

He lit the incense and threw it onto the floor.

“Oi! Moore. Come out and smell the flowers. I’ve got something to say to you. I haven’t avenged my buddy yet. How could you just die on me? Well, at least your son is an understanding man. He dug your coffin up, saving me the trouble of doing it myself. I had originally planned to make you bury my buddy’s coffin with your own hands and commit suicide on the spot. Now that you’re already dead, I’ll have to settle for your son instead. Of course, I won’t let you off so easily. I’ll wreck your coffin and let your corpse rot!”

As he said this, Zeke tore the altar apart, allowing the coffin to be exposed to the burning sun.

The entire crowd burst into a rage.

Preposterous! Outlandish! He’s gone too far! He shows no respect for the dead, and destroying the altar is nothing but picking a fight with the Moores!

If the Moore family did not retaliate now, they would be the laughing stock of society.

Xander’s eyes reddened and he scowled.

He had not expected Zeke to push things so far. He’s making a joke out of the Moore family!

That was not all!

Sole Wolf had even thrown the coffin on his shoulders by Xander's feet.

A mild tremor was caused by the impact.

"Xander, this is a gift from us. You'll be committing suicide on my buddy's death anniversary, and the Moore family will soon go bankrupt. When the time comes, you may not be able to afford a coffin. Take this as a parting gift from us!"

"F!" Xander spat. He nearly went mad and ordered, "Quick, rebuild the altar."

"Father, due to your unfilial son's negligence, these villains have disturbed your rest. Don't worry, I'll send these two after you to apologize soon enough!"

The people from the casket company hurriedly rebuilt the altar.

Sole Wolf roared, "Not on my watch!"

His authoritative presence made the casket team do a double-take.

However, they could not defy a command from Xander, so they carried on anyway.

Insolent!

Sole Wolf flew into a rage, grabbing their leader by the arm.

He flung him several meters into a distance, and he collided with a medium-sized tree, causing it to snap instantly.

Sole Wolf had superhuman strength, even for someone with the nickname 'wolf'.

Ouch! This guy sure is strong!

Xander scoffed, "Going by brute force now, are we? Well, I have a few capable men on my side as well! Unbreakable Eight, you guys are up!"

Eight strong men stood in a row and approached Sole Wolf.

All of them were sturdily built and had a large frame; it was as though they were eight walls of flesh!

They deserved the title 'Unbreakable Eight'!

It was rumored that these eight men had come from the special forces. They were the Moore family's trump card.

The Moore family had spent one billion on them every year!

Of course, every cent was worth it. They had settled a whole host of affairs for the Moore family.

When the Moore family mobilized the eight of them, they were sure their opponents would be a goner!

Xander commanded, "Kill them for me. No, wait. Maim them instead. I want to take revenge on them myself."

The Unbreakable Eight nodded at his command.

Zeke lit a cigarette calmly and said, "Sole Wolf, I don't think you'll need my help dealing with such small fries, right?"

Sole Wolf grinned, "One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight..."

"Alright, I'll finish them in sixteen seconds."

Zeke was displeased by his answer and demanded, "Make that fourteen!"

Sole Wolf gritted his teeth and roared, "Fourteen it is then! I'll give it my best shot!"

Damn it!

The Unbreakable Eight were furious.

All of them were elites from the military special forces who easily dealt with their opponents. Yet, these two gangsters were boasting that they would defeat them in sixteen seconds, while the other one demanded him to do it in fourteen!

That was sheer humiliation to the eight of them.

Their leader, Donkey Kong, announced indignantly, "Let me deal with the smoker. I'll leave the blackie there to you guys!"

Huh? Sole Wolf had a cold glare in his eyes.

He hated it when people commented on his dark skin, but the leader had called him 'blackie'!

He could not suppress his rage and yelled, "Your mother is the black one here!"

Their leader frowned. "God damn it, I'll deal with you first, then the smoker!"

As he said that, both of them charged towards each other.

It was a contest of brute strength.

Everyone watched on excitedly. It was common knowledge that the Unbreakable Eight leader was especially vicious with his killing methods. He would usually torture his opponent to death!

Bam!

With a deafening crash, the two of them collided with the sound of a car crash.

One moment later, the Unbreakable Eight's leader was flung twenty meters into the air, landing on the seats nearby. Five or six guests were knocked out by the impact.

The chairs he had landed on snapped into pieces as well.

Donkey Kong stared at Sole Wolf with his eyes widened in fear and coughed up a mouthful of blood before passing out.

It was unknown if he was dead.

On the other hand, Sole Wolf was standing on the same spot and dusted his shoulders, "Heh, insolent fool! You deserve to die."

Zeke scoffed, "Stop showing off! Three seconds have already passed!"

Darn it, I forgot!

Sole Wolf panicked and cast a ferocious gaze at the Unbreakable Seven.

They were scared out of their wits. This blackie defeated the leader in one shot... for all we know, he might already be dead!

Even in the military, this man would be the top ten of the elite soldiers.

Are we really a match for him?

The seven of them had sparred with their leader before, and even then, they had taken him down seven on one with immense effort.

Yet, this man had taken down their leader in one hit. Surely they were no match for him.

What now? What now? Do we fight him or not? If we lose, won't it be embarrassing? But if we run, it'll be downright disgraceful!

Easy Kong bit his lip. "We'll stall him! We'll make him run out of stamina, and then we'll slowly kill..."

Before he could finish his sentence, however, he was sent flying by Sole Wolf.

The remaining six men became more worried after that and attempted to prolong the battle.

As Sole Wolf attacked the people in front of him, other people would attack him from his blind spot.

Sole Wolf had no choice but to turn around, only to realize that it had been a feint.

With that, Sole Wolf had only managed to defeat two men in six seconds.

“You damn cowards!” Sole Wolf grew impatient as his time started to run out. “Well, try dodging this!”

He jumped into the ruined altar and used Mr. Moore’s coffin cover as a weapon.

With this ‘long range weapon’, the Unbreakable Six were no longer able to dodge his attacks and were defeated in five seconds.

Zeke announced, “Fourteen seconds. You get a passing grade.”

Sole Wolf replied indignantly, “Darn! I could have killed them all in ten seconds if they didn’t start dodging!”

The crowd turned quiet and glared at the duo as though they were monsters.
