Everyone stared at the man who had just finished his sentence. They then glanced toward the lady who had the glass of wine in her hand. She beamed ever so slightly as her cheeks blushed. The crowd burst into excitement after they saw the look on her face. Clap! Clap! Chap! A round of applause filled the room after they concluded that the man's answer was correct. The wine was indeed produced in Huazhuang Winery, situated at the Right Bank of Bordeaux.

"I'm blessed to have a pretty lady like you as my partner for the night!" The man bowed slightly as an indication of his chivalry, before he then took the lady's hand and led her off the stage. The crowd's gaze trailed them with envy. "Well, it looks like our first glass of red wine has found herself someone that would like to taste her..." The emcee on the stage extended her hand. "Now, for our second glass of wine..."

Tang Yin eyed all of this with his brows knitted into a frown. He flashed a hostile glance toward the masked man who had been on stage earlier. The masked man had his arms around the young lady almost immediately after he got off the stage, and he was stroking and groping her in an inappropriate manner. The young girl wasn't wearing much to begin with, and parts of her body were quickly exposed as the man touched her carelessly. Yet, she didn't seem to be bothered by it as she simply turned around to kiss the masked man who stood behind her. The people around them didn't show any hints of distaste toward them; some merely chuckled while others even looked a little envious.

Right then, the second young lady walked to the center of the stage with a glass of wine in her hand. The clothes on her were just as revealing and flashy as the first young lady, but this lady had a glass of white wine instead. “She’s prettier than the last one...” someone mumbled.

“Yeah. From what I’ve heard about Madam Louise’s winery, the girls that bring the wine in are supposed to get prettier and prettier... I heard that the last girl to come on stage would be Madam Louise’s niece. I heard that she’s as elegant and gorgeous as a rose!” another one replied.

“Well, it’s all rumors. Who knows the truth, right?” someone said.

“I know the truth. I was lucky enough to encounter it once—I saw Madam Louise’s niece on the stage! Unfortunately, no one managed to guess the origin of the glass of wine she had, so no one managed to have the most gorgeous rose for themselves...” another one in the crowd uttered.

As they continued their discussions, someone else had already gotten on the stage. “Château Lafite Rothschild; not the 1982 one, but the 1986 one...” The masked man spoke in a deep voice before he turned to look at the young lady beside him. She smiled to show agreement to his answer.

“Anyone else?” Madam Louise, who was seated below the stage, glanced around as she asked the people around her. After all, each lady who stepped up on stage had 3 glasses of the same wine each, so there could be up to 3 people who could go up to fight for the same lady. If someone could successfully provide greater details regarding the wine that they tasted, they would be able to snatch the lady away from their other competitors.

“Let me try...” A man took large strides up onto the stage as he finally gave in to the temptation. “This is the wine from the Château Lafite Rothschild indeed, but it’s from 1988, not 1986! I can taste the difference in the new white grapes that were planted at Château Lafite Rothschild only in 1988...” The crowd began to applaud for the man almost immediately. They could tell that this man was more informed than the first. As expected, the young lady who held the wine glasses then turned to smile at the second man who stepped up onto the stage.

“Is anyone else going to go up there? Otherwise, this man here is about to get a good taste of my second glass of wine!” Madam Louise laughed as she looked around her. When she saw that there wasn’t anyone interested in going on stage, she gestured for the young lady and the man to go ahead. The second man took the young lady’s hand and brought her to a corner of the room. They could hear someone’s shallow panting the moment they sat down. Tang Yin wore a dark expression on his face as he turned to give Ouyang Xiang a look. He now realized how his decision to bring her along was a huge mistake. This event was simply not suited for someone like Ouyang Xiang, who had just reached the legal age a while ago. Ouyang Dan or Ouyang Yan would've both been better choices—they were both older than Ouyang Xiang and would probably be more mentally prepared to witness the sight of such events.

Soon, the third young lady walked on stage with her wine glasses. Her hair was an ash gray color, and her body proportions were near perfection. People in the crowd began to whistle the second she stepped onto the stage. “Let me have a go...” Someone quickly stood up in the middle of the crowd, his footsteps elegant and unhurried as he made his way up onto the stage. It only took Tang Yin one look to recognize the man. stunned, and Tang Yin quickly caught the hostile, cold look in Madam Louise's eyes.

Tang Yin let out a silent scoff as he pondered on how he could have a proper discussion with that aggressive man from the Freemasonry. The best way might be to find an empty room and get both of the members of the Freemasonry to go in. That way, I can torture them into giving me answers before I end their lives. Unfortunately, there were no such opportunities for Tang Yin's plan to be possible. He had no other choice but to choose a riskier method.

Chapter 964

The event went on, and the fourth young lady was soon led off the stage. What the audience mentioned in the crowd earlier was true—the ladies only got prettier and prettier toward the end of the event. The first young lady was pretty, but all those that came after her were prettier and sexier. The fifth girl went on stage. Then the sixth... and the seventh... Everyone in the crowd was mumbling underneath their breaths as they all knew that there were only twelve girls that night. The last one would be Madam Louise's niece, which was the prettiest among all of them. This lady once appeared in the past, when she stepped onto the stage as the twelfth girl after the eleventh girl's wine was finished. However, no one was able to recognize the wine that she had in her glass, so no one managed to have her for themselves.

The audience continued to discuss whether they would be able to catch a glimpse of the prettiest girl that night. As the discussion went on, two members of staff walked toward Ells before whispering a few words to him. "You found them?" Ells lifted his head up in shock. "Bring me there now. I'm going to kill the two of them today!" Ells stood up with a hideous expression on his face. The staff led the way, and they all walked in Tang Yin's direction.
