

Chapter 783 The Sisters in Action

“Really? I’ll tell them to take action now!” Maria hung up the call and dialed the numbers of her subordinates as she gave out the order.

Upon hanging up the calls, Maria put on a cold smile. She believed that she would be able to solve the mystery of eternal youth by tomorrow morning. By then, she would possess the beauty unrivaled by the others.

Louis was standing outside Tang Yin’s house with a dark expression. Looking at Ji Youyou’s house gloomily, he could hear the laughter from inside, which caused him to feel uncomfortable and disturbing.

“Wait for it... All of you have to die tonight!” Louis sneered and retracted his gaze before composing himself.

Thirty minutes later, five cars pulled up near the house. More than ten people got out of the cars with guns in their hands. Upon gesturing at each other, they started surrounding Ji Youyou's house. Seated inside the car, Louis put on a ferocious smile.

A moment later, a burly man stood before the door of Ji Youyou's house. The people behind him raised their guns and aimed at the house. The burly man grinned and took a few steps forward. When he wanted to kick the door open, a sound tore across the air in a rapid manner and disappeared into thin air.

Before they could figure out what had just happened, the burly man at the door staggered backward and collapsed to the ground with a terrified expression. A black Kunai was stuck on his throat. They were so shocked that they took a few steps back and looked around anxiously, for they never noticed where this Kunai was coming from.

“F*ck!” Louis’s expression changed drastically as he slammed on the steering wheel. “What is going on?”

No one answered his question. The dark figures observed the situation for a while and sent out two more brawny men to go near Ji Youyou’s house. The men were careful and kept their guard up when approaching the house.

Whoosh! Whoosh!

Two Kunais killed these two men at the same time.

“F*ck!” Louis couldn’t take it anymore and pushed the door open angrily.
“Guys, storm into that house!”

Louis felt uneasy with the creepy atmosphere of that place, therefore he had to make his subordinates storm into the place and settle the matter as soon as possible. Otherwise, no one could say for sure what would happen next. As Louis was speaking, these people understood the severity of the matter, hence seven of them hurriedly took action and ran toward Ji Youyou’s house.

Just then, a scream was heard behind them. A sword beamed in the night as a man collapsed to the ground with blood gushing out of his neck.

“What is going on?” Louis was flabbergasted when he turned around and saw no one. “Who can tell me what on earth is happening?”

“I-It’s snowing,” someone said. When they looked up, they saw snow dropping from the sky. It was in the summer at that time, so why would there be snow?

Whoosh, whoosh...

The sounds made Louis snap back to reality. Upon turning around in a hurry, he saw a dozen bodies lying on the ground after only ten seconds. At that moment, he was so frightened that he widened his eyes and quickly ran toward his car.

A sword flew past him and directly pierced into the car door. Turning around in fright, he saw Ohashi Miki approaching him with a gaze that was filled with murderous intent.

“D-Don’t come near me!” Louis was terrified, and his face turned livid. “Go away... This is Switzerland, where murder is illegal!”

“Our young master wants me to pass on his word... Don’t try to harm Ji Youyou, otherwise you’ll be killed!” Ohashi Miki shot a glacial look at Louis and kept her sword before walking into the darkness.

Louis fell on his bottom as cold sweat dripped from his forehead. A long time later, he came to his senses and hurriedly opened the car door before he started the engine and sped off. As he was driving, he made a call and snarled, “What is going on? The people you sent out were killed by their two female bodyguards. Who were those people you sent out?”

“Yes!” Louis growled, “All of them are dead! The female bodyguard told me not to harm Ji Youyou, otherwise I’d be killed next!”

Maria’s expression changed. “Don’t fret and continue with the plan. I’ll contact some people now!”

“Continue with the plan? If I keep doing this, I'll lose my life!" Louis yelled.

"Louis! I hope you'll understand that you've gotten your wealth with my help! If you want to give up just because you're facing a hurdle, I think you will lose more than you gain!" Maria threatened coldly.

Louis cursed and wanted to throw his phone away. Is this just a hurdle? This is going to cost my life!

"I'll get some people to handle it now..." Maria hung up the call upon finishing her words.

Meanwhile, Tang Yin had just walked out of the bathroom. He was aware of what happened outside the house, but he didn't have to do anything because Ohashi Miki and her sister could handle it on their own.

Upon getting into bed, he hugged the blushed Ji Youyou and had a good sleep.

The next morning, Ji Youyou walked into the office of the Love Charity of the United Nations. The moment she took a seat at her desk, she heard hurried footsteps approaching from behind. With a cold expression, Mia directly slammed the documents in her hand on Ji Youyou's desk. "Ji Youyou, do you know how to work at all? How could you make mistakes in these documents yesterday?"

"Mistakes? How is that possible? I did double-check..." Ji Youyou said in shock.

“You did double-check? I don’t understand these things that you’ve handed in at all... Do it again today! You also have to finish your work for today, otherwise quit the job yourself!” Mia shot a look at her and turned to leave.
