

Chapter 2797

Harvey York was indifferent when he left the garden villa.

He knew that his words greatly impacted Marcel York.

Marcel probably never thought of letting Queenie York take his position.

After bringing this up, if Marcel were to make the decision, there would surely be a big spectacle playing on the day of Grandma York's birthday.

Harvey was not interested in that event, but even he wanted to ask Selena Judd for an invitation for that occasion.

After all, such a big show could not be witnessed from just anywhere.

Right when Harvey was pondering over the situation, an unregistered Toyota Alphard suddenly stopped beside him.

After the car door opened, a short-haired woman in a uniform walked out with a cold expression on her face.

She was holding a laptop with many pictures of Harvey inside.

After comparing Harvey to the pictures, she calmly asked, "You're Harvey, yes?"

"The Third Lord wants to see you.

"Please get inside the car."

"The Third Lord?"

Harvey curiously glanced at the woman. Judging from the creases on her uniform, she had probably been waiting here for quite a while...

Just for Harvey to show up.

“Which Third Lord?”

“Third Lord York, Noah York himself, of course!” exclaimed the woman coldly.

“Noah York? The head of the third house?”

“Julian’s father?”

Harvey was perplexed.

“Doesn’t he want me dead? What is he planning here?”

“Is he looking for a chance to finish me off?”

The woman twitched her eyes.

“Third Lord York means no harm. He only wants to have a drink with you,” she replied quietly.

Harvey smiled.

“I highly doubt it. Though, I am curious as to what he will say at such a crucial moment...”

“Lead the way.”

Harvey did not immediately reject the offer.

Since he was already involved with the Yorks of Hong Kong, he was destined to cross paths with powerful characters like them.

If Noah took action, it was only appropriate for Harvey to do the same.

The woman did not say another word after hearing Harvey's response. She gestured to Harvey for him to get inside the car.

Soon after, the car then drove on the quiet streets.

About half an hour later, the car stopped in front of an office building at the edge of downtown.

The woman took Harvey to the top floor before knocking on the doors of the CEO's office.

The office was not very big. It was only about a thousand square-feet wide.

But in a land of gold like Hong Kong, the building alone would cost at least millions of dollars.

And judging from its exquisite decorations, the place was quite the eye-catcher.

Well-known paintings were hung on the walls. The ceramics and ivories surrounding the place were also all quite valuable.

The yellow flower pear wood couch from Stayport had a faint refreshing smell to it as well, captivating the people around it.

Harvey casually sat on the couch and crossed his legs before fiddling with a South American cigar he picked up from the table.

The woman seemed slightly enraged before she went further inside the room.

“Third Lord York, he’s here,” said the woman quietly.

“Good. That’s good.”

A heartfelt chuckle could be heard coming from the direction of the office.

After a moment, a man in his fifties wearing gold frame glasses and a couture suit walked out with a cup of coffee in his hand.

He seemed elegant but fierce at the same time. Judging from first glance, he was quite the upperclassman.

Chapter 2798

The man was none other than Noah York, the head of the third house himself.

Noah walked to the living room and squinted at Harvey York for a while before he said, “Sir York, right? You’re pretty good.”

Harvey chuckled before lighting up the cigar in his hand.

“You’re too kind, Third Lord York.

“A man like me has no place to impress a big character such as you.

“I’m unworthy of accepting compliments at all.”

Noah’s eyes squinted slightly. He did not expect Harvey was this showy.

Noah hid his surprised gaze before casually sitting in front of Harvey.

“The prince of South Light at such a young age ...” said Noah while sizing up Harvey.

“You managed to climb the ranks of Longmen in such a short time too...

“I didn’t even have such achievements when I was your age.

“Among the younger generation, you are pretty impressive.

“You are outmatching even my ungrateful son at this point!”

Harvey shrugged after hearing those words. He knew that the show was coming...

“I also heard quite a lot of rumors about you.”

Noah gestured to the woman to leave before squinting at Harvey once again.

“For example, you only managed to kill off

Miyata Shinosuke because of the help from Nanyang God of War. You also sabotaged the Sword Saint's ability to fight before that.

“Akio Yashiro was forced away by you, but it was later revealed that Dean Cobb was also at the scene.

“I'm curious. Are you really that powerful? Or you are only this bold because of Dean's support?”

Noah was showing a piercing gaze.

He squinted at Harvey, as if he was trying to see through his heart.

Harvey chuckled.

“You're an upperclassman yourself, Third Lord York. Instead, why don't you tell me what's on your mind?”

“The Yorks of Hong Kong is one of the five ancient hidden families. I'm not the lord, but I do have quite the experience," replied Noah calmly.

"Gods of War at such a young age are extremely hard to come by. People like these are born during historical moments!

"In Country H, only the Chief Inspector fits the description.

"The others mean nothing.

"I read your documents. You were never enlisted into the Sword Camp. That means you're not a God of War brought up by the Chief Inspector himself!

"And if I guess correctly, you're either a King of Arms or a peak King of Arms. Am I correct?"

Noah showed a determined look on his face.

In his eyes, even if Dean were there to lend aid,

Harvey would need at least the strength of a King of Arms to defeat Miyata.

If not, nothing would make sense.

Harvey glanced at Noah, full of interest, and replied, "You have a keen eye. I'm impressed."

After looking at Harvey's indifferent look, Noah was certain he was correct.

"Looks like I'm right after all.

"So, the Nanyang God of War is supporting you...

"But have you thought of something, Sir York? No matter how strong that man is, he's still just a man from a small country who could collapse at any second.

"He can protect you for a short while, but do you think he can keep this up forever?

"Also, it's not good for you to act arrogantly just because you have his support, don't you think?"

Chapter 2799

“What? Did you call me over just to lecture me?”
asked Harvey York calmly.

“You’re telling me to humble myself?”

After hearing the distant tone in Harvey’s words, Noah York comfortably leaned on the couch as he squinted.

‘A King of Arms from Country H relying on a man from Nanyang to support him...

‘Does he really think he’s a big shot or something?’

Noah instantly had opinions about Harvey. He reached out his hand to make a gesture.

The doors opened soon after, revealing three bodyguards in black suits carrying a plate each.

Noah then squinted at Harvey.

“I’m not here to lecture you today, nor am I here to take revenge.

“What I want to do will benefit both of us. It’s a win-win situation.

“We’ll surely be satisfied by the outcome of this.”

Noah snapped his fingers, signaling the first bodyguard to reveal the wooden plate covered by a red cloth. An antiquarian book was revealed inside.

“This is an ancient text from one of the sacred martial arts training grounds. There’s only half of it, but it’s enough for you to rise as a God of War.

“Consider this as a meeting gift with my sincerity. Please, don’t hold back.”

The bodyguard then set the wooden plate in front of Harvey indifferently.

Harvey squinted at the book. He was pretty impressed by Noah's generosity.

A rich person was definitely better off compared to ordinary people, after all.

Even though the third house was considered the worst among the five houses, their wealth was still unimaginable.

"This is a meeting gift? How generous of you!" said Harvey while showing a warm smile.

"I told you, this is a win-win situation," Noah chuckled.

Then, he waved his hand before the second wooden plate revealed a red real estate certificate.

Noah picked up the certificate and flipped it around before handing it over to Harvey.

Harvey squinted at the certificate and asked, “This isn’t for free now, is it?”

“Smart!”

Noah raised his thumb.

“Let me tell you what this is.

“This is a villa by the Five Virtues Temple. A treasured place for all people who train in martial arts.

“It’s said that the spirit of Heaven and Earth is gathered here. If you stay here, you’ll definitely see an improvement in your skill.

“This villa is no less than a hundred and fifty million dollars. Some even consider it to be priceless.”

“And what would you like me to trade for it?”

“I want you to testify that Julian York didn’t go against Lady Judd last night and that he only went and provoked you.

“If you’re willing to make peace and not hold Julian responsible for anything, this is all yours.”

Harvey froze before he burst out laughing. He was not too surprised about the deal.

Julian was Noah’s baby boy, after all.

Only Julian could make this man humble himself while giving gifts left and right.

If Harvey accepted the deal, then it would mean that Marcel York’s decision was utterly unfair.

Julian would have a chance to be reinstated and regain total control.

Obviously, it was beneficial for Noah to trade off things that he never needed in the first place for his interests!

For a person like Noah, he did not care about some ancient text or a mere villa!

The throne of the Yorks of Hong Kong was the only true goal.

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2800

Simply put, Noah York did not want Julian York's future to end because of this one incident.

He was already prepared to take action as Vince York's plan was foiled.

"I know it'll be hard for you to do because of Selena Judd.

"But you're already this close to becoming a God of War. You'll have a new alliance with me as well!

"And all you need to do is to give a simple testimony!

"There's no better timing than right now!"

Harvey chuckled without replying immediately. He looked at the final plate and said, "So, what's this last plate for then?"

“What’s in there?”

The best trump cards are always left last.

Harvey wanted to know what else Noah could offer, as well as the conditions he was going to demand.

“Here are ten equity transfer contracts.”

Noah lifted the cloth himself before throwing the contracts in front of Harvey’s table.

“These shares are currently from the ten biggest companies in Hong Kong’s market. You’ll be able to become a top-rated family instantly.

“You’ll become the fifth master of Hong Kong!”

Harvey could not help but clap his hands.

“Impressive! Truly impressive!” he calmly said.

“These shares alone amount to more than a billion dollars!

“But I don’t understand. What do you want from me in exchange for this then?”

“Simple.”

Noah smiled.

“I have evidence of what happened ten years ago.

“Other than the third house, this evidence can prove the involvement of all the other houses!

“That’s why I cannot be the one who leaks it.

“But, I do hope that through your hand, you’ll be able to bring it up in front of my fourth brother and his wife!

“Once everything’s done, you’ll become the fifth master of Hong Kong!”

Harvey’s gaze lit up after hearing those words. He immediately realized something.

Noah was trying to drag Vince down!

If the so-called evidence were to get to Selena's hands, there would be a bloodbath between the head house and the fourth house.

And Noah's goal was to incite utter chaos within the family.

That way, his baby boy would be able to rise to power instead of being Vince's lackey.

Without a second thought, Harvey could not help but hold his palms together with a smile on his face.

"An impressive plan, Third Lord York.

"I was the one who almost got your son killed...

"But not only are you revealing so much to me, but you're also trying to use me as a stepping stone so your son can take the position as the lord of the family..."

“Judging from this alone, you’re clearly way better than your son!

“I know that Julian has no right to take that position, but you’re different.”

The subordinates around the room frowned after hearing Harvey’s words of slight derision. He was just too disrespectful toward Noah.

Though, Noah did not mind the tone at all.

“I’m getting old. I won’t be good at that.

“And besides, being the lord is way more stressful compared to being the father of the lord.

“It shouldn’t be hard for me to keep you safe as the father of the lord now, right?”

Noah walked up and tenderly tapped Harvey’s shoulder with an indifferent expression.

“I can guarantee you’ll have all the glory and riches that would last your entire life!” <sup>2</sup>

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>