

Chapter 667

This night was destined to be a disruptive one.

After someone had set a bomb in one of the Oatker family bases, everyone across the country knew in half an hour.

The city was engulfed in utter astonishment.

Everyone in the United States was dumbfounded. Karen was actually fighting on par with the Oatker family. They were shocked by Karen's strength!

No one expected someone to suddenly step in at this moment.

Who could have done this?!

Everyone in the United States who knew about the news was curious. Who could have sent this to the Oatker family?

Only very few people knew.

This was the hot topic of the week. Everyone was taken aback because of this sudden news.

What would happen to the Oatker family?

Meanwhile, the Oatker family members were bubbling in anticipation.

They were ready to unleash their most advanced research products: the beasts without a sense of pain!

These were their loyal soldiers.

Soon, they were led out of the laboratory. Instead of looking like normal people, they had muscles all over their bodies. They were as hard as steel and as deadly as poison.

These people were former mercenaries, lunatics who had their hands stained with the blood of at least a few hundred victims.

Each of them had their lives bought by the Oatker family for 10 million dollars each.

Then, they had sworn loyalty to the Oatker family, becoming their guinea pigs for the rest of their lives.

When they came out of the lab, they could feel the power surging through their bodies. They were buff and large.

These lunatics were both surprised and excited.

Without a sense of pain, they were none other than lean, mean, killing machines. No combat expert could stand a chance!

The members of the Oatker family were all overwhelmed with excitement when they saw the outcome of their family's research.

Once these machines were released, Karen's whole family were sitting ducks.

"Although I don't really want others to know what we have done, I have no choice but to release them now!"

Earl muttered to himself. His eyes were glistening with malice as he ordered, "Listen up, everyone. I want Karen and her son dead!"

"No worries! We know what to do. We have already wanted to kill Karen Lee for a long time now!" The leader of these people was a strong bald man named Seth.

His gaze was sharp and menacing.

That was right!

Karen Lee was the second-best combat expert in the world. Killing her would be of great satisfaction.

"Good! I'll be waiting for your triumphant return!" Everyone looked excited.

"Bring back Karen's head!"

"F*ck! I want to hang her head up like a trophy! I want everyone to know the consequence of going against us, the Oatker family!"

Someone snorted coldly.

These beasts nodded and sneered. This was easy enough!

"Go ahead," Earl commanded them.

"Yes! Let's go!"

Seth was the leader of the group. With just a gesture, the killing machines trotted behind him and headed outside.

A car had been prepared outside. Now, they just needed to locate Karen and drive over there to kill her.

Cold laughter rang out in the Oatker family hall. Everyone was cackling, and so were the killing machines.

Why was this so?

This was because once they were on their way, Karen's death was almost guaranteed.

Just the thought of that made them laugh out loud.

However, the instant their laughter rang out, a soft sound was suddenly heard somewhere.

Immediately, everyone fell silent.

The sneers on their faces disappeared.

Just as they reached the door, the killing machines, who had no sense of pain, stopped. One of them subconsciously touched his forehead. It felt like he had just been bitten by a mosquito.

There was a stinging sensation on his forehead.

In addition, there seemed to be some sticky liquid stuck on his forehead.

He wiped it off and looked at his palm. It had been stained red.

It was only then that he noticed his vision blurred.

Amidst his puzzled thoughts, he suddenly lost all strength and fell onto the floor, convulsing violently.

He tried climbing to his feet, but his legs weren't listening to him. His eyelids felt heavy and his vision was shaky. Seconds later, he stopped moving.

It happened all of a sudden!

The other killing machines were startled!

A pool of blood had formed from the forehead of the man on the ground.

He was dead!

The pungent smell of blood filled the entire hall.

The coppery smell hung in the air, reminding everyone of their imminent death.

"What the f*ck! Someone is shooting at us!" Someone roared angrily and broke the silence!

Bang!

He had barely managed to shout out loud.

The strange sound was heard again. This time, everyone heard it clearly. It was the sound of someone pulling a trigger!

With that, a bullet whizzed past everyone.

It landed right in the middle of the man's eyebrows. It was a clean shot.

The man touched his wound in a daze. He could feel his vision stained red. It hurt!

What the hell was going on!

"Ahh! I'm shot! I'm..."

This person screamed in fear. He staggered and fell in a puddle of his own blood. Despite his struggling, he eventually fell silent and stopped moving.

"What the f*ck! It's a sniper!"

Seth was furious. He immediately shouted for everyone to take cover.

The Oatker family members no longer looked happy. They were all frightened out of their wits.

This was their house! Realistically speaking, it should be the safest place for them!

However, a sniper had managed to sneak past their bodyguards and enter their premises!

Were their guards all dead?

What the hell was going on?

"Take cover! Take cover!" Seth roared angrily!

Bang!

Another bullet flew over.

However, the shots missed.

Seth sneered and bellowed loudly, "Who on earth are you?"

No one answered him.

Instead, the reply came in the form of the sound of a trigger being pulled.

With that, another bullet was fired.

This time, it landed right in the head of one of the killing machines who were protecting the Oatker family members.

It took only one shot.

Instantly, the man's head was blown to bits!

Earl was outraged. Who had the guts to waltz into his house and slaughter his family?

Who was it?

"Who the hell are you? Guards! Where are you? Are you all dead?!" Earl's voice was deafening as he roared for backup.

"Ahh!!"

Just then, a torturing scream was heard from outside the premises.

Everyone was once again shocked!

That was because the person screaming was the Oatker family's head of security!

He was actually crying out in pain and misery. Was he dead?

Since the head of security was dead, did this mean that the rest of them were all silenced already?

How could this be possible?!

Everyone was dumbfounded!

Seth cursed, "F*ck, show yourself! I'll skin you alive!"

He was enraged. This was unforgivable!

The silence was his answer, and the sound of bullets flying through the air continued...

Soon, a minute had passed. A total of five killing machines had been shot cleanly through the head.

They were the pride and achievement of the Oatker family. They had spent billions on each of them!

But now, they were actually killed by a mere bullet?

"Who the hell are you?" Earl looked around and yelled at the top of his lungs.

"Don't you already know who I am?"

This time, a faint voice replied to him from outside.

"Karen... You are Karen Lee!"

Earl immediately recognized this voice. He was utterly stunned.

The remaining survivors from the Oatker family were shocked as well. They could only gasp in disbelief.

No one expected Karen to walk into their mansion so willingly and start her killing spree. After all, they were just about to unleash the ultimate slaughtering machines on her!

Seth was also startled.

Karen had amazing aim!

However, she was digging her own grave.

"Are you trying to die?" Earl roared.

"No, it's you who's looking for death. The bomb from last night made you panic, am I right? I'm here to help you all destress and stop panicking. Do you know what you need to do? It's easy! Just take my bullets! Once you stop breathing, you won't have to think about anything anymore."

That was right!

Karen was the one who had sneaked into their mansion.

No one could compare to her assassination skills!

She only needed a couple more seconds to blend into the crowd and enter the mansion undetected.

"Kill Karen Lee! She is outside. Kill her for me! Whoever manages to kill her, I will give them 10 billion dollars!!" Earl bellowed!

His voice was hoarse from the rage.

Upon hearing this, Seth was excited. 10 billion dollars?

Hah! This was easy money!

He grabbed a sniping rifle and headed outside, planning to duel Karen.

However, that smile of his soon turned into a frown. Karen was just too good at hiding!

Bang!

The sound of a bullet being released was once again heard. Almost immediately, someone was shot and fell silent.

A minute passed, but Seth had not found Karen's hiding spot yet. The three killing machines that had come with him were already dead!

He was enraged.

"D*mn it! Come out and fight me, Karen Lee! I'll skin you if I find you!"

If this went out, Karen's spectacular marksmanship would guarantee the death of all the killing machines. Despite having no sense of pain, they were still going to die if they took a bullet to the brain.

Seth tried forcing Karen to show herself, but the sound of a trigger being pulled was once again heard...

Chapter 668

The sound of a trigger being pulled was heard.

From an unknown direction, a spark emerged and disappeared in the blink of an eye.

A bullet was fired.

It whizzed past the bushes.

The silence in the air was cut through.

It buried itself in Seth's body almost instantaneously.

What?

Seth couldn't believe it. The blood was dripping from his shoulder and he didn't feel any pain. However, Karen actually managed to land a hit on him!

"Die, Karen Lee!" Seth was anxious to look for cover.

All of a sudden.

The sound of the trigger was heard again.

Bullets pierced the air.

Seth, who was hiding, was startled and immediately sneered. It seems that he had overestimated her. Her previous shot on him was mostly just a lucky shot.

However.

He was stupefied because...

One of the men hiding beside him touched his bleeding head. A look of horror appeared on his face before he fell in a pool of crimson blood, convulsing and slowly falling silent.

Seth was astonished. It was only then that he started to feel afraid.

"I'm keeping you alive. It's not your own will nor a show of your strength. I just want you to witness the people around you die one by one."

Karen's voice could be heard softly and gently.

The members of the Oatker family were finally panicking.

How on earth did Karen manage to do this?

How did she get in?

More importantly, how did she manage to kill one person with each shot?

It was as if she was a death god!

Seth was trembling and could only stammer, "Karen, y-you..."

Bang!

Every sound of bullets whirring in the air were announcements of someone's fearful death.

Seth was bewildered. He watched as his fellow companions dropped dead to the ground.

He had suffered so much and had his whole body remade just so he could become stronger and lose his sense of pain. However, what was the use of that?

In the end, he couldn't even resist a single bullet.

The whole Oatker family had fallen into fear. A lot of people were already dead!

Boom!

Just when Seth was at a loss, he was shot. Out of fear, he tried to dodge the bullet and it hit his hand. With a loud thud, his gun fell onto the ground.

Immediately after that, someone broke down the front door.

A group of men dressed in black marched in. All of them were expressionless and well-trained.

At the very front of the pack was a woman. It was none other than Karen Lee!

"Oh no!"

Everyone was instantly filled with terror.

They were swiftly surrounded by Karen's men.

Everyone was scared. They were held at gunpoint and started begging for mercy on the ground.

Meanwhile, Earl was dumbfounded. Was he dreaming?

Just half an hour ago, things were going great for him. He could already picture Karen's death at his hands. Yet, the tables had turned on him...

He sat helplessly in his chair, his gaze blank and devoid of hope. Fear had already crept onto his expression silently.

At that moment, he regretted what he did to Karen.

He swore he did. Why did he underestimate Karen's strength in the first place?

He should've never become an enemy to Karen.

"Please spare me! I beg you! I promise I will follow you!" Seth begged as he fell to his knees.

He was once a killing machine that could make the Oatker family proud. Yet, none of his fleets could take on Karen's remarkable marksmanship. Now, he was the only one left.

It was utterly terrifying!!

"The reason why I kept you alive until now is not so you can beg me for mercy. Instead, you're the last one left only so I can make you understand that I'm capable of killing you!" Karen glanced at him coldly.

Seth's eyes widened as he begged, "Don't kill..."

He couldn't even finish his words. He could only watch as Karen shot a bullet right through his brain.

It stung!

It was a feeling that he hadn't felt in a long time. It was painful...

"I-I..." Seth fell face down onto the ground.

He was extremely regretful. All his previous sufferings were useless...

The entire Oatker family was frightened.

Trembling, Earl begged, "Karen, I've lost..."

"Yes, you've lost. Oh, I almost forgot to tell you. You'll be losing your life as well!"

With a wave of her hand, someone immediately walked over and shot him. Earl groaned in agony and disbelief before he slowly fell to the ground. Crimson blood stained the carpets of the hall.

Once again, the metallic smell of blood wafted through the air.

"Ahh!"

The remaining descendants of the Oatker family were terrified. They could do nothing but stare at Karen, hoping that she would not take their lives.

"Betty, take over the Oatker family!" Karen ordered.

"Yes, President Lee," Betty began to do so right away.

The Oatker family was one of the Four Greatest Households. It was a troublesome matter to take over the whole family, but this was not an obstacle for Betty.

Karen narrowed her eyes and glared at those who wanted to kill her and Chuck just now. These people...

The restless night finally ushered in the sunrise.

It was daybreak.

The other families had discovered something. The Oatker family seemed to have disappeared overnight. What was going on?

Were they eradicated in just one night?

That was impossible!

A few days ago, the Oatker family was just in the middle of battling Karen. In the morning, someone had even blown up one of their bases in a flashy fireworks show. How could they have disappeared overnight?

No one could imagine this happening!

Meanwhile, at the Lawrence family.

Sophia was sitting in the room absent-mindedly. She had no thoughts of going out, and suddenly felt that the room was too empty. No one apart from her was here. If only someone was with her, like a man.

At that thought, someone immediately appeared in her mind. He was a foreigner and his name was Chuck...

"Mom, mom..." Just then, Elise rushed in.

Upon noticing her daughter entering the room, Sophia tried to calm herself down. She asked, "Elise, what's wrong with you?"

"My friend told me that all businesses belonging to the Oatker family have been taken over within one night!" When Elise heard this news, she was shocked beyond belief.

What on earth had happened the night before?

Sophia was startled and muttered to herself, "Karen really moves quickly. Last night, she actually managed to exterminate the Oatker family..."

"What? The Oatker family was destroyed by Chuck's mother? Oh my god!" Elise widened her eyes in disbelief.

Both the Lawrence family and the Oatker family belonged to the Four Greatest Households. If Karen managed to wipe out the Oatker family, wouldn't that mean she possessed the ability to wipe out the Lawrence family as well?

"Yes, she was the one who did it," Sophia had an incredulous expression as well. It was difficult to believe that this was done in one night, but the truth was already presented right in front of them.

"Is Karen really that powerful? Mom, will she attack our family?" Elise was worried.

Previously, Karen already managed to destroy several of her family's bases in one night. She was already dumbfounded by that.

If Karen took it seriously, her family would not last long. Most of all, Karen's ability was horrendous. She could freely sneak in and out of strictly guarded areas.

Since the Oatker family members were all killed, didn't that mean that the family was done for?!

"No, he... He won't allow his mother, Karen, to deal with us," Sophia muttered to herself.

She believed in Chuck. She was thinking of the possibility. If Chuck decided one day that he wanted to take over the Lawrence family, would she allow him to do so?

Sophia fell into a reverie.

Elise, on the other hand, was in a state of shock.

"What did you say?"

Upon hearing the news, Elijah Lee widened his eyes in astonishment.

The Lee family received news that the Oatker family had halted all actions. The morning seemed abnormally peaceful and quiet. Furthermore, all the properties belonging to the Oatker family had been transferred...

Who else could do this apart from Karen, who was currently engaging in a fight with the Oatker family?

"Karen has taken over the Oatker family!" The Lee family members were trembling in fear.

This was simply incredible!

They had assumed Karen to fail miserably right after leaving the Lee family back then. It was out of their expectations that she could actually take over the Oatker family. What could this mean?

This meant that previously, she had the ability to eradicate and take over the Lee family as well!

However, she chose not to do so.

Everyone broke out in cold sweat after realizing this. Their hearts thumped loudly.

She was really terrifying.

Elijah took a while to come back to his senses. He muttered to himself, "This is my daughter!"

A hint of pride appeared on his face.

Everyone across the United States was astonished upon receiving such news. From that day onwards, the Oatker family had vanished. In other words, the Four Greatest Households had become the Three Greatest Households. Meanwhile, Karen had risen to fame after being widely known since the past decade for her successful business empire. In fact, everyone was now aware that she possessed strength greater than the Three Greatest Households!

Everyone was dumbfounded.

Meanwhile, the Yeager family members were snickering.

The disappearance of the Oatker family was nothing more than a tiny piece of news for a hidden family like them. It only piqued their interest slightly.

They found the Oatker family to be nothing more than a dispensable family. Their entire assets weren't even comparable to their own family's annual income. Even if they destroyed this small family, what would be the point?

Loomis laughed sinisterly, "Not bad, Karen Lee! You've managed to eradicate the Oatker family in one night! You're probably trying to expand your influence, but I won't let you!"

Chapter 669

Chuck was dumbfounded when he learned that the issue with the Oatkers had already been settled last night. His mother was really swift!

However, he was not surprised.

Previously, Chuck had already witnessed his mother fighting against the strongest bodyguard of the Yeager family. She managed to punch him and force him to his feet!

With Karen's strength and her accurate shooting skills, he already knew his mother was going to succeed. Why should he be surprised that she managed to sneak an attack on the Oatkers?

The only thing that Chuck didn't understand now was just how powerful his mother was.

After all, he had only started learning combat skills for half a year. However, he had already become a combat expert after training directly under Karen.

This was truly horrifying.

If his mother were to teach him for a few more years, would it be possible for him to become the world's top combat master?

Thinking of this, Chuck grew excited.

He was anticipating the day when he would truly become as strong as his mother!

When Yvette heard the news, she was shocked. There were mixed feelings in her heart.

Karen was too strong. How could Yvette ever surpass her?

Was she destined to be inferior when compared to Karen?

Yvette was agonizing over her thoughts.

She was caught between a rock and a hard place. On one hand, there was Chuck, the person she liked; on the other was Karen, Chuck's mother.

If it wasn't because Chuck was here, Yvette would have left long ago.

Instead, she would've found somewhere to continuously train and improve herself!

However, she was worried about Chuck, so she was hesitating.

Regardless, Yvette realized that now that she was in a dilemma. She could only fall asleep in Chuck's arms at night...

While Yvette was tied up in her thoughts, Chuck decided to ask his mother personally about this matter.

Before he did that, he also visited Willa. Willa was recovering very well because she knew what she had to face next.

She wanted to fight side by side with Chuck!

She didn't want to drag him down.

Seeing that Willa was looking better, Chuck was glad. After chatting for a while, he went off to find Karen.

Soon, he found her.

After consulting with Karen, she imparted some other combat skills to him.

Then, Chuck immediately went to the training room to start practicing. He was so excited.

Seeing Chuck's efforts, Karen felt at ease. After all, she was old now. Everything she had would belong to Chuck in the future.

Hence, he needed to be physically fit to properly manage what she had.

Karen was trying to raise him.

And Chuck was trying his best...

"Betty, is there any news about the Yeager family?" Karen instinctively realized that the Yeager family was about to make their move.

A battle was about to break out.

However, she was finally freed up. After all, she had dealt with the Oatker family and left the other three families cowering in fear of her ability.

She wouldn't touch the Lee family.

As for the Lawrence family, she would let them go. After all, Sophia and Chuck had just started working together.

As for the last family, Karen said nothing about them. However, a gleam flashed in her eyes. That'd had to wait.

For now, her priority was to deal with the Yeager family!

"Nothing has happened for the time being!" Betty had been paying close attention to them.

After all, the hidden families had existed thousands of years ago. Their strength was not to be underestimated!

Betty was taught by Karen not to downplay the threats their opponents had.

"For the time being? I have a feeling that the Yeager family is going to make a move..." Karen's eyes narrowed.

"Yes, I'll keep a close eye on them," Betty nodded.

Just then, Karen's cell phone rang. It was a call from Black Rose.

Karen paused. She quickly answered the call.

"I-I lost Chuck," Black Rose was stuttering. She had followed Chuck out, but a car had suddenly stopped her!

By the time she broke through, Chuck was nowhere to be seen!

She couldn't get through to Chuck's phone either.

This was already the third time this happened. Black Rose was so ashamed that she was doubting her abilities.

Karen's expression fell. When she was about to speak, she suddenly received a text message.

She took a look at it and was shocked.

Then, relief surged through her as she said, "He went to see his father. You can stay there and wait for him. He will come to find you soon!"

"Alright."

After the call was hung up, Betty asked anxiously, "Did something happen to the young master?"

"I'm not sure, but he should be fine. Chadrick said that he wanted to meet with Chucky," Karen replied with a glint in her eyes.

"But isn't he..." Betty immediately fell into shock.

"I know, so I will go and have a look myself," Karen couldn't stand it.

After all, Chuck had been spied on twice. After investigation, it turned out that Chadrick was the one who gave the order.

Karen was sure of this. Now that Chadrick suddenly requested to meet Chuck, she was worried.

"I'm going too," Betty piped up.

Upon hearing her words, Karen paused and looked at Betty with a strange expression. She felt that Betty's excessive worry was out of place, but she couldn't really confirm it herself.

Maybe she was just mistaken.

Betty lowered her head when she saw Karen's expression. She then said, "Then I'll stay here."

"It's fine either way," With that, Karen walked out.

Betty hesitated for a few seconds before following her out.

On the other hand.

Black Rose heaved a sigh of relief and hung up the phone. She muttered angrily, "Chuck, you b*stard. You scared me again! Just go to hell!"

She was annoyed.

After venting her anger, she resumed her expressionless face as she continued to be on the watch.

She was waiting for Chuck to appear in front of her again.

Black Rose herself was oblivious to the fact that apart from anger, there was also a tinge of worry evident on her face.

Furthermore, it seemed that she was even looking forward to Chuck's return...

Chuck had wanted to meet with Alexandrina to thank her. However, he received a phone call on the way.

He felt extremely puzzled as he had not seen this number before. The voice in the phone sounded strange, but he felt that it was somewhat familiar.

He then realized that it was his father's voice.

Chadrick Cannon.

Of course, he was happy. He should have been able to meet his father previously, but he had been overcome with worry about Willa. Thus, he missed the opportunity to meet him. After the incident about Willa, Chuck did ask his mother where his father went.

Karen only told him that Chadrick had some errands to run and had left.

At that time, Chuck felt that it was a pity.

Now that Chadrick had taken the initiative to ask Chuck out for a meeting, he grew nervous!

Soon, he arrived at the place.

It was a small dwelling on a mountain that looked pretty ordinary.

Chuck thought that he had come to the wrong place.

When he got out of the car and saw a man on the balcony, Chuck immediately felt excited. They were strangers, but when Chuck saw him, he was overcome with a sense of familiarity.

"Dad..." Chuck was close to tears.

Chadrick smiled lightly and said, "Come and sit down."

Chuck walked over.

He didn't understand why his father was living here.

It was as if he was living in seclusion.

Chuck sat down and asked, "Dad, what have you been up to recently?"

Chuck really wanted to see him, but he could only bury this desire deep in his heart.

One phone call from his mother back then had given Chuck hope. Ever since then, he had always been curious as to what his father was like.

Now that they were sitting face to face, Chadrick was slightly different from expected, but that was fine.

"I... had some things to do. However, I do know that you have been involved with Adriana of the Whitlock family," Chadrick stated bluntly.

"Yes, you're right," His mother must have told him about it!

"What do you think of Adriana?"

"She's really beautiful, but she's so manipulative. I hate her," To be honest, Chuck really regretted saving her back then.

She would've been fine even if he didn't save her. More importantly, if he hadn't saved her, he wouldn't have needed to meet her at all!

"Hate her?" Chadrick shook his head. "Someone like her needs to be changed, do you understand?"

Chuck shook his head and refused, "I don't want to see her again."

"No, you can't," Chadrick stood up with a serious expression on his face. He looked as if he was hesitating to tell his son something.

"Why? She is a member of the hidden family, and I know she's ranked pretty highly in her family, so...."

"You're right. She holds a high position in the Whitlock family. In fact, she's going to be the next head of the family!" Chadrick revealed slowly.

There were countless descendants in the Whitlock family. However, Adriana had managed to stand out amongst all of them. It was something that she had earned by herself.

Only Chadrick knew just how frightening Adriana was. Chuck was oblivious to that, and maybe even Karen was clueless as well.

The Whitlock family was truly the number one family in the entire world!

It was hard for a woman to become the head of such a family.

"What?" Chuck paused. He had never heard about this from his mother, but he was aware that Adriana was powerful!

He would acknowledge if others were more powerful than him. At the same time, he would work hard to surpass them!

"Yes, if you get together with her, you will acquire the Whitlock family. Do you understand?" Chadrick explained.

"What are you talking about, Dad?" Chuck asked, perplexed.

"Adriana likes you, so I think you can try being with her to control the Whitlock family!" Chadrick stated.

Chuck was taken aback. What did his father just say? Was he supposed to abandon Yvette and be with Adriana instead?

How could this be possible? Chuck would never do such a thing!

He had already let Yvette down twice. How could he do such a thing again?
