

Chapter 2281

With Denver Hamilton's identity, he could do whatever he pleased. He never expected Harvey York would be able to suppress him...

But Denver could not just give in at that moment.

"You've got guts Kid!" he coldly exclaimed.

"Not only do you dare hurt my people in Las Vegas, but you're also holding me hostage!

"Tell me your name if you dare!"

"Harvey York," he calmly replied.

"Harvey York?"

Denver was perplexed. It was his first time hearing this name, and he had no idea where this arrogant person even came from.

Though, that didn't stop him from remembering the name.

“I’ll remember you!” he exclaimed furiously.

“You better not let me find out who you are, or else!”

Clank!

Harvey picked up another beer bottle and smashed it on Denver’s head again.

“Is that even a threat?”

“I hate people threatening me the most. Why don’t you try doing it again?”

“You-”

Denver’s face was horribly wretched, while his face was covered in blood.

“Don’t you worry. I’ll find out exactly who you are soon!” shouted Denver while gritting his teeth.

“There’s no need for that. Let me tell you who he is!”

Frantic footsteps were echoing from outside the entrance before a cold voice could be heard.

“He’s an important guest of the Mendoza family, my big brother! You better remember that, Denver!”

A dozen people then walked in with fierce auras.

The group leader was a young man in his twenties with a heroic countenance.

His appearance had completely worsened Denver’s expression.

The rich-looking ladies were all shocked, and all of them were at a loss for words.

Even Teresa Thompson was a bit surprised. She didn’t expect that someone from the Mendoza family would even come.

The Mendoza family was not top-rated, but Edwin Mendoza's father was Las Vegas' first-in-command!

No matter how strong the Hamilton family was, no matter how unscrupulous they were doing their business, they would still have to pay their respects to the Mendoza family.

Edwin solemnly walked toward Harvey, then respectfully said, "CEO York, please forgive me for my tardiness."

Dale Flynn almost let out a shriek after seeing Edwin's courteous look on his face.

He never thought that Harvey, a plain-looking man, would have relations with the Mendoza family.

The young master of the family, Edwin Mendoza himself, was also respectful toward Harvey.

To know that Edwin was quite the big character in Las Vegas!

He was the same as Denver back then, a true affluent playboy.

Then, he was enlisted into Sword Camp through his father's connections. He came back after three long years on the battlefield. There was one less rich playboy in Las Vegas, but a King of Arms was replacing him after.

It was safe to say that Edwin was the top ten biggest character of the younger generation in Las Vegas.

Harvey calmly smiled after seeing Edwin.

“That’s very thoughtful of you, Edwin. You came here just in time.

“After all, we were just done with the prologue.

“The big show’s about to happen next.”

Harvey kept holding Denver hostage without any intention of letting him go.

Then, Denver came to his senses. His shock turned into realization.

“I was thinking who gave you the courage to go against the Hamilton family...” exclaimed Denver coldly.

“So, you’re the Mendoza family’s important guest!

“No wonder you have the guts to touch me!

“Impressive! Really impressive!”

Denver was showing a scornful expression on his face. If Harvey were a member of the Mendoza family, he would’ve been slightly fearful.

But the whole thing was a lot more interesting after knowing that Harvey was just an important guest.

Denver did not believe that the Mendoza family would go against the Hamilton family for a mere outsider.

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2282

Sarah and the others had to take a few steps back because of Edwin Mendoza's appearance. The tension wasn't as high anymore, and murderous intent was no longer felt at that moment.

But even so, their sights were still glued to Harvey York and Teresa Thompson.

"Alright, Third Young Master Hamilton, enough talk. Let the people go and bring them here.

"Don't even try to hurt those people. I'll chop off a hand for every single person you harm," said Harvey calmly while patting on Denver Hamilton's face.

Denver was still showing a look of a troublemaker at that moment.

"I'll let you and CEO Thompson off the hook for Edwin's sake since you're an important guest of the Mendoza family, Kid.

“But you must be dreaming if you want me to let them go!

“Kill me if you have the guts to do so!

“If I even do so much as frown, I’ll call myself a damn coward!

“But remember this, if I die, don’t even think of getting out of Las Vegas alive!

“Do you really think the Hamilton family are just a bunch of wimps?!”

“If you dare kill me, not just the Mendoza family, even God himself won’t be able to save you if he comes!”

Denver was utterly reckless at this moment.

Harvey smiled without giving a straight answer.

“To be honest, your family can only flex your power in Las Vegas anyway. If I want to, it wouldn't be too hard to destroy your family.”

The crowd chuckled coldly after hearing Harvey's words.

‘Is he not scared of being exposed for talking so big?’

Sarah, who had blond hair and blue eyes, scoffed coldly.

“You're only showing off because you're holding Third Young Master Hamilton hostage, you damn bastard!

“Let go of him and fight me if you dare! I'll crush you with just one hand!”

In her eyes, she could easily take out Harvey judging from his lame kung fu.

But because Harvey took Denver hostage, she was completely held back.

Harvey glanced at Sarah while his interest peaked.

“Don’t worry. There will be a chance for that...”

“Do it! Keep showing off! It’ll be as easy as drinking water for Sarah to kill you!”

Denver was showing a derisive look toward Harvey. Obviously, he figured that Harvey was no match for Sarah.

Denver then glared at Edwin.

“It’s not that I’m not paying you respect, Young Master Mendoza,” he coldly exclaimed.

“But since these rascals keep barging into my warehouse, I’ll have to take them down and teach them all a lesson! If I don’t, how am I supposed to survive in the future?!”

“Besides, everyone might go around and say that I’m an easy target! How am I supposed to do business from now on?!”

Denver then squinted at Teresa while exclaiming coldly, “That’s why you should just leave if you want to, but I’m never letting these people go!

“If nobody leaves, then we’ll all just die together!”

Denver was sure that if Edwin didn’t show up, Harvey could’ve killed him by now, judging by his reckless behavior.

But since Edwin came, Denver believed that he could keep Harvey sane.

“It’s pointless talking about all this, Third Young Master Hamilton.”

Before Harvey even said anything, Edwin took a step forward and said, “I already figured what happened. Would you like to see some proof?”

“Proof?!”

Denver froze.

“What sort of evidence can you possibly have?!”

“Looks like you’re not giving up until the very end!”

Edwin clapped his hands, and soon one of his subordinates handed him a notebook.

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2283

“CEO Thompson’s staff only went to your warehouse because you were swapping out the new tea leaves she supplied you with twenty-year-old rotten tea leaves.

“There’s no need for you to refute that either. I went to the customs for recordings of CEO Thompson’s tea leaves when they entered the border.

“Another thing, I already found the seller of the rotten tea leaves and arrested him. We can use him to testify against you at any time.

“If I want to, I can announce the entire situation to the public and make your family lose all reputation.

“That’s why, Third Young Master Hamilton, I didn’t come here to negotiate. Instead, I’m here to warn you.

“Not only do you have to let everyone go, you still have to pay CEO Thompson everything you owe according to the contract, and not a single dollar less.

“I need an immediate answer. Are you letting the people go or not?! Are you paying the money or not?!”

While crossing his arms, Edwin Mendoza showed no emotion, but his words were filled with an intimidating aura, making Denver Hamilton feel numb.

His eyes were frantically twitching. He didn't expect that Edwin would find out about everything he did.

And judging from Edwin's look, he most likely had solid proof to back his statement.

Denver was dumbfounded. He couldn't believe

Edwin looked up to Harvey York this highly. Not only was he lending Harvey a hand, but he was also asking for money for him!

Denver was in a terrible mood. It was the first time in his life getting suppressed like this.

But no matter how unscrupulous and arrogant he was, he knew that even though the Mendoza family was not a top-rated family, they represented the government's will through the first-in-command of Las Vegas.

Denver squinted at Edwin while showing a faint smile.

“Let me ask you something, Young Master Mendoza. Are you representing only yourself or your entire family for doing this?”

Edwin kept his arms crossed.

“Do you think it matters?” he calmly replied.

“You’re just some nobody for my big brother to trample on. Judging by how you’re still talking so big, do you really think he doesn’t have the guts to kill you?”

“Don’t worry. If my big brother wants to kill you, I’ll help him clean up the mess. I’ll also guarantee that your family won’t even find out anything about you!”

Edwin’s subordinates swiftly spread out from behind him, glaring at Denver and his men.

Cold sweats were dripping down Denver’s back after seeing the sight. Even his hair stood up straight out of shock.

Then, he remembered Edwin’s background.

Edwin wasn’t just the young master of the Mendoza family. He was also a retired King of Arms taught by the legendary Chief Instructor.

This...

Without a second thought, Denver gave in and unwillingly glared at Teresa.

“Let everyone go! Bring them here!” he exclaimed while gritting his teeth.

The overdressed young man felt resentful, but he still dialed a number anyway.

After ten minutes or so, a few bodyguards walked inside with a dozen staff members. The bodyguards had firearms pointed right toward the staff.

Sarah glared at Harvey coldly.

“Hurry up and let go of Third Young Master Hamilton already, Harvey,” she exclaimed.

Edwin remained silent while watching Harvey.

If Harvey were to start killing people, then Edwin would surely lend a hand.

“Get out!”

Harvey let Denver go before casually throwing the watermelon knife to the ground.

“Let them go.”

Slap slap slap!

Sarah slapped every single staff member in the face before turning around.

“We’ll let all of you go for the Mendoza family’s sake this time! Next time, I’ll make sure to kill you myself!”

<https://t.me/HarveyYokEnglish>

Chapter 2284

Denver Hamilton stood up while covering his neck before showing a cruel smile.

Since he suffered great losses this time, he had to find some way to get even.

Besides, although Harvey York had Edwin Mendoza's support this time, the same might not happen again in the future.

Seeing the staff members bleeding profusely, Harvey coldly exclaimed, "Touch them again if you dare."

Bang!

Before Edwin could even talk, Sarah immediately kicked a staff member down to the ground.

A playful yet scornful expression then leaked out of her face at the same time.

“So what if I touch them? What can you even do if I kick them down one at a time?”

Swoosh!

Before Sarah’s voice dissipated, Harvey took a step forward and came right toward her in an instant.

Slap!

Sarah stood frozen in place. She wanted to take action, but before she could do anything, her eyes blacked out after feeling a sharp pain on her face. She was lying flat on the ground after getting slapped in the face.

The entire crowd was in shock. Nobody thought that Harvey was actually this strong, knocking Sarah down to the ground after closing in on her instantly.

After all, she was the king of all Italy’s King of Arms and also Denver's personal bodyguard!

Sarah covered her face while showing utter disbelief. Her left hand was instinctively going for the firearm on her waist.

But before she could even do that, Harvey immediately kicked her in the stomach.

Bang!

Sarah's strength dissipated along with the loud bang.

"What can I do?"

Harvey stepped on Sarah's beautiful face and subjected more force every passing second.

"What do you think I can do?!"

"I can cripple you right now if I want to!"

Bang!

Harvey sent Sarah flying with his kick. Her entire body was slammed into a wall, and she had no strength even to crawl back out.

“The people are here. Where’s the money?”

Harvey squinted at Denver, who was covering his neck with a cold expression.

Denver’s eyes frantically twitched. He knew he would be in a bad situation to go against Harvey, so he took out his phone and fiddled with it for a moment.

Ding!

Teresa Thompson took out her phone to have a look after it rang. She was completely frozen after seeing the transaction message.

She never thought that she would get her final payment this easily after failing to get it for so long.

“Let’s go!”

Harvey had no intention to spout nonsense. He turned around and indifferently left the scene with Teresa.

Edwin gestured with a wave of his hand. His subordinates then lifted the staff members and left with them.

Bang!

“Bastard!

“This damn bastard!

“Motherf*cker!”

Not long after Harvey and the others left, sounds of things being smashed and relentless screaming could be heard from the hall where Denver was.

***

After leaving the private club, Teresa and her staff members were sent to the best hospital in Las Vegas to be treated under Edwin's arrangement.

When everything was appropriately handled, Edwin then respectfully walked toward Harvey.

“Everything’s been handled smoothly, CEO York.

“Why are you here in Las Vegas all of a sudden? You should’ve called me first.”

Harvey smiled without giving an answer.

“I asked you to investigate something else before. Do you have any leads?”

After encountering a car chase, among other series of events after entering the country, Harvey contacted Edwin so he could investigate the matter.

After all, Edwin was a powerful character in Las Vegas. With him around, things would be way easier than imagined.

That was why Edwin rushed to the rescue at that opportune time.

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2285

Edwin Mendoza chuckled after hearing Harvey York's words.

“Of course I do.”

He then sent a few documents for Harvey to peruse using his phone.

“Chief Instructor, after getting information from the immigration department and the connections from the underworld, I confirmed that these people aren't from Las Vegas at all.

“They came from Hong Kong's Briewood.”

“Hong Kong? Briewood?” said Harvey after some thought.

“Is it the Leo family or the Flynn family then?”

“Neither, but people from Briewood have no sense of justice. With the right amount of money, they'll do anything.

“As for the sniper from the Sky Casino-Temple, I sent people to investigate a few suspicious spots. Other than a fox mask and an abandoned sniper rifle, there are currently no other leads.

“The items are already sent to Las Vegas Police Station for further inspection, but I suspect that we won't find anything anyway. Since the enemy left the evidence on-site, they must be sure we won't get anything out of them.”

“A fox mask?”

Harvey frowned slightly.

“Where is it? Send it to me.”

Edwin dialed a number. Soon after, a sealed box was delivered over.

Harvey opened the box and stared at the fox mask inside while contemplating the situation.

At the same time, he caught a whiff of a faint fragrance.

***

After telling Edwin to ensure the safety of Teresa Thompson and the others, Harvey then left on his own.

Edwin was still needed to investigate Lilian Yates' kidnapping and the sniper incident since he had a big influence in Las Vegas.

On the other hand, Denver Hamilton was completely ignored for the time being.

There would be no trouble if the third young master knew when to stop.

But if Denver still had other plans, Harvey wouldn't mind seeing how bad the Hamilton family could get before completely destroying them.

When Harvey returned to the Arcburn villa district, he saw that Mandy Zimmer was already back.

Even though he didn't exactly know how Mandy's situation was, she was already lying down after seeming extremely tired.

Harvey had no intention to disturb her either. After cooking a plate of noodles for himself, he then found another room and turned in for the night.

On the next day, early in the morning, Harvey went jogging at the seaside area while he was looking to buy a local special breakfast for Mandy.

Not long after Harvey left, police sirens were echoing outside the villa. Dozens of police cars stopped at the entrance.

Bang!

Before Mandy's bodyguard even walked up, the door was already kicked down.

“Search! Search the entire place!”

“Dig the thing out if you have to!”

A dozen people in uniform spread out and searched every single room. Sounds of things breaking could be heard everywhere.

After getting a change of clothes, Mandy's face darkened after seeing a man crossing his arms in the distance.

“Fourth Young Master, what's the meaning of calling the cops here to smash up my place early in the morning?”

A man wearing golden framed glasses, who bore a slight resemblance to Denver, stood at the entrance. He was the fourth young master, Jax Hamilton himself.

A few people with traditional clothing were following behind him as well.

A woman in a red dress walked up aggressively and slapped Mandy across her face.

“You know full well what happened!

“Mandy? The fourth young master treated you so well! How dare you do such a heinous thing?!

“You people from Country H are all thieves!”

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2286

Mandy Zimmer was completely dumbfounded by the slap, and she couldn't come back to her senses for a while.

The inspectors around her ignored everything and kept rummaging everywhere.

“What’s the meaning of this, Fourth Young Master?”

“Didn’t we have a good chat just yesterday?”

“Why...?”

Mandy didn't want to turn against those people immediately. She subconsciously looked at Jax Hamilton, who was standing not far away from everyone.

Slap slap!

The woman in a red dress slapped Mandy twice more while pulling her hair.

“Stop pretending, Mandy!

“Fourth Young Master showed you the casino license yesterday, and then it went missing on the very same day!

“If it’s not you, who else is it?!”

Mandy replied with a hoarse tone, “It’s gone?! The one that the ninth branch worked with the Fourth Young Master?!”

“Stop playing innocent!

“Fourth Young Master has been so sincere to you, and this is how you treat him in return?!

“You’re an animal! I swear to God that I, Ellie Palmer, will beat you to death today!”

Ellie clearly had proper training previously. That was why her slaps were particularly ruthless.

Even though Mandy was different than before, she still stumbled backward because of the slaps.

Slap!

“Hurry up and confess already!”

Slap!

“Show us the casino license!”

Slap!

“Don’t you know shame, Thief?!”

A wretched expression was showing on Ellie’s face. Her beautiful face was filled with hatred, jealousy, and mixed feelings.

She grabbed onto Mandy’s collar and kept slapping her around.

“Do you even know what does the casino license represents?!”

“Let me tell you something. If you don’t give the Fourth Young Master his casino license back, I’ll make sure you stay behind bars your entire life!”

Ellie was boiling with anger at that moment.

After Mandy met with Jax the day before, he adored Mandy and even wanted to pursue her.

Although it was said that all princes and young masters are quite unconventional, as Jax’s fiancée, Ellie would definitely not allow this to happen.

She was looking for a chance to deal with Mandy. Now that the opportunity had shown itself, she would obviously do her best to take it.

Mandy, who had no strength even to protect herself, was no match for Ellie. Her bodyguards were all taken down as well, and that was why she had no choice but to keep enduring the slaps across her face.

Blood was quickly trickling out the corner of her mouth.

“Fourth Young Master, M’lady, we found the casino license!”

A man in uniform came running with a plastic bag in hand. A beautiful badge the size of a palm was stored inside.

The casino license!

The legendary casino license!

It was said that there were only six total casino licenses throughout Las Vegas. People with those badges could open casinos within the border.

That was why even a single casino license was worth an entire chest filled with treasure.

With a casino license, anyone could do whatever and however they pleased in Las Vegas.

And on this particular badge, the number four was elegantly carved on it.

This was the badge the government of Las Vegas gave to Jax.

Mandy's expression frantically changed.

“How is this even possible? How did it end up in my house?!”

Slap!

Ellie took a step forward and yet again slapped Mandy across her face.

“You b*tch! You're still not confessing after we caught you red-handed?!”