

Chapter 1301 No One Can Resist Our Master

In the afternoon, Penny and Frida walked out of the Cross Group headquarters because Penny had just received a call from Nathan. He said that he would be there to pick her up from work so they could go have lunch together.

They had just reached the entrance when a black Maybach and two black Mercedes-Benz stopped in front of them.

Penny was a little surprised. When did Nathan get a new car?

That was when a burly man wearing a black leather jacket got out of one car with eight of his subordinates close by.

He was Lupin, one of the best fighters working for Gary Jordan.

Penny was stunned when she saw Lupin and his men. She had only just realized she had made a mistake, and that wasn't Nathan's car.

Frida had her guard up when she sensed these men had ill intentions.

Chapter 1301 No One Can Resist Our Master

Lupin and his eight subordinates walked up to Penny.

His lips curved up before he gestured for her to get into his car. "Hello, Ms. Smith. I am Lupin, the subordinate of the seventh son of the Jordan family. My master would like to invite you to a party. Please get in the car."

Penny frowned. "Sorry, but I don't know who your master is and I am definitely not interested in attending his party. Please leave."

Lupin replied, "You may not know about my master, Ms. Smith, but I'm sure you've heard of the Jordans of Brimmopolis."

The Jordan family from Brimmopolis!

Penny and Frida couldn't help but show their astonishment on their faces.

The Jordans of Brimmopolis were more powerful than most of the elites. That was especially true before the head of the family, Old Master Jordan, retired about a decade earlier. He showed up on the news all the time.

Old Master Jordan had since retired, but his disciples had spread all over the country. The Jordans remained powerful even to that day because the Jordan family's disciples were many and were everywhere.

Lupin was secretly happy to see the surprise in Penny's and Frida's eyes.

He gestured once more. "Ms. Smith, my master is waiting. Please, get in the car."

Penny regained her composure then, and she rejected politely, "Sorry, but I have plans to have lunch with my husband, so I can't go to that party. Please apologize to your master on my behalf."

Lupin stared at the sexy Penny and scoffed, "I'm afraid that won't do. No One has ever rejected my master. Besides, if you'd like to apologize to him, you should do so in person."

Chapter 1301 No One Can Resist Our Master

Penny and Frida both looked surprised when they heard what Lupin said.

Penny was obviously just being polite when she asked Lupin to apologize on her behalf.

He actually thought that was a sin and expected her to apologize to his master in person!

Moreover, his words made Penny uncomfortable. The party was obviously a ruse to get Penny there.

Penny's beautiful face turned hostile, and she insisted, "Like I said, I am having lunch with my husband. I am too busy to go to the party."

Lupin scoffed, "It's not up to you."

Frida couldn't hold her anger in and shouted, "What the hell is wrong with you people? Are you deaf? She said she's not going! Get your butts out of here right away."

Chapter 1301 No One Can Resist Our Master

Lupin could tell that Frida was Penny's bodyguard, so he instructed cruelly, "Teach this woman a lesson, boys."

"Understood!"

Two tall and muscular men attacked Frida simultaneously.

Frida didn't hold back and fought back.

Bang! Smack!

Frida knocked the two subordinates out quickly.

Lupin was surprised. "Huh. Who would've thought that you are a pretty good fighter too? Well, then let me teach you a lesson personally."

After saying his piece, Lupin moved as quickly as lightning to attack Frida.

Chapter 1302 Would You Believe I Would Even Kill You

Frida growled and battled against Lupin.

Unfortunately, he was one of Gary's best fighters and had been in the military before. Lupin even once served under Old Master Jordan; his strength was one to be reckoned with.

It didn't take Lupin long to force Frida to back away and put her at a disadvantage.

His punches broke through Frida's defenses and got her chest wide open.

He was as quick as lightning when he kicked Frida's chest. "You're done for, bitch!"

That kick was as heavy as a horse stampeding over the grass and as fast as the wind that turned the turbines.

Frida couldn't block it. She felt embarrassed and angry, but mostly, she felt a sense of hopelessness. She thought everything was done for.

However, a tall figure showed up beside her suddenly.

It was none other than Nathan.

He reached out and grabbed Lupin's ankle with one hand. He was so strong that he stopped Lupin short and prevented him from hurting Frida.

She blurted in excitement, "Mr. Cross!"

Penny was also delighted to see Nathan there. "Hubby!"

Turned out, Nathan and Colin had already reached their destination when Lupin and Frida had just started their battle.

However, everyone had their eyes on the battle, so no one noticed the new arrivals.

Nathan saw Frida was losing, so he stepped up.

Lupin was both surprised and angry to have his ankle locked in by Nathan. The former howled, "Who the hell are you, punk? Are you sick of living?"

Chapter 1302 Would You Believe I Would Even Kill You

After saying his piece, Lupin jumped and flung his other leg at Nathan's face.

However, his leg never even got close.

Nathan had already flung his arm.

Bang!

Lupin was over 160 pounds, but Nathan still tossed him like he was nothing.

Lupin flew right out and smashed into the Maybach's window. That caused a spiderweb-like crack to show up on the window.

"Mr. Lupin!"

"Mr. Lupin, are you alright?"

Lupin's subordinates hurried over to help him up, but he pushed them away and stood up on his own.

He wiped the blood off of his lips with the back of his hand. He glared in fury and surprise. "You're Nathan Cross? How dare you hurt me? I am with the Jordan family!”

Nathan replied coolly, “That’s not all I can do. Would you believe I will kill you?”

Lupin was so angry that he ended up laughing aloud. “Kill me? I’d murder you before you even get the chance!”

After roaring his threat, Lupin dashed like a tiger and tackled Nathan. His right hand was like a claw, aiming for Nathan’s heart.

Lupin had been learning martial arts ever since he was a kid, and he had trained for years in the military. As such, his skills were brilliant.

He could literally claw another man’s heart right out of his chest.

Nathan lifted his hand and grabbed Lupin’s wrist in one swift move.

The latter’s eyes bulged as he stared in disbelief.

Nathan had broken Lupin's wrist at the next second!

He screamed in agony, but his screams didn't last.

Bang!

His fist landed on Lupin's face like a hammer.

It crushed Lupin's bones and distorted his face, which stopped the screams.

The man fell as if he was a tree that had just been chopped down.

Everyone was stunned.

Lupin's subordinates, in particular, were utterly terrified.

He was a strong fighter, but even he was no match against Nathan. Hell, the latter was so strong that he killed Lupin with one punch! This guy is too powerful.

Chapter 1303 That Is Nathan Cross

After dealing with Lupin, Nathan turned to Penny and Frida. “Are you girls alright?”

Frida was a little embarrassed because she lost the fight against Lupin, but she said, “I’m fine.”

Penny added, “I’m fine, too. I don’t know what we did to have offended the Jordans from Brimmopolis, though. Hubby, you killed one of their subordinates. Will we be okay?”

Nathan and Penny brought Colin and Frida along for lunch. They drove to the Red Sparrow Hotel and went to the restaurant on the second floor.

The married couple sat and placed their orders while Colin and Frida sat some distance away so they wouldn’t disrupt their date.

It just so happened that Gary, Hagrid Potter, and the others were having the party on the eighth floor at the same hotel.

At that moment.

Gary was yelling at his subordinates.
“What did you say? You didn’t take Penny Smith to me and Nathan Cross killed Lupin?”

The subordinates were under a lot of pressure because Gary, Hagrid, and a bunch of other spoiled heirs were staring.

The men who had fled from Nathan had their heads down as they replied softly,
“Yes, sir. Nathan killed Lupin and asked us to deliver a message for you.”

Gary looked furious. “What is the message?”

One subordinate had his head down, and his voice was trembling when he answered, “Nathan said that you have infuriated him, so you are dead.”

Gary’s eyes burned with fury. He grabbed his wine glass and downed his drink before smashing it onto the floor. The shards flew everywhere.

He growled, “He wants to kill me? Hah! I will murder him before that!”

Someone spoke up upon hearing that. “We sent Lupin’s body to the morgue before we returned. When we came back, we saw Nathan Cross and Penny Smith having lunch on the second floor.”

Gary’s eyes bulged. “They’re on the second floor right now? Hah, now that is convenient!”

“Tiger, Bear, get a few men with you and follow me to the second floor. We’re going to have a long chat with Nathan Cross.”

Two tall, muscular men immediately showed up in front of Gary. “Understood, sir.”

Gary, Tiger, Bear and a bunch of his subordinates readied themselves to meet with Nathan. Hagrid and the other spoiled, rich kids wanted to follow along to watch

However, before anyone did anything, a tall man with starry eyes walked into their room with a burly subordinate by his side.

The starry-eyed, tall man was none other than Nathan.

Gary stared at him in astonishment. “Who the hell are you two?”

When Hagrid saw Nathan, the former went pale. “That’s the guy! That’s Nathan Cross!”

Nathan Cross!

This asshole broke Hagrid’s right hand and killed Lupin.

The expressions on Gary and the others changed instantly when they realized it was Nathan.

“I heard you boys are looking for me, so I thought I’d drop by.”

Gary regained his composure quickly. He sneered, “Hah! You dare to show up here after offending me. Honestly, are you fearless or just an idiot?”

Nathan glared at him. “You have utterly infuriated me. Normally, I would have already killed you by now. However, Old Master Jordan and I are old acquaintances. Out of courtesy to your grandfather, my initial offer to you still stands. You, Hagrid, and all others are to kneel before Clair’s tomb and beg for forgiveness. After that, you are to confess your sins to the police. Do all that, and I will let you live.”

There was a dead silence in the room.

Even Gary couldn't help but breathe in deeply. He wasn't afraid, though. He acted that way because Nathan's ability to lie through his teeth astonished him.

"Hahahaha..."

Gary laughed so hard that he bent down as he pointed at Nathan. "You've met my grandpa before? And you're letting me live out of courtesy to him? You're not old enough to have known him. Yet, you lie about meeting my grandpa. My gosh. I am truly impressed, dude. You can lie fluently and without shame."

The spectators couldn't help but laugh at Nathan, too.

It was true that Old Master Jordan used to be one of the most powerful men in the military.

He remained as a head politician and an influence to the East faction after his retirement. Many still turned to him for their instructions.

Even to this day, Old Master Jordan held an important position within the nation.

Nathan looked like he was only in his twenties, so it was unlikely that a man that young could've met Old Master Jordan. Moreover, Nathan sounded like he was an equal to the legendary Old Master Jordan.

Everyone scoffed at Nathan. Who the hell do you think you are? As if you are worthy of being Old Master Jordan's opponent or equal?

He ignored Gary and his friends' mockery. He simply stared coolly at Gary and Hagrid before saying, "Looks like you're not going to accept my offer."

Hagrid glared at Nathan and spoke through gritted teeth. "This is not about what you are offering us. This is about Gary not showing you any mercy. You are at your deathbed, punk, and you're still acting so arrogantly."

Chapter 1304 The Head Of The East Faction

Gary got a white handkerchief out of his pocket and cleaned his lips gracefully. Then he scoffed, "Tiger, Bear, get rid of him."

"Understood," replied Tiger and Bear simultaneously. Both men were muscular.

The two men grinned evilly and went after Nathan.

Gary stared at the latter before putting on a skin-deep grin. "Don't worry, punk. I will take care of your wife and daughter after you die. Hahaha."

Colin stepped forward to block Tiger's and Bear's path. "You'll have to get through me first if you want to get to my master."

Tiger roared, "Then you will die before he does!"

He threw a punch at Colin as soon as he was finished speaking.

The latter threw a punch too.

Bear had already gotten close to Colin by then, and he kicked the captain. "Go to hell!"

Colin scoffed and countered with a kick of his own.

Bang!

Both men's legs hit each other.

Colin remained cool, whereas Bear grimaced in pain. He fell back a few steps. "This man is stronger than I am."

Tiger and Bear turned to one another before saying simultaneously, "Let's team up."

Colin realized they were quite strong, so he didn't let his guard down. He had a serious face on as he monitored the situation.

Unfortunately, he didn't know that Tiger and Bear were tricking him.

They lied about teaming up against Colin. Instead, they were going to ambush Nathan.

Just as the two men were closing in on Colin, they turned and sped toward Nathan like murderous beasts.

One of them howled, "Die, you punk!"

Gary and the others became excited. Their blood boiled with glee as they exclaimed, "Hell, yeah!"

However, their cheers were short-lived because Nathan attacked.

He moved quickly and landed a merciless punch on Tiger's face.

Crack!

The sound of bones crushing rang up and Tiger fell as his blood splattered everywhere.

When Nathan moved to punch Tiger, he also avoided Bear's grip that was meant to lock him in place.

The second he got away, he turned around and kicked Bear with an incredible force.

Bang!

Nathan's kick landed on Bear's jaw and crushed it.

Bear fell like heavy lead.

It only took Nathan a second to defeat Tiger and Bear, who were both powerful fighters.

Gary and the others stopped cheering.

The place turned eerily quiet. Everybody's jaw dropped as they stared at Nathan in disbelief. A hint of fear shone in their eyes.

Chapter 1305 Who Hurt The Seventh Master

Gary's jaw dropped in astonishment.

He was surprised when he heard about how Nathan had killed Lupin, but he hadn't seen the battle with his own eyes.

Tiger and Bear used to serve under his grandpa. After they left the military, they were assigned to keep Gary safe.

He was offensive and got in tons of fights with others. However, both men always solved the issues instantly.

Gary never dreamed that both of his chief bodyguards would die by Nathan's hand.

After killing Tiger and Bear, Nathan walked menacingly toward Gary. "I wanted to be respectful to Old Master Jordan and let you live, but you ignored my offer."

Gary suddenly felt an inexplicable fear when he looked into Nathan's vicious gaze.

right now.”

Gary stared as Nathan approached him. Gary’s voice sounded threatening when he said, “Let me remind you that I am a member of the Jordan family. If you hurt me, your entire family will pay the price!”

“Is that so?” scoffed Nathan. “Get on your knees!”

He put his hand on Gary’s shoulder and pushed ever so slightly.

Gary, however, felt as though a mountain had crushed him. He fumbled and fell hard on his knees.

It hurt so much that tears rolled down his eyes.

Chapter 1305 Who Hurt The Seventh Master

Despite all that, Gary was still from a powerful family. He might be a spoiled and worthless man, but he was as prideful as his grandpa.

He gritted his teeth and insisted, "I dare you to kill me, Nathan Cross. My brother, Lucius, will avenge me. I guarantee your entire family will die a horrible death."

Nathan had hurt him. However, in Gary's furious state, the first thought that came to his mind wasn't that his grandpa would avenge his death. He thought of his brother, Lucius, instead.

The reason behind it was simple.

His grandpa was more rational and was the head of the Jordan family. As such, Old Master Jordan had always seen the bigger picture and put the family business first.

Moreover, Gary was just the seventh grandson, so his grandpa did not treasure him.

Hence, the old man would choose to protect his own reputation.

Chapter 1305 Who Hurt The Seventh Master

Gary's brother, Lucius, was a different story.

Lucius had always been barbaric and unreasonable.

Moreover, the two brothers were close. Lucius had always cleaned up Gary's mess.

That was why he threatened Nathan with Lucius, who was the next big thing of the Jordans and a rising star in the military.

Because of his family background and connections, many thought Lucius would have a distinguished career in the military and surpassed Nathan, who came from an ordinary family.

There were people who even went as far as calling Lucius the future of the military.

Naturally, Nathan had heard about Old Master Jordan's incredible grandson, but he remained unfazed. "I don't care if Lucius is here. Heck, I don't even give a shit if Old Master Jordan is standing right in front of me. No one can save you from your sins!"

Chapter 1305 Who Hurt The Seventh Master

Gary and the others were stunned to hear that. They never thought anyone would disregard the Jordan family like that.

"Do you have any last words?"

Gary's face turned pale, and he trembled in fear.

Hagrid and the others were stunned too. Nathan is actually going to kill Gary?

At that moment, a loud voice rang up from the other side of the door. "Who hurt the Seventh Master?"

Nathan frowned. Everyone in the room turned their attention toward the door.

They saw a few men marched in.

Chapter 1306 | Command You To Kill Him Immediately

Gary was on his knees when he saw the burly man. Like a drowning man who had just gotten ahold of a floating plank, he exclaimed, "Makino, save me! This punk wants to kill me."

Makino was Lucius' right-hand man.

The Jordans took him in as an orphan. Ever since he was a kid, he was trained to master different killing and combat techniques. He later got assigned to the eldest grandson, Lucius, and became the latter's right-hand man.

Makino's strength was terrifying, and he was nicknamed the Walking Tank.

Without showing much emotion, he scanned the surroundings before his gaze landed on Gary. Makino frowned ever so slightly.

Makino frowned slightly.

He stared at Nathan and said, “You're the one who remains stubborn, so don't blame me for what happens.”

After that, Makino walked toward Nathan.

He moved slowly. However, all anyone saw was his body shifting, and he was suddenly standing in front of Nathan.

He later used seventy percent of his strength to punch Nathan's chest, who avoided it again without breaking into a sweat.

Makino's eyes bulged, and his gaze shone with surprise.

He no longer looked down on his opponent and turned serious, attacking Nathan with everything he had.

Makino was trained as an assassin ever since he was a kid, and he served under the military. His combat style was simple and aggressive. Every technique he used was aimed to kill, and the success of those techniques depended on his strength and speed.

That punch was incredible.

Nathan had been playing defense because he wanted to learn just how powerful an expert from the Jordan family was. He was done observing by then and he threw his punch too.

That was the first move Nathan made in his battle against Makino.

He couldn't accept the truth and kept shaking his head. "It's not possible. It's not possible! A man who could defeat me with one punch couldn't possibly be a nobody," Makino murmured to himself as he tried to guess Nathan's identity.

Given Nathan's combat style, Makino suspected the man was from the military.

Makino ran through a list of powerful names in his mind.

phone kept ringing.

It was as if Old Master Jordan and Nathan were having a silent mental battle.

Just before the phone was about to be hung up, Old Master Jordan instructed, "Pick it up."

The butler quickly pressed the accept button and handed the mobile phone to him.

Old Master Jordan's expression was dark a moment ago, but he turned kind and his tone was soft when he picked up the phone. "General! I was just about to call you. Who would've thought that you'd call me first?"

Nathan cut to the chase. "I know you will demand an answer, so I thought I'd clarify beforehand."

Old Master Jordan immediately said, "General, there's no need for that. I have learned all about what my unfilial grandson, Gary did. That boy really is too much. It is his own fault that he died by your hand.”

Nathan clarified calmly anyway, “Gary and Hagrid raped my teacher’s daughter, and that prompted her to commit suicide by jumping off a building. I gave them a chance to repent their sins, but Gary tried to kill me and had ill intentions toward my wife. He crossed my line, and I wish you can understand what I did.”

Old Master Jordan replied, “I understand. That idiot tried to kill you, and that is a grave sin. If you hadn’t beaten me to it, I would’ve killed him myself.”

Nathan knew that Old Master Jordan was just being polite, but the former didn’t point it out. Nathan simply said, “I’m glad you understand.”

Old Master Jordan chatted with Nathan for a little longer before he changed the subject and said, “By the way, General, you haven’t been guarding the Northern border and had gone to the South for vacation. There are a lot of rumors about how you have neglected your duties. Some even advised the president to take away your position for it. What are your thoughts on that?”

Nathan sounded like he was joking when he asked, “Dang, who’s giving the president that idea? Couldn’t have been you, could it?”

Old Master Jordan chuckled. “Of course not. I have retired for so long, so I am in no position to say anything. Besides, the newbies nowadays are such arrogant pricks. They no longer respect me.”

Nathan could tell that Old Master Jordan was insulting him.

“The president has always said that the younger generation is loyal and respectful to elders like us because we are honorable and kind.”

“Old Master Jordan, no one would dare disrespect you.”

when he heard what Nathan said.

Nathan really won't back down even a little. I have just called him an arrogant prick, and he retaliated immediately by suggesting that I am not honorable!

Old Master Jordan looked furious when he said, "Be careful, General. It'd be humiliating if you actually got fired from your position as the General of the North."

Nathan replied calmly, "You be careful too, Old Master Jordan."

He hung up after saying that.

Old Master Jordan smashed his phone after hanging up the call. He was furious when he said, "I will make him suffer!"

Chapter 1309 I Want To Fight Against Him

In a funeral house in Brimmopolis.

A tall and handsome man stood up straight as he stared at his baby brother's corpse.

That corpse was Gary Jordan's.

The tall man was Lucius, the eldest grandson of the Jordan family.

Lucius was extraordinarily strong and had always kept to himself. He never saw anyone as an equal, so he was never close to his siblings.

The only exception was with his baby brother, Gary.

There were two incidents that brought them close.

The first was when Lucius broke their grandpa's favorite antique vase when he was a kid. Old Master Jordan was furious when he asked who did it.

Lucius was too scared to admit it, and Gary admitted to the crime even though he knew his brother did it.

In the end, Old Master Jordan hit Gary so much that he couldn't get out of bed.

The second incident happened when the two siblings went on a camping vacation. Lucius was bitten by a venomous snake, and Gary was the only one around.

Gary was only a teen at the time, and he cried as he carried Lucius for miles. That saved Lucius' life.

After that incident, he became extremely nice and sweet to his baby brother.

At that moment, Lucius' eyes shone with a complex emotion as he stared at his baby brother's body. Makino and the other subordinates stood behind him fearfully.

He stood there for a few moments before he pried his sorrowful gaze away and turned to Makino and the others. Lucius spoke slowly, "I'm not sure how to describe what I feel, but it is probably anger.

Makino, I'm curious. Did you tell Nathan that Gary is my brother and a member of our family?"

Makino had his head down as he replied softly, "I've told him, but he still wouldn't let Gary go. Instead, he killed Gary and Hagrid right in front of me."

Nathan Cross was disrespectful toward the Jordan family!

Lucius' eyes shone with murderous anger.

That was when he heard footsteps from the corridor outside the morgue. He could also somewhat make out a conversation.

Two of the funeral house's make-up artists were there.

They were a man and a woman. The woman complained, "Who's the unlucky idiot who died? Darn it, they called us back to work even though it's the middle of the night. We need to rest too, you know?"

The man chuckled. "I heard it's a short-lived dumbass of the Jordan family. He was beaten to death, and they are in a hurry to bury him tomorrow.”

The woman was obviously upset about being called in to work overtime. She scoffed, “Their family might as well drop a few more dead bodies. We’re not getting any rest, anyway.”

The two make-up artists walked in and realized then that there were people in the morgue.

They looked awkward as they stared at Lucius and the others. “Y-you guy, uh...”

Lucius grinned. “I am the elder brother of the short-lived dumbass you were talking about. My name is Lucius Jordan.”

The two make-up artists felt even more awkward. The man blushed and said, “Mr-Mr. Jordan, please don’t take our words seriously.”

The woman added, “It’s true. We didn’t mean it. Please forgive us.”

Lucius nodded. “It’s fine. Just remember to watch your words in your next life.”

The make-up artists were relieved to hear Lucius saying that it was fine, but they soon realized that Lucius’ next sentence was off.

Their expressions took a turn, and their eyes shone with fear.

That was when Lucius fished a sharp dagger out of his sleeve and swung it around.

The sharp blade slit both make-up artists’ throat.

Their eyes bulged as their hands flew to their throats. Crimson red blood oozed from the gap between their fingers, and they fell simultaneously. They died soon after.

Lucius instructed nonchalantly, “Find two other make-up artists to do the job.”

“Understood!”

Lucius then said, "If I remember correctly, Nathan Cross is on vacation in the South, isn't he?"

"He is, sir."

Lucius narrowed his eyes. "I have always wanted to meet him, but I never had the chance. This is an opportunity, and I want to fight against him. I will let him know who is the real deal!"

Chapter 1310 Lucius Jordan Is Here

Makino and the others heard what Lucius say, and Makino couldn't help reminding, "Your grandpa might not allow you to raise any conflict against Nathan Cross."

Lucius scoffed. "Grandpa is getting too old, and he is starting to think too much. Nathan Cross didn't think twice before he killed a member of our family. Send someone to go tell my grandpa that he should let us youngsters deal with other youngsters."

The subordinates turned to one another. They knew Lucius had made up his mind, so no one dared to speak up.

They were well aware of how weird Lucius' emotions could get. He would kill even if he were mildly annoyed.

Ronan and had refunded all his payments.

Ronan understood that the hospital was trying to appease Nathan, so they didn't dare to accept his money.

After completing the paperwork, Ronan left the hospital with Linda.

Nathan wasn't there that day to pick her up from the hospital, and Ronan was a little sad about it.

He didn't blame Nathan, but he and Linda were an elderly couple. It felt lonely when they had to leave the hospital on their own.

Something unexpected happened when they reached the entrance of the hospital.

A few jeeps drove up.

A bunch of men with a military haircut got out of those jeeps. Those men looked familiar, and when Ronan took a closer look, he realized they were men he had trained in the past.

Moreover, they were Ronan's best students.

Turned out, Nathan had gotten everyone close to Ronan to come pick them up.

Everyone was there for Ronan and his wife.

Quin West, the head of the party, grinned. "Mr. Cross has booked a table in a restaurant to celebrate Mrs. Granger's discharge. Let's head over now."

Ronan was excited as he blurted, "Nathan is so kind. Where is he?"

Quin smiled and replied, "He's busy at the moment and asked us to head over first. He would be there soon."

Ronan nodded. "Good, okay."

Quin and the others accompanied Ronan and his wife to the restaurant.

They sat in the Peony Hall, which Nathan had reserved for them. They opened up a few bottles of wine that were only available for the military and chatted about their past.

Quin and the others said, "If it hadn't been for Instructor Ronan, we would never have accomplished all that we have done."

Ronan stared at his students and replied, "This is not true. I was simply there to train the new recruits. Your own hard work got you where you are today."

Everyone was chatting happily when a loud bang rang up.

The door to the Peony Hall was kicked open, and Ronan and the others were surprised as they stared at the door.

That was when they saw a bunch of strong, menacing men barged in.

The fierce men formed two lines and parted to make a path.

A tall handsome man in a white expensive outfit walked in proudly.

Only extremely rich and powerful men would wear an outfit like that, and the person who walked in was none other than the eldest grandson of the Jordan family, Lucius.

Quin knew Lucius, so he asked curiously, "Isn't that Lucius of the Jordan family? What are you doing here?"

"To kill every single one of you," replied Lucius calmly.

One sentence was enough to turn Quin, Ronan, and the others pale.
