could save more time for training and preparing for battle at any time.

That did not only apply to Destroyer. In the North Army, from the newest recruit to Nathan himself, everyone had such a habit.

Thus, he took a long time to adjust when he lived with the Smiths.

Queenie stared in shock and told Nathan, "Daddy, Uncle Destroyer has a great appetite."

When Destroyer heard this, he noticed that everyone had been staring at him.

He scratched his head embarrassedly, "I'm sorry... force of habit. I'm used to eating quickly in the army."

Penny smiled, "Don't be sorry. You warriors can only defend the country when you're full, allowing us to live in peace. My family has always admired military personnel. Here, Mr. Destroyer, I'll get you some

Destroyer thanked him, “Thanks, madam!”

Penny quickly refilled Destroyer’s plate. This time, he did not wolf his food down and ate slowly.

When he saw Queenie staring at him curiously, he suddenly recalled something and passed Queenie a jade pendant of a Buddha.

He smiled, “Little miss, uncle came in a rush today, so I didn’t have time to prepare any gifts for you. I got this jade Buddha back in Myanmar, so I hope you don’t mind accepting it.”

Queenie’s eyes gleamed and took the jade pendant. She smiled sweetly, “Thanks, uncle.”

Although Queenie loved the pendant, she was obedient and returned it to Destroyer. She said softly, "Uncle, my mama says I shouldn't accept this."

Destroyer replied, "Madam, I chanced upon this piece of jade in Myanmar, and it didn't cost me a lot of money. It's a gift for the little miss here, so please accept it."

Nonetheless, Penny shook her head, "No way, this is too expensive! I can't accept this."

Destroyer turned to Nathan for help.

Chapter 604 One Is Enough

After dinner, Colin Dunne, Thomas Dunn, and the Elite Eight came to visit.

Colin and the others came because they had things to report to Nathan. Aside from that, they also heard that Destroyer was here and decided to come to visit.

They went into Nathan's study and started to discuss some matters.

Penny could guess that these people used to be Nathan's subordinates and that they were planning on how to deal with the Lund family's declaration of war.

She was worried, but she did not say anything. Nevertheless, she brought a few snacks for Nathan and left.

At the study, Nathan inquired calmly, "Colin, Thomas, what brings you here?"

Thomas replied, "Sir, Todd Lund from the East has brought an army of capable men to challenge you to a deathmatch at the East Cemetery.

Colin chimed in, “Yep, Todd Lund was fuming when he found out about the death of Cerberus. He said that he’d kill your entire family if you didn’t show up tomorrow.”

Thomas added, “Sir, it would be overkill for you to go. I’ll bring all of my men to destroy Todd Lund!”

Nathan refused calmly, “No! I heard that the Lund family hired a man known as Hades. He is quite powerful and even though the Tartarus Troops are only a hundred in number, all of them are top-class fighters. Your men are no match.”

Colin volunteered, “Let me do it then. I’ll bring the Elite Eight and Dragonfury Special Forces to sweep them.”

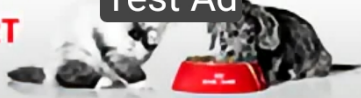

Nathan shook his head once more, “No need. Tomorrow, I’ll go with Destroyer.”

The Cemetery used to be Channing's largest Cemetery, but it was soon abandoned and no longer used.

There would only be people paying respects during important occasions. It was usually deserted.

However, the abandoned cemetery was filled with uninvited guests on that day.

A Lincoln town car and several black cars were parked at the cemetery.

Todd Lund was in a suit with his trusted subordinate, Hades, and hundreds of men from the Tartarus Troops as he awaited Nathan's arrival.

Todd scanned the abandoned cemetery and smiled, "Hehe, this is a good final resting spot. Nathan Cross, you should thank me!"

Hades replied expressionlessly, "Sir, I'm afraid Cross wouldn't have the guts to show up today."

He knew that even if Todd killed Nathan, he would not let Penny and the others off.

Todd's eyes narrowed, "Hades, you know me well. That's right, even if Nathan shows up, I'll bury his entire family alive to avenge my brother and son."

The Tartarus Troops and Hades were all cruel people, but their expressions changed when they heard this.

“Let me do it!”

Two men from the Tartarus Troops burst out. One was short and bulky, while the other was tall and lean.

The short man was called Boreas and specialized in boxing. He could kill a bull with one punch.

On the other hand, the lean man was Hector, who specialized in kicking. His kicks were strong enough to take down a medium-sized tree.

Both of them were recruited by Todd to the Tartarus Troops due to their fighting skills.

Todd was satisfied to see the two of them eager to kill Destroyer. He laughed, “I’ll leave this fool to you guys then! The one who kills him shall be deemed superior, and I will reward him with five million!”

Destroyer did not move an inch and scoffed, "Is that all the Tartarus Troops are capable of?"

Is that all we are capable of?

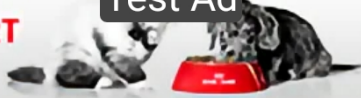

Todd and the others stared in shock. That was the first time they had seen such a reckless individual who did not dodge at all!

Todd flew into a rage, "Looks like other than your fighting skills, your skills at sucking up to others are top class as well!"

However, Destroyer had only stated the truth.

It was just that they had refused to believe it.

Nathan looked thin and frail, so he did not have an intimidating figure like Destroyer. Naturally, they did not believe that he was ten times stronger. Hence, they concluded that Destroyer was only bragging and sucking up to Nathan.

When Nathan and Destroyer returned to their home in Riverside Garden, it was already noon.

Penny was worried for Nathan. She knew that the Lund family of the East had sent all their manpower and challenged Nathan to a deathmatch.

She also knew that Nathan and Destroyer had probably left in the morning to meet the Lunds.

With that, she spent the entire morning worrying about Nathan. So when she saw that he had returned safely with Destroyer, she felt a weight off her chest.

She immediately went up to welcome Nathan and whispered, "Hubby, did you attend the Lund's deathmatch?"

Nathan smiled, “Nope. Destroyer and I taught them to live and let live. Some of them realized the error in their ways, and some of them went back dejectedly.”

He deliberately missed out on the rest of them, who would never leave the abandoned East Cemetery again.

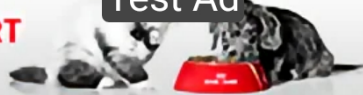

When she heard Nathan brush it off so easily, she thought they had settled things and patted her chest, “Alright then. Ever since the Cross Group has become strong and powerful, a lot of jealous people have stirred trouble with us.”

Nathan smiled, “It’s alright. When I’m around, no one will be able to make life difficult for you or the Cross Group.”

Speaking of which, Penny brought something up to Nathan, “Hubby, isn’t it strange? The companies that deliberately delayed payment have all been obedient lately. Our suppliers have also become obedient.”

Nathan knew that this was because he had made an example by killing Lund back then.

However, he did not take the credit for it and smiled, "It's probably because we sued Kayden Cook. When word got out, the companies we were dealing with probably got scared!"

Penny nodded. That's true.

Meanwhile, Kylie rolled her eyes. How could those villains have given up like that? It must've been brother-in-law. Sigh, brother-in-law is such a great man.

Kylie stole glances at Nathan and felt that he was more and more attractive. None of the stars on television could compare to him.

Leah had already exited the kitchen and called out, "Everyone is back. Let's have lunch."

Nathan knew that Destroyer had come to the South to go to the South military base for an exchange with the generals over there.

But still, he did not know that he would be leaving so soon!

Regardless, the South military headquarters were in East Bay, which was not far from Channing. It was just a two-hour trip by car.

He said, “It’s alright if you have a mission at hand. Come over as and when you’re free. Just take this as your own home.”

Destroyer replied, “Roger!”

Chapter 609 Member Of The Cross Family

At the most luxurious mansion in Horton, the Ophidian Villa.

The Ophidian Villa was a work of art designed for a rich man. Anyone who could live in the Ophidian Villa would have to be one of the top five hundred richest men nationwide.

Even then, you had to go through the approval of the Ophidian Villa's most important resident, Tyson Brown, also known as Quetzalcoatl, before you could stay there.

The people who lived there had to be both rich and influential.

Only people with immense wealth and power were befitting of living in the Ophidian Villa.

At this point, in the villa's most luxurious study.

A fifty-year-old man with rosy cheeks and an authoritative presence was reading in leisure.

Chapter 609 Member Of The Cross Family

He was the renowned Quetzalcoatl of the East, Tyson Brown.

A group of people from the Lund family knelt before Tyson, led by Jet Lund himself.

Tyson finally tore his eyes off his book and glanced at the men kneeling before him. He asked calmly, "Mr. Lund, why are you doing this?"

Jet kowtowed before him and begged, "Both of my sons and my grandson have died in the South. I have no choice but to plead with you, Quetzalcoatl, to help me fulfill my revenge."

The Lunds behind him begged, "Please, Quetzalcoatl, help us achieve our revenge."

Tyson frowned, "You've gotten the wrong man for the job. I've already semi-retired and chose not to interfere meddle in the affairs of others for a long time. I'm no longer as powerful as I was before. Please leave."

Jet hurriedly replied, “Quetzalcoatl, you’re being too humble. Everyone knows that you’re the uncrowned king of Horton, the Jewel of the East. You’re revered by all and your disciples and descendants are all influential men. All you need to do is cough, and the whole of the East would kill for you.”

Tyson laughed and turned to his butler, Guilford, “Look, they said that people will die with only just one cough from me. I must be a monster then, haha.”

Guilford was Tyson’s trusted butler. He was sixty and a hunchback, and everyone knew he was Tyson’s favorite.

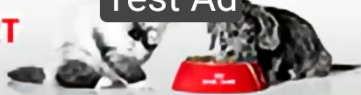

However, Guilford only smiled and did not speak. He knew well that actions spoke louder than words.

Jet knelt down and continued, “Quetzalcoatl, if you’re willing to help us, we are willing to offer ten billion for your hard work.”

Jet pleaded, "Quetzalcoatl, you've already taken many lives with these very hands, enough to dye an entire lake red. Surely a few more would mean nothing to you?"

Tyson Brown was about to fly into a rage.

Jet continued, "Furthermore, this man has something to do with you. No one else would dare to help the Lund family!"

Tyson asked in confusion, "What has your son and grandson's killer got to do with me?"

Jet nodded, "It does. Quetzalcoatl, you have a cousin called Helen who joined the Cross family and even became the female head of the family, right?"

Jet added, “However, Nathan has been disowned by the Cross family. Otherwise, your cousin would be his stepmother!”

Tyson finally understood, “So the man you want dead is Nathan Cross - the unfilial son disowned by the Cross Family. You don’t have to worry about that. Nathan has been disowned by the Cross family, so even if you kill him, the Crosses won’t care.”

Jet explained, “Although that brat has been expelled from the Cross Family, he is quite powerful, and the Lund family can’t do anything to him. I’ll do anything for you, Quetzalcoatl, as long as you help us get our revenge.”

Tyson would not have done this if it were anyone else.

However, Nathan was disowned by the Cross family, which his cousin was now the head of.

his cousin would lose out!

Tyson was lost in thought. Helen married into the Cross family to get her hands on the inheritance. If Nathan returns and takes over, then all her efforts would be wasted. After all, Nathan and his mother were chased out of the family by my cousin. Even his mother's death was part of my cousin's plan. If I keep him alive, he'll be a threat to her one day.

All these years, Helen had been tracking Nathan and trying to get rid of him, but to no avail.

Tyson's eyes narrowed. Since Nathan is a threat to Helen, I'll get rid of him on her behalf. That way, I'll be able to kill two birds with one stone, and both the Lund family and Helen will owe me a favor.

Tyson smiled at Jet, "Since you're so sincere, Mr. Lund, I won't refuse you any further. I can help you exterminate Nathan Cross, but I want twenty billion in return!"

Tyson looked satisfied and turned to Guilford, "Guilford, who do you think I should send to Channing to kill Nathan?"

Guilford replied respectfully, "Sir, your stepson Tyler just returned from overseas to serve you in the East. I feel that he would be the most suitable candidate for this job."

Channing, at the East Cemetery.

A tall figure in a blue suit and silky hair said calmly, “Todd Lund was killed by Nathan Cross right here. As his subordinates, all of you ran off and left your master behind. Useless trash.”

The handsome man was Quetzalcoatl’s stepson, Tyler, who had just returned from overseas training.

Several disheveled men were kneeling in front of him. They were the Tartarus Troops, who had fled from battle.

Tyler commanded, “Kill them all!”

As he said that, his men in suits took action. They chopped off the heads of all the Tartarus troops, spilling blood all over the ground.

Tyler instructed, “Send the heads to the Lund family. I’ve already killed the first batch of people the Lunds want dead.”

One subordinate replied, “Yes, Mr.

At Cloud Palace, one of the most luxurious restaurants in Channing.

Nathan, Penny, Benson, Leah, Queenie, Kylie, and a man named John Caulkin were dining together.

John was a man the Tonkins had arranged to matchmake Kylie with!

However, Kylie had refused to meet him on the grounds of being busy at work.

On the other hand, John liked her very much and invited her for a meal directly at Channing.

Kylie did not like John but could not find a good excuse to refuse him, so she called Nathan’s family over to join them.

John smiled, “You flatter me. Our net worth is only ten billion, so it’s nothing worth mentioning. Besides, my yearly income is only ten million. It’s average, I guess.”

John sounded humble but had a smug look on his face.

Benson and Leah nodded, “It’s already amazing!”

John stole a glance at Kylie triumphantly to observe her reaction.

Although he knew that Nathan was Kylie's cousin-in-law, he felt jealous of Nathan for being so close to Kylie and felt a sense of rivalry.

He raised his voice, "Ms. Tonkins, you can sing in this restaurant. Let me dedicate a song to you."

Penny, Benson, and Leah felt that Kylie was of a marriageable age.

They also felt that John was a capable man and tried to matchmake them.

They chimed in, "Alright, pick a good song for Kylie, alright?"

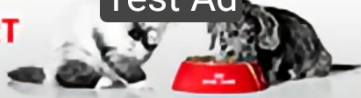

John smiled and headed to the stage.

He passed a few hundred to the band and requested to sing a song.

Penny agreed, “That’s right!”

Kylie scoffed, “What’s so good about him? Look at him! He’s just flaunting his wealth and always bragging. People like him irk me the most.”

Nathan could not help but laugh while Penny and the others were lost for words.

Meanwhile, onstage, John had already started singing the song. However, the song he was singing was a locally famous song, ‘I Really Love You’.

The crowd sniggered.

Kylie did a facepalm and spat spitefully, "See? There's something wrong with this idiot's head! Is this man confessing his love to me, or telling me that I'm as naggy as his mum?"

Nathan's family could not help but burst into laughter.

After that, he took a seat and smiled, "Haha, I hope you guys didn't mind my poor singing."

Nathan smiled, "You sang well."

However, he did not comment about the poor choice of song.

John noticed that Nathan had been mocking him earlier, so now that he complimented him, he felt that Nathan was just being sarcastic.

That chuckle made Nathan furious. Excuse me, but why are you laughing when I told you that my parents were dead?

Penny and the others frowned as well. This guy has a sick sense of humor!

John did not notice the changes in their expression and continued haughtily, "Nathan, you're not much older than me. You need to be more ambitious. Look at me. I'm from a rich family, but I struck it out on my own. Not to brag, but I know influential people from all over the nation. In Channing alone, I know the owner of this restaurant, Thomas Dunn! In fact, even though he was rather rich, he was not fit to even talk to an influential man like Dunn.

However, since he had said this, he could only continue pretending all the way. He would not disgrace himself in front of Kylie.

John laughed, "Of course I do! Dunn might be powerful in Channing, but he's worthless in front of me and obeys my every command!"

The one who was in the most awkward position was John - simply because Tyler had not forced him to chop his fingers off, but Nathan did not tell him to get into the private room either.

He did not dare to do anything rash and watched in a kneeling position awkwardly.

At this point in time, Nathan's gaze fell upon Tyler and frowned, "You're Tyson's godson?"

Tyler scoffed, "That's right, my godfather promised the Lund family to take revenge for them and sent me here for your life."

Nathan nodded and clenched his fists, "I'm right here. Kill me if you want."

Chapter 615 Over My Dead Body

Tyler noticed that Thomas and his men had only formed a circle around them to maintain order but did not show any signs of taking action.

Meanwhile, Colin and the Elite Eight stood around Nathan to protect him.

Tyler was in shock. What? Does Dunn not intend to fight and let Nathan survive with only nine men? He's underestimating the Prince of the East!

"Eldon, kill him!" Tyler ordered sternly.

"Roger!"

As Eldon said this, he flew at a breakneck speed.

"Over my dead body!"

The head of the Elite Eight, Uniton, blocked Eldon's path.

"I'll just have to kill you then!" Eldon burst out, while landing a kick on Uniton.

Chapter 615 Over My Dead Body

That kick was as fast as lightning and roared with a sound akin to thunder.

Uniton, on the other hand, took it in his stride and responded with a kick as well.

Bam!

Both legs collided.

Crack!

The sound of a snapping bone resounded in the air.

Everyone present was shocked to see that the result of a frontal clash between Uniton and Eldon. They certainly did not expect Eldon's leg to be broken.

"Argh!" Eldon screamed in pain.

Uniton followed up with another lightning quick kick.

It struck Eldon's head. Soon, Eldon breathed his last breath and stopped screaming.

What? Eldon was taken out by a random subordinate of Nathan within a matter of seconds?

Suddenly, Tyler's eyes widened in disbelief. After all, Eldon had always been one of his most capable aides. Usually, no one could outmatch him in terms of combat.

He could no longer suppress his emotions and yelled with all his might, "Joshua, mobilize everyone and wipe them out! Don't hold back against them!"

"Yes, Mr. Pearson!"

Joshua reached for the daggers he had with him and pounced on Nathan immediately.

The men in black around them Joshua took out their batons and rushed towards Nathan as well.

“Yes, Sir!” the Elite Eight answered collectively.

Colin stepped forward with the Elite Eight by his side. Their moves were synchronized as though they would be able to take on anyone who tried to pick on them.

Suddenly, both parties ran into one another and an intense fight broke out among them.

Although Tyler brought the elites amongst the elites with him this time, he had no idea who they were going up against.

Their opponents were none other than the General of the North’s National Guards. In fact, they were going up against the Captain of National Guards. Apart from that, the most capable members of the National Guards were present as well.

In short, the nine opponents of Tyler had the capability to take out a platoon of military easily.

Hence, no matter how capable they were, it would be impossible for his men to outmatch Colin and the Elite Eight.

Since the battle began, Joshua had been taken out by Colin using a gun. Eventually, Tyler's men groaned in pain and fell to the ground one by one.

Tyler kept himself occupied throughout the battle as well. He had his eyes glued to Nathan as though he was a predator that had its eyes on its prey.

As he made his way over to Nathan's side, he yelled, "Nathan, give me a fair fight! You're but the outcast of the Cross Family! I'll kill you today once and for all for Aunt Helen!"

An outcast of the Cross Family! Helen!

Initially, Nathan had a poker face, but his expression turned slightly gloomier when he heard Tyler's words.

Nathan couldn't help but recall the fact that his father had chased his mother and him out of the family because of Helen back then. Eventually, his mother passed on due to depression as a result of his father's action.

Colin and the Eight Elite were about to get in Tyler's way because the man rushed over to Nathan's side with a strong murderous intent.

However, Nathan instructed them without any emotion, "I'll take him out personally!"

When Tyler heard Nathan's instruction, he was delighted because he had been practicing all sorts of martial arts since he was young. He used to be a mercenary back then. Hence, he was very confident with his combat skills.

He thought Nathan must have had a death wish since he had given in to his request to have a fair fight with him.

"A punch is all it takes for me to defeat you. If you can make it out alive, I'll let you live!" Nathan warned Tyler in an indifferent tone.

“You insolent fool! I’ll send you to hell!”
Tyler yelled in return.

Tyler threw a powerful punch at Nathan in the chest with all his might the minute he went near Nathan.

Actually, it was indeed a powerful punch.

Consequently, once Tyler’s fist came into Nathan’s chest, it gave out a loud sound.

In fact, it distorted the flow of air around them as a result.

“That’s insane!” John, who was down on his knees on the ground, was taken aback by Tyler’s powerful punch.

As soon as John finished his sentence, Nathan countered Tyler’s punch and went offensive.

Nathan raised his palm and took Tyler’s punch without a flinch.

Suddenly, Tyler’s eyes widened in disbelief and horror. Obviously, he was shocked as it was written all over his face.

He couldn't believe the punch he threw at Nathan with all his might had been countered so easily.

As soon as Nathan stopped Tyler, he raised his right foot.

Bam!

As soon as Nathan's leg came into contact with Tyler's body, he was sent flying up.

Boom!

Consequently, Tyler hit the ceiling made out of cement and it cracked in the shape of a cobweb.

Before long, he landed on the ground and the badly injured Tyler fell in front of Nathan.

The bleeding man shuddered as he tried his best to raise his head and look at Nathan in the eyes.

Chapter 616 A Punch Is All It Takes

Once again, Nathan repeated himself in a callous tone. "I told you, right? A punch is all it takes to take you out. Too bad. It seems like you can't even take a punch from me."

The moment Nathan finished his sentence, Tyler collapsed in front of Nathan. The man had passed on with a strong grudge against Tyler.

In the meantime, the battle in the restaurant had come to an end as well.

Obviously, every single one of Tyler's men had been taken out by Nathan's subordinate.

On the contrary, Colin and the Elite Eight remained unscathed.

John was down on his knees throughout the battle. He was the sole witness who survived the battle.

By then, he was completely dumbfounded because he couldn't figure out Nathan's actual identity. He was utterly shocked at

Colin asked Nathan respectfully, “Master, what should we do with Tyler’s body?”

Nathan gave his instruction calmly, “Send it back to the Brown Family at the East. Tell them this is a gift from me.”

Consequently, Colin was taken aback by Nathan’s instruction because he knew Nathan had been infuriated by the Brown Family this time.

Throughout the years, he had been by his side. Therefore, he knew how much those from the Brown Family had offended Nathan. Otherwise, he wouldn’t resort to such a cruel method.

Perhaps this wasn’t merely because of the things they had done recently. The scores Nathan had with the Brown Family since years ago might have had enraged him as well.

As a matter of fact, it seemed like Nathan could no longer suppress the grudge he held against those from the Brown Family.

Nathan beckoned and instructed Colin once again, "You may take your leave now. Get someone over to clean up the mess as soon as possible. I don't want my loved ones to be petrified by such a horrific scene."

"Yes!" Colin replied.

Suddenly, Thomas broke the silence and asked, "Master, what should we do about this fella over here?"

He was surprised and looked at him in disbelief because John actually was down on his knees all along.

Suddenly, John began to sweat profusely when he recalled how impudent he behaved in front of Nathan before the meal. Apart from that, Colin and Thomas cast a rather annoyed gaze at him.

He ignored the numbing sensation he felt and crawled all the way over to Nathan's side. With a quivering voice, he pleaded, "Mr. Cross, I have been deceived by their words. I didn't mean to offend you at all. Please forgive me for being an insolent fool!"

Obviously, John was terrified because he had seen what Nathan was capable of.

After all, he had taken out Tyler and his men in front of him.

looked at him in the eyes with a smile on his face and helped him up. “Mr. Caulkin, what are you talking about? I should be expressing my gratitude instead. You were the one who tried to defend my family, right?”

Initially, John intended to protect Nathan and his family.

However, he decided to give up on his plan and got down on his knees in front of Tyler the moment he figured out Tyler was none other than the Supreme Leader of The East.

Therefore, he blushed embarrassedly when he heard Nathan’s words. John replied in a diffident manner, “As you can see, I wasn’t of much help either..”

In return, Nathan laughed and assured him, “Haha! You have tried your best so don’t worry about it. Come and join me! Let’s head over to the suite next door for a few more drinks!”

John was taken aback by Nathan’s words.

Nevertheless, he agreed immediately.
“Sure!”

As they made their way to the suite next door, Nathan told John with a smile on his face, “Actually, Kylie doesn’t have a thing for you. I’m afraid it’s impossible for you to get into a relationship with her. You should take it easy and go with the flow, okay?”

In actual fact, Nathan knew Kylie wasn’t serious about John. In addition, she couldn’t stand the man’s existence at all.

Therefore, Nathan gave John a piece of advice because he didn’t want to keep the poor man in the dark.

However, John misunderstood Nathan’s words instead.

In return, John cast an odd gaze at Nathan. He assured Zeke with a grin, “Sure... Don’t worry, Mr. Cross... Since you do have a thing for Ms. Tonkins...”

Nathan was stunned and looked at him in disbelief. “What the heck are you talking

John nodded vigorously and assured Nathan, "Yes, Mr. Cross If that's the case, so be it..."

Nathan was rendered speechless by John's words because he seemed to have a misperception of the sort of relationship he had with Kylie.

He was about to explain their relationship once again, but he decided not to since nothing was going on between Kylie and him.

In addition, John wasn't related to Kylie either. Hence, he didn't think was unnecessary to do further explanation to him.

In short, Nathan knew it would only make things worse. Therefore, he decided to keep it to himself in the end.

Therefore, Penny, Emmanuel, Leah, and Kylie had no idea an intense fight had taken place in the suite next door at all.

Since John and Nathan returned to the suite unscathed, they felt a sense of relief.

Penny served Nathan a bowl of rice and asked curiously, "Nathan, have those who tried to pick on us departed?"

A gift? What does Nathan mean? It seems like he has been holding a grudge against Helen all along since she was the reason he was chased out of the Cross Family. Perhaps he’s holding a grudge against the Brown Family as well.

He hesitated for quite some time before he reached for his phone to call his cousin.

Suddenly, the ostentatious woman on the other end of the call fell silent.

After a few minutes, Helen replied nonchalantly, "Thank you for the wonderful news. I have been looking for him for years, but my effort was to no avail all these years. I can't believe he has the guts to show up in front of me. Tyson, we have to get rid of Nathan at all cost."

When Helen heard Tyson's words, she replied with a smile, "Don't worry. I'll owe you once as long as you're able to get rid of Nathan on my behalf."

In return, Tyson assured Helen, "Don't worry! I'll definitely send him to hell within a month."

John realized Kylie didn't have a thing for him. Hence, he made up some random excuses and left as soon as possible because he felt rather embarrassed.

Once John departed, the only people left behind were Nathan and his family.

Suddenly, Penny whispered and asked Nathan because she realized he was thinking of something, "What's wrong, Nathan?"

When Nathan heard Penny's voice, he returned to his senses and replied with a smile as always, "It's nothing... It's almost All Saint's Day, right?"

As Penny was confused, she asked once again, "All Saint's Day is celebrated in honor of all the saints, known and unknown. Does that mean we're going somewhere to pay tribute to someone?"
