to the secret passage, he pulled the door open and squeezed his way through it.

His men stood in place for a moment before it dawned on them that they didn't have to care about Tang Yuanbo. They had no idea who was outside the door, but they had their guesses; the visitor was probably someone from the Ouyang Family. Besides, Tang Wai had nearly wiped out the Ouyang Family, so there would never be a way out for them if they fell into the Ouyang Family's hands.

They had just made their way into the secret passage when Yang Long entered the estate with his men. Yang Long's lips curled into a sneer as he walked all the way into the basement and heard the sounds that occasionally reverberated in the space. “Long, there’s a secret passage here...”

“Lead our people to catch up with them!” Yang Long waved his hand with nothing else on his mind. After all, whoever wanted to run away had to see if they had that ability to do so.

Those around him nodded before dashing swiftly into the secret passage. Meanwhile, Yang Long lifted his head and glanced at a door by the side. After walking toward the door leisurely, he raised his hand and knocked lightly on it.

“Tang Wai, do you think that I have indulged you too much these days?” Tang Yuanbo’s cold voice could be heard from inside the room. “Get lost and stop disturbing me!”

Yang Long’s lips curled into a smirk as he heard this voice, and he knocked on the door again. With that, the room instantly became silent.

Yang Long took a few steps back, whereas those around him had stepped forward and raised their guns.

“Tang Wai, are you courting death...” Wrapping himself in a bath towel, Tang Yuanbo suddenly pulled the door open. However, he was greeted with dozens of guns aiming at his head.

“Old Master Tang?” Yang Long smiled. “Excuse me, but could you tell me where is the Tang Wai whom you speak of right now?”

“Tang Wai...” Tang Yuanbo nearly fainted right away as everything went black before his eyes. As an experienced person, how could he not understand what Yang Long meant? Tang Wai must have run away alone and left him behind. “He’s in the secret passage. He must have entered the secret passage, the exit of which is 300 meters outside the estate...”

“Get someone to go there!” Yang Long waved his hand.

Those around him immediately rushed out and searched all the way for the secret passage’s exit according to Tang Yuanbo’s words. It was very likely that Tang Wai would run away if they couldn't find the secret passage's exit at this moment.

After his men had left, Yang Long walked into the room and frowned slightly. Three ladies huddled together tremblingly on the big bed in the room, watching the scene unfold in horror.

Tang Yuanbo looked as black as thunder as he watched Yang Long walking into the room. In the end, the once formidable and ambitious figure gave a long sigh as if he had instantly become more than ten years older. Am I falling into Tang Yin's hands after all?

Tang Yuanbo shook his head. In fact, he no longer had the idea of vying with Tang Yin for the Tang Family, for he knew he was already finished ever since Tang Yin defeated the Freemasonry. He had used all the tricks up his sleeve, yet he still couldn't do anything to Tang Yin.

Staggering back into the room, Tang Yuanbo slumped onto the big bed as if he had lost his soul. Ever since the Tang Family was handed over to Tang Lijiang to the moment he wanted to seize back this power and rule the family, Tang Yuanbo seemed to have spent the second half of his life fighting. He even publicly expressed his support for his eldest son, for he wanted to snatch the power to rule the Tang Family from him.

In reality, Tang Yuanbo never realized that he wasn't trying to fight with Tang Lijiang over anything. Instead, he was fighting with God; he was unwilling to grow old and lose power, so he fought with God as well as himself. All of this interpreted the second half of his life.

Early next morning, Tang Yin's private plane took off from Berkshire and flew all the way to a desert in Africa. The plane landed in the desert at noon, and large batches of living supplies were loaded into a huge motorcade formed by Tang Yin using dozens of cars.

That noon, Tang Yin led his motorcade all the way into the desert. The motorcade finally arrived at the edge of the tribe's territory after nightfall. Since sandy soil was all around the place, there weren't any proper roads. Hence, Tang Yin could only have the motorcade stop over here and entered the tribe's territory with Zhuge Pei.

Chapter 983

When the tribe's chief saw both Tang Yin and Zhuge Pei coming, he happily led the people in his tribe out of their territory to welcome them by dancing.

Tang Yin was delighted. After exchanging a few words with the tribe's chief using their local dialect, he saw a look of elation on the chief's face. With a wave of his hand, the chief led his people to run wildly into the distance. Tang Yin laughed as he took Zhuge Pei by the hand and went back to where they had resided.

The whole tribe began their revelry late that night. These people lived here ever since they were little, so they were incredibly curious about the supplies from the outside world; they were simply beside themselves with joy when all the supplies were brought back.

Tang Yin was dragged by the crowd to attend the tribe's bonfire party, whereas Zhuge Pei was no longer regarded by the people here as a sinner because of her disability. They felt much more relaxed as they blended in very well.

After staying here for three days, the two left the tribe and headed for the territory of another tribe in the desert. Within less than a day, they reached the oasis in the desert; this was probably because they had achieved the transformation stage due to their increase in strength.

Standing on the hill outside the oasis, Tang Yin bit his lower lip while looking at the great lake in the oasis. If he wasn't mistaken, the demonic beast in the great lake should be one of the Four Great Beasts.

Among the Four Great Beasts, the one in Mount Wang was the thunder beast, whereas the one in Snow Mountain of Nine Dragons was the fire beast. Since the beast in Mount South End back then was said to be the mountain beast, this beast should be the wind beast. Tang Yin had no idea why this demonic beast was here when the other three demonic beasts were in the country.

At this moment, a splashing sound was heard from the lake's surface. The water of the lake churned continuously, striking fear into people's hearts.

“This thing has become demonic...”

Chapter 983

Tang Yin smiled. He didn't expect this demonic beast to churn up the lake right after he and Zhuge Pei arrived. "Wait here while I go and check it out."

"Alright!" Zhuge Pei nodded.

Tang Yin took a step and reached one side of the lake in the blink of an eye.

Splash... Waves could be seen as the lake churned.

Suddenly, the demonic beast jumped out of the water and glared at Tang Yin with a look of alert on its face. At the same time, the aboriginals in the oasis noticed that their God was getting irritable, and they quickly dashed out of their tribe.

However, Tang Yin didn't care about this and stepped into the lake water.
