

Chapter 2651

“Let me tell you something: I came here not just to represent the Longmen’s Law Enforcement, but also the entirety of Longmen!”

“Why’s a branch leader like you even trying to show off?!”

“You’ll kneel if I demand you to!”

Even on the other side of the phone, Ken’s ugly wretchedness could be felt.

“Right. I got people to clean Irene up.”

“When she’s all nice and clean, I’ll cherish her dearly.”

“You haven’t slept with a woman, have you?”

“Why don’t you come watch?”

“Ahahaha!”

Ken's laugh was wild and arrogant, hateful to listen to.

He never cared if Carrie finished her mission or not, nor was he paying attention to Harvey's actions.

For him, a branch leader like Harvey was simply a puppet that could be easily manipulated.

With his identity, he could deal with Harvey however he pleased. Even if Harvey died in the process, nobody would dare say a word about it.

Naturally, Harvey's threats were naturally harmless to him.

After all, he could kill Harvey at any time.

"I do hope you can stay this arrogant when you meet your doom, Ken," Harvey replied casually, unmoved by Ken's mockery.

"I wouldn't want to see you begging for mercy on your knees when the time comes.”

“Me? Beg for mercy? Ha!”

Ken’s tone of utter disbelief could be heard, along with the giggles of several women.

“Who and where do you think I am?”

“I am in charge of Longmen’s Hong Kong and Las Vegas branch.”

“Whoever opposes me will die!”

“Tell that b*tch to clean up faster! I can’t wait any longer!” Ken yelled impatiently.

“Aaaaah!”

Irene’s fearful screams could be heard. She must’ve been slapped in the face after trying her hardest to resist.

Sorrow, pain, and despair could be heard in her voice.

She didn't expect such a thing to actually befall her after getting dragged away, especially for someone with her identity.

Carrie, who had her limbs broken, was filled with glee when she heard Irene's horrified screams.

She had been completely crippled, but she was still hoping that Harvey would end up the same way.

Carrie would only be satisfied after Harvey tasted the true pain of this world.

"Right, I forgot to tell you something. I just had a few blue pills. It'll work after half an hour, you know?"

"Don't you like saving damsels in distress?"

"I'll give you half an hour, Harvey."

"If you can't save dear Ms. Johnson by then, her virginity will be gone forever!”

“If you don’t like it, then come kill me!”

“Do you dare?!”

“I’m at the Longmen Budokan!”

“Come on, then! Kill me!”

Ken’s companions burst out in laughter and screeched, “Yeah! Come kill us!”

“We’re soooo scared!”

“Ahahaha!”

Harvey hung up the phone, still emotionless.

“We need to hurry. Since someone wants to die so badly, I’ll have to send them on their way.”

Edwin stepped on the pedal at Harvey’s words.

“You’re pretty good at fighting, but you dare take action against Young Master Bauer?”

“You must be dreaming! You’re insane!”

Carrie laughed coldly despite her miserable state.

“Let’s not talk about the hundreds of disciples from Longmen’s Law Enforcement. Each is scarier than the other, but Young Master Bauer has some powerful Kings of Arms guarding him!”

“Many tried to oppose him, but they all died!”

Chapter 2652

“You dare look for Young Master Bauer for trouble? Are you tired of living?!”

“Do you have a death wish?!”

“Let me tell you something! If you know what’s best for you, you’ll put my limbs back in the right place and beg for mercy while you kneel. That way, I can at least say something nice for you.”

“If not, everyone in your family dies!”

Without deigning to answer Carrie, Harvey swung the back of his palm across her face. He stayed aloof all the while, face as blank as ever.

“Aaaagh!”

Carrie wailed in pain, and her body trembled. A terrifying agony filled her body, causing her immense pain.

Minutes later, Harvey and Edwin arrived at the Longmen Budokan.

They stepped out of the car in haste. Edwin hoisted Carrie around with one hand, expressionless, lugging her around like a sack of flour.

The entire Budokan was occupied by the Longmen's Law Enforcement at this very moment.

When Harvey and Edwin got out of the car, they only saw disciples from the same organization.

The disciples froze slightly after seeing Harvey's appearance.

“How dare you hurt Senior Kennedy, Harvey?! Do you wish to die?” someone instinctively yelled.

Harvey wasted no time to swing his palm forward.

Slap!

“Whoever blocks my path, I’ll kill every single one of them!”

While the disciple was sent flying, Harvey went up the escalator made of bluestone and headed towards the main building.

Everyone else froze when they saw him.

Someone could be heard chuckling wretchedly nearby.

“Do you think this is Mordu’s Longmen branch, Harvey?! Do you think you still have authority here?!”

“You had a small upper hand before, so now you’re treating Longmen’s Law Enforcement like nothing?!”

“Since Young Master Bauer’s here, killing you is no different than killing a bunch of nobodies!”

“Go ahead! Since you’ve attacked one of ours, we’ll just send you on your way!”

Several disciples pulled out their weapons and pounced forward, smirking menacingly as they gathered to attack Harvey.

Slap, slap, slap!

Harvey ignored them and simply swung his right palm forward.

In just a few moments, the disciples were immediately sent flying.

Some were still struggling after landing on the ground, wanting to get back up, while others let out their final breaths and no longer moved an inch.

Carrie was heartbroken to see the carnage. s

These were good fighters of Longmen's Law Enforcement. They were her comrades, her good brothers and sisters. Yet, they couldn't even block a single hit against Harvey.

"You're a disciple of Longmen! How could you do something like this?!" she screeched.

"You'll die a horrible death!"

"Young Master Bauer will make sure you die without a proper burial place!"

Crack!

Harvey wasted no time and stepped on the neck of the disciple who was trying to sneak up on him. He then glanced back at Carrie with a disdainful gaze.

This clown still has the audacity to prattle about being in the same organization? Does she have any shame?’

Three experts from Longmen’s Law

Enforcement appeared from the shadows at this very moment. They pounced forward as soon as they noticed that Harvey was distracted.

The shine of their weapons could be seen as they rushed towards Harvey. It was truly a terrifying sight.

Slap, slap, slap!

Harvey didn’t even bother looking as he swung the back of his palm around, a fierce aura emanating from him.

The three who had jumped at Harvey in the cold wind were sent smashing into the walls before managing to land a single hit on him. They fell flat on the ground, blood flowing all over their injured bodies.

Chapter 2653

Against the calm and collected Harvey, these crazed disciples were no match.

As soon as someone rushed toward Harvey, they were all casually brushed aside without so much as a blink.

In under a single minute, the so-called strongest disciples of Longmen's Law Enforcement were all beaten down.

Not only was Harvey completely unscathed, his shirt wasn't even touched.

Carrie was filled with utter despair. She suddenly understood why Harvey was so fierce and unrelenting.

He was peerless. He was invincible.

He was his own biggest support.

He wasn't simply trying to intimidate others when he claimed he would kill anyone blocking his path. He was actually capable of doing it.

Boom!

Soon, the gates of the Budokan were kicked open. The disciples inside all rushed forward in a mad frenzy, wanting to tear Harvey to shreds. Some even had firearms with safeties off prepared.

Yet, it was still futile.

Horrific wails of pain rang out as Harvey moved past the crowd like smoke. A few people struggled, but they were eventually sent flying from his vicious attacks.

There was only a single word that could describe Harvey then: invincible.

He was simply invincible!

Harvey finally arrived at the hall. Still emotionless, he kicked the elegant wooden door down, as before making his way inside.

As soon as the door was kicked open, an elderly man with a robe pounced forward at lightning speed.

The man scoffed, leveling Harvey with a cold gaze. His hands were equipped with a pair of metal claws.

“How arrogant! I’ll send you on your way, young nan!” he announced, menacing.

With a fierce howl, his claws came swinging down like burning meteors, aimed right at Harvey’s heart.

His aura was terrifying. Murderous intent seeped from his every movement.

He was an expert, no doubt!

A man on par with a King of Arms!

Crack!

But the moment he pounced forward, he felt his neck tighten. Harvey's right hand was already on his neck before he could do anything.

The expert trembled, and his eyes twitched. His confidence was quickly replaced with fear.

Not only did the sudden action shock him, but he was also terrified beyond his wits. He didn't even see how everything happened.

The speed of that hand went far beyond his wildest imagination.

Crack!

Harvey wasted no time and crushed the expert's neck in an instant.

The man fell limp on the ground, fear and resentment on his face as he breathed his last.

He never imagined that he, who had never lost a single fight, couldn't even lay a finger on Harvey.

Harvey didn't even bat him an eye, acting as if he had killed an insignificant nobody.

Carrie shivered at the terrifying sight. That was an Elder from Longmen's Law Enforcement, as well as one of her teachers!

She didn't expect her very own teacher to be powerless against Harvey.

Suddenly, Carrie understood.

In the first place. Longmen's Law Enforcement had made their greatest mistake by angering Harvey.

The moment they challenged Harvey at that evening banquet in Mordu...

They had already committed a grave error!

Harvey went past the door, and was greeted by an elegant hallway somewhere in the distance. The hall's entrance was located beyond that.

Chapter 2654

Many disciples were guarding the hallway, standing on alert.

They were stunned to see Harvey, not at all expecting his appearance.

But before they could react, Harvey made his move and casually swung his palm. There were loud crisp sounds, and the disciples were sent flying before smashing painfully on the ground.

They were simply nobodies slapped around by Harvey on his way to Ken. Not only were they utterly powerless, but no one could be sure if they survived Harvey's attack or otherwise.

Carrie was both heartbroken and horrified at the same time.

On one hand, she didn't think that the disciples of Longmen's Law Enforcement would be this useless. On another hand, she didn't know that Harvey would be this ruthless.

Carrie mustered her last bit of courage to scream, "You'll regret this, Harvey!"

"You'll definitely regret this!"

"You'll pay for doing this to us disciples!"

Harvey ignored Carrie's crazed barking and strode to the deeper parts of the hallway before kicking the door open.

Bang!

The door flew off its hinges and slammed right at the middle of the hall.

Immediately, the sounds of laughter and wine glasses clinking vanished.

Many men and women looked over with glasses in their hands, stunned.

“I’m Harvey. I’m here now,” Harvey said without a change in expression, his voice like a breeze among clouds.

Everyone stared at the man who had just kicked the door down, confused.

Many of them didn’t know what that name meant, nor did they realize what it meant for Harvey to bust through all of those guards before showing up here.

When Harvey barged in and stopped their fun, they shot him glares full of disdain and ridicule.

This was Ken Bauer’s territory!

To top it off, Ken found himself an innocent and pure woman!

He had a few blue pills so he could have his fill and enjoy himself...

But at this very moment, someone actually had the audacity to stop him!

This man had a death wish!

Someone eventually figured out that Harvey was the man who had called Ken before. Realizing this, the audience's disdain deepened.

At the same time, they were eager to enjoy a good show.

They grew more and more exhilarated when they saw that the show was about to start.

Someone recognized Harvey as the man who had caused such a big storm in Hong Kong and Las Vegas recently.

In their eyes...

It was bad enough that Harvey dealt with the useless young masters.

But now, he was clearly digging his own grave for coming after Ken Bauer!

“So you’re Harvey.”

“You’re pretty bold. I like you.”

A blonde-haired young man with a somewhat ill disposition sat in the middle of the hall, squinting his eyes at Harvey.

He crossed his legs and sized up Harvey afterwards.

“I thought you could only talk big. I didn’t think you’d actually deliver.”

“How about this? Grovel for me three whole times, and I’ll forgive you.”

“Maybe I’ll be in a better mood to let you play with some of my women. I’ll let you get some experience. How’s that sound?”

Harvey calmly glanced at the blonde man. He didn’t know Ken, but judging from the high and mighty attitude, this blonde must’ve been the man Harvey was looking for.

Judging from the arrogant and playful tone, Harvey was almost sure of it.

On the way here, George had already sent Harvey all the information about Ken.
