

Chapter 624

Henry's series of shots made many people in the hall show a kind of disdain and sneer.

Shooting continuously and hoping to achieve high scores? In your dreams!

"No... impossible... He seems to achieve the perfect score." A female security guard from Collier Security pointed to the big screen in the hall, with her eyes staring at the centre of the target on the screen.

As soon as the female security guard spoke, the people in the hall placed their eyes on the big screen at the same time. Just now, they were all laughing at Henry and did not pay attention to the results shown on the big screen. Now they looked at it.

"This... "

"What's wrong with this target?"

"Why did you displayed a malfunctioning target?" The Deputy Mayor said discontentedly.

The red circle in the centre of the target which represented the 10th ring completely disappeared. There were only nine rings on the target. In the centre of the target, where the 10th ring was supposed to be, was a black hole.

"Deputy Mayor Shan, there is nothing wrong with this target." Anna laughed. She snapped her fingers and said loudly, "Could you please play the video at a slower pace?"

As soon as Anna finished speaking, the video on the big screen went back to the time before Henry fired the gun. The sign on the screen indicated that the speed was slowed down ten times.

Slowing down by ten times, people could see the direction of bullets with their own eyes.

After Henry fired, at a speed of ten shots per second, the bullets hit the bull's eye. The original intact bull's eye was violently hit by thirty bullets. Each of Henry's shots accurately hit the bull's eye. Through slowness, they could see that every bullet was shot along the edge of the bull's eye. When the last bullet was fired, it directly knocked off the bull's eye.

After the slow-motion video was played, it could be seen that Mr. Hu and President Wong's faces were particularly ugly. They did not care how precise Henry's shooting was, they only looked at the scores and found that Henry had placed 30 shots in the 10th ring, which was higher than what their people did!

The captain from Collier Security, said excitedly, "Powerful! He's so powerful! He made zero mistakes. He must have gone through the most rigorous training!"

Hyman's and Griffith's eyes were full of seriousness. They were very clear how difficult it was to shoot 30 bullets in a row and hit the 10th ring. Both of them knew that they couldn't do it.

The corners of Anna's mouth curled into a smile. Indeed, she did not have to worry about Henry at all.

Director Mu couldn't help looking at Henry a few more times and secretly gave him a thumbs up.

When the Deputy Mayor and several judges saw the replay on the screen, they looked a little unhappy. They announced that the first round of shooting was won by Collier Security Company and that the second round of shooting moving targets would be held.

When they saw Henry's accurate shooting ability, Hyman and Griffith no longer looked down on him. They entered their best fighting state. The site was about 450 meters long. Both of them completed the task within 58 seconds and 20 bullets they shot had hit the target.

If an ordinary soldier rushed with all his strength, he would need a minute and 10 seconds to finish this task. Without considering any shooting factor, an ordinary person could not finish these 450 meters within one minute. These two men shot 20 bullets, which could be said to be an amazing result.

If it was in actual combat, it was equivalent to them killing 20 enemies.

When the two saw their results, they were very satisfied. They didn't think that Henry could do better than this. Static and mobile shooting were completely two different things. The static shooting was not too difficult. If you had a good understanding of firearms, often trained in the shooting club and a little luck, it was not impossible to achieve full marks. But the mobile shooting required the shooter's physical strength. Under the high-intensity running, it was extremely difficult to keep stable breathing and to shoot. You had to be strictly trained. Where could a person train that? Only in special forces.

Although Henry's performance in the fixed shooting was amazing, people still didn't think highly of him regarding shooting moving targets. And the eyes of the people from Collier Security were full of worry.

Henry came to the shooting site and looked at the building. Many years ago, he had been trained in this environment. But at that time, he needed to cover his eyes to distinguish the location of the enemies according to the subtle sounds in the air. Each time before he covered his eyes, his instructor would give him three minutes to remember the shooting site arrangement, so that when his eyes were closed, he could cross the entire shooting site as soon as possible according to his memory and achieve effective and accurate shooting at the same time.

The Deputy Mayor Shan looked at Henry, who was standing in front of the shooting site, and looked up at the camera in the hall.

In the hall, under the gaze of Deputy Mayor Shan, the timer started.

"What's going on? He hasn't started yet!" The countdown of the timer shocked all the people in the team.

Deputy Mayor Shan sneered.

Mr. Hu and President Wong both showed their affection to Deputy Mayor Shan.

"Deputy Mayor Shan, he is not ready yet. Why did the timer begin?" Director Mu asked in a hurry.

"He is not ready?! Should I spend all my time waiting for him?" The Deputy Mayor said discontentedly.

"But it's unfair to him to start early!" Director Mu frowned and said.

The Deputy Mayor waved his hand impatiently. "If you think it's unfair, then don't compete. You have the same issues every time! Either compete or get out!"

Director Mu sat aside and didn't know what to say.

Henry looked at the countdown, reached out to pick up the gun, and strode into the field. At this time, ten seconds had passed.

There were only fifty seconds left for Henry. In these fifty seconds, just running through the 450-metres-long field was difficult, not to mention shooting.

As soon as Henry entered the field, a target suddenly rose up. Henry didn't even look at it, let alone aim at it. He directly pulled the trigger.

The field in front of him was completely round. Henry, was in a full sprint, and every time a target rose up, he directly shot. In the eyes of outsiders, he was shooting randomly.

At the moment when the timer showed 50 seconds, Henry ran out of the venue, and the gun charger was also empty.

"Hmph, he ran pretty fast!" Mr. Hu snorted coldly and crossed his arms in front of his chest.

The people of Collier Security and Director Mu all looked at the big screen, waiting for the result. They wanted to know how much Henry had scored.

One minute...

Two minutes...

After a full five minutes, Henry's score was finally shown on the big screen. 30 bullets, all missed the targets!

Chapter 625

At the moment when they saw the results, Mr. Hu and the others all smiled.

Deputy Mayor Shan nodded satisfactorily.

Collier Security's people looked terrible after seeing the result, but they also knew that it was not Henry's fault. In just 50 seconds, if they were the one doing the task, they would not be able to finish the whole run, let alone shoot at targets.

Henry put down the gun and shook his head. He was very clear in his heart that his 30 shots all hit the centre. Someone must have been messing with the targets.

Director Mu looked a little suspicious. When Henry shot just now, he clearly heard the sound of the target getting shot. It was impossible for all the bullets to miss the targets.

Director Mu laid his eyes on Anna's face. He saw Anna smiling bitterly at him and understood that Anna had also realized that something was not adding up.

The Deputy Mayor stood up and said with a chuckle, "In this shooting round, there is a tie between Guineay Security and Superstitious Security. Each team gets one point, and Collier Security gets zero points!"

After that, Deputy Mayor Shan directly went out of the hall.

"Haha, President Jiang, it seems that you have no chance this time." Mr. Hu laughed and turned his eyes to Henry, "Kid, your strength is still not enough. Go home and practice for two more years!"

"Haha." President Wong also let out a chuckle and said, "There are many levels of strength. I'm afraid that two years won't be enough."

President Wong's words seemed to be pointing at something.

"Let's have a rest for half an hour, and we'll continue later." The judge who followed the Deputy Mayor said loudly.

One after another, they left the hall. In the whole hall, there were only Collier Security's people and Director Mu.

As soon as all the people left, Director Mu ran to the shooting site. He saw clearly that there were clear bullet marks in the centre of the targets that Henry had just shot.

"Director Mu." Anna's voice came from behind him.

Director Mu turned around and saw Anna standing there with a wry smile on her face.

Director Mu sighed heavily and said, "Well, I hope that your team can perform well in the next round."

Anna nodded silently.

Half an hour later, a new round of grading was about to begin. This round was about theoretical knowledge. Henry and people invited by the remaining two companies were asked to answer some basic professional questions. When they were asked questions, no one else was allowed to be present.

Before Henry started this theory grading, the middle-aged captain found Henry and said, "Brother, no matter what, the most important is that the employer's safety is put in the first place. You just need to remember this, and you won't make any mistakes."

"Employer's safety?" Hearing the middle-aged captain's words, Henry showed a thoughtful expression. Then he nodded and entered a room to take part in this test.

On the outside, Collier Security's people were waiting with some concern.

The middle-aged captain walked up to Anna and asked, "President Jiang, is this man good with theory?"

"He should be all right..." Anna answered with some uncertainty.

The look of the middle-aged captain, who was already a little worried, became even more serious after he heard Anna's answer.

More than 20 minutes later, Henry, Hyman, and Griffith walked out of the examination room.

Collier Security's men all looked at Henry expectantly.

"Brother, how was it?" The middle-aged captain couldn't wait to walk to Henry and asked.

Henry touched his nose and said, "It should be okay."

Hearing Henry's words, the middle-aged captain was much relieved. "As long as the employer's safety is on the first place, there should be no problem."

Soon, a judge came out of the room with three A4 papers. Everyone's eyes were focused on this judge.

The judge first looked at Deputy Mayor Shan and waited for him to nod before he spoke.

"I announce that in the second round of theoretical grading, one point will be given to Guineay Security, one point to Superstitious Security, and to Collier Security..." When the judge said this, he deliberately looked at Anna and then said, "Zero points!"

"Zero points!" The words of the judges made Collier Security's members' hearts skip a beat.

They got zero points for the shooting round. If this round was also zero, then it was impossible for Collier Security Company to reach the five-star standard this time. Even if Collier Security could get all the points in the final two rounds, it would be a tie. And the chance for the other two opponents to score zero in the next rounds was very low.

"Zero points? Why?" Director Mu could not sit still and took the initiative to ask.

"Why?" The judge raised the three A4 papers in his hand and said, "Collier Security's answers are on this paper. See for yourself."

The judge felt a little guilty about giving them zero points in the shooting round, but he didn't feel guilty at all giving them zero points now.

Director Mu walked forward, looked at the three A4 papers in the hands of the judge, and frowned.

"So? Is there any problem?" The judge said to Director Mu proudly.

Director Mu shook his head and looked at Anna helplessly. "President Jiang, this time, it's indeed Collier Security's mistake."

"What do you mean by this time? Director Mu, I don't like what you said!" Mr. Hu said on the spot, "Do you think that there were some issues with the grading of the last round?"

Director Mu ignored Mr. Hu. He took the three A4 papers to Anna and showed them to her.

Anna looked at the three papers, and her face was a little unnatural. Each sheet of A4 paper had theoretical questions on it together with the answers of Henry and the other two on them.

"President Jiang, your answers are..." Director Mu wanted to say something but stopped on second thought.

Anna shook her head.

Henry stood aside and put his hands in his pockets. "Is there any problem with my answers?"

"Problem?" The judge sneered. "That's a big problem! Is this your answer? If the employer is taken by someone else, what will you do?"

The judge pointed to the middle-aged captain and asked, "What's the answer? Tell me!"

Without thinking, the middle-aged captain replied, "Ensure employers' safety, observe the terrain, and make the employer..."

The middle-aged captain was about to continue when the judge interrupted him. "Okay, that's enough!"

After the judge interrupted the middle-aged captain, he looked at

Henry and said, "Did you hear that? Protect the employer immediately. What's your answer?"

Henry shrugged his shoulders and said, "Killing the perpetrator? Is there any problem? The employer would naturally be safe if the perpetrator was dead."

"Haha." The judge sneered again. "Like it's easy to kill somebody. And the other question: if the employer is being stalked, what do you need to do? Your answer is... Kill the stalker?!"

"Yes, is there any problem? Do you mean that as a bodyguard, I should call the police every time there is something wrong?" Henry felt strange. In his mind, this was definitely the most convenient way.
