

As soon as Daisy made the remark, her words caused a commotion among the Audley Villa crowds. Throw Tang Yin out? Since the first year of the debutante ball, there had been no precedent of someone being thrown out of the venue. If they had really thrown out Tang Yin, wouldn't he fall into the center of public opinion?

The most important fact was that most of the costs of the debutante ball was sponsored by the Tang Family. This woman could have asked to throw out anyone, but how could it be Tang Yin?

"Mr. Audley, I think we can all agree with Miss Daisy! This debutante ball only needs one representative from the Tang Family, which is me!" Tang E stood up and smirked at Tang Yin. "A person like Tang Yin who doesn't have manners and doesn't know his own place should not be let in!"

Everyone at the ball immediately fell silent. Their gaze toward Tang Yin was sprinkled with some hesitation. Throw Tang Yin out? How is that possible?

Among the guests, many were acquainted with Tang Yin, and everyone knew the story behind the debutante ball. How could Tang E claim to represent the Tang Family if they threw Tang Yin out? That was impossible.

Who was Tang E compared to Tang Yin? The guests were clear about their choices. Even a fool would know who to choose between the son of the patriarch and the grandson-in-law of the Tang Family.

“Mr. Audley, don’t you plan to throw Tang Yin out?” Daisy stared at Mr. Audley in frustration, her finger pointing at Tang Yin. “If you don’t throw him out now, I will leave this place immediately!”

“Mr. Audley, please throw Tang Yin out. Otherwise, I will leave the debutante ball too!” Tang E chimed in.

Many of the guests looked at the pair in confusion. Even Mr. Henley who did not see eye to eye with Tang Yin had not spoken at that moment. Throwing Tang Yin out does not seem like a practical decision!

“Miss Daisy, if you’re unhappy with the current outcome of the Randomized Connection, we could give it another go.” Mr. Audley had decided not to throw Tang Yin out, but to patiently give Daisy a chance.

“Who cares about that Randomized Connection game? What I demand is that you throw Tang Yin out!” Daisy was fully enraged at that point.

Tang Yin only remained seated and smiled coldly at how the scene played out without any change in his emotions. Throw me out? Would he be afraid if he was thrown out? Of course not! Since young, Tang Yin had joined numerous balls like the debutante ball and was clear with the social rules behind a ball. It was totally impossible for the two people to throw him out.

“Wow...” Hollande let out a laugh and shrugged. “Daisy? May I call you Daisy? I don’t know why you want to throw him out. However, I feel that it’s unlikely to succeed.”

“You have to throw him out. If not, I will leave immediately!” Furious, Daisy stared at Tang Yin with a cold smile. She insisted that they threw Tang Yin out to turn him into a joke!

“I’ll leave with her too.” Tang E smirked.

“Alright...” Hollande turned to take a look at Mr. Audley. “Mr. Audley, would you throw Tang Yin out then? If you do, I could only leave the villa with regrets...”

“I’m sorry too.” Hermine bobbed a slight curtsy, her hands tugging at the hem of her gown. "If Tang Yin leaves, I will too!"

"Me too." Nia stood up.

"Likewise; I will leave too!"

"Count me in!"

Swoosh... After Hollande's speech, many started to stand up and cast their glances at Mr. Audley.

"Mr. Audley, I don't want to put you on the spot. Since someone does not welcome me here, I shall just leave." Tang Yin smiled and stood up slowly, looking smart and shining in his cocktail suit. "I will leave here. Of course, I will have no say over others' decision to leave or to stay." He started walking down the stairs after making that statement.

In a flash, the guests around him started moving and shuffling toward the stairs.

Upon witnessing that scene, Daisy's expression changed. "Miss Nia, why are you leaving? Isn't the ball better without Tang Yin? Without that rude man, we would have a great time! He's just an ugly duckling among the swans!"

Nia turned her head and gave a slight smile. Her flaxen hair looked smooth. "Excuse me, but I grew up with Tang Yin, so I am the best judge of his character and his gentlemanliness. I choose to leave!"

"Miss Hermine..."

“I choose to leave too!” Hermine lifted her head and her cold gaze swept across Daisy’s face. The latter immediately paled as she clung onto Tang E’s arm. She had been reminded by Aunt Pedesi to give Tang Yin a hard time at the ball. It came as a surprise that she had seemed to put herself in a difficult position instead of messing with Tang Yin.

Tang E gulped and stood on the ground, feeling panicky. If those guests left, how could the debutante ball continue? It would not be a ball anymore!

“Mr. Audley, we shall meet again if we’re destined to.” Tang Yin flashed a smile as he reached the first floor.

“Mr. Tang Yin...” Mr. Audley’s expression

went through multiple changes and he hurriedly took a few steps forward. “I have no intention to ask you to leave nor throw you out! It’s the Audley Villa’s honor to host you...”

Upon hearing Mr. Audley’s remark, Tang Yin stopped in his tracks, followed by the guests behind him. Everyone looked at Tang Yin as if waiting for him to express himself.

Daisy and Tang E’s expressions went through many changes as well, for they were not anticipating the development of events. Why would Mr. Audley beg Tang Yin like that?

“Miss Daisy, I understand that you’re unwilling to be paired with another male guest. If so, I’m sorry but...” Mr. Audley took a deep breath before announcing, “I will have to request you to leave!”

“What?” Daisy stumbled and almost fell onto the ground. Leave? She had wanted to make Tang Yin leave but ended up having to leave herself. Not only that, she was being asked to leave by the host. It was her first time at a ball like this. If she was thrown out on her first time, she probably would never be able to attend a ball at this level.

“In order to balance the number of the male and female guests... Mr. Tang E, you’re welcomed to leave as well!” Mr. Audley turned to look at Tang E. The latter gritted his teeth with flames of fury burning in his eyes. “What for? I’m from the Tang Family too! Don’t you want sponsorships from our family?”

Chapter 509 Go for Wool and Come Home Shorn

The Tang Family will abandon you if you make me leave!”

“Tang Family? Are you from the Tang Family? How could you claim yourself as the representative when the son of the Tang Family’s Patriarch is beside me?” Mr. Audley’s expression turned frosty. “I will only give you a minute to leave my villa immediately!”
