

Chapter 2817

Harvey didn't say a single word. He only stood behind Queenie quietly, as if he was her bodyguard.

He wanted to see how this so-called capable woman would control the people around her.

Queenie ignored the crowd's gaze completely and took the CEO's seat.

"My name is Queenie York. I'm sure you know who I am, so I'll cut to the chase."

"I hosted this meeting today to tell you all this: the lord himself has appointed me to be in this position.

"Everyone here has a deep connection with the Yorks of Hong Kong."

"I hope we'll all help each other and stick together at any cost.”

“I, Queenie, will never treat any of you poorly.”

“Another thing. Let me introduce you all to another person, Harvey York.”

“He has no position within the company. He’s just a consultant.”

“But his words are my own.”

“His requests are the same as mine!”

“If you go against him, you go against me.”

“Understood?!”

Queenie’s resolve had taken control of the crowd. Not only did she reveal her greatest support, she even gave Harvey an official title.

Safe to say, that this wasn’t something an ordinary woman could even think of.

The crowd grew a little quieter as everyone's gaze shifted toward Harvey.

The people within the company weren't that close to the Yorks of Hong Kong. They were all family, but there were still boundaries between both sides.

When they heard Harvey's name, they only felt a sense of familiarity. They couldn't remember where they saw this man, though.

In their eyes, Harvey was just some kept man.

He only got lucky because he was kept by Queenie, of all people...

And that he knew how to satisfy Queenie well.

If not, Queenie wouldn't have given him the title of consultant while saying all those things.

While some gazed at Harvey with a degree of admiration, others couldn't help but get a little jealous of him.

The handsome man in the Givenchy couture suit was now glaring resentfully at Harvey, as if Harvey had stolen his plaything.

After Queenie's introduction, Harvey reluctantly took a step forward and greeted the crowd.

"Hello, I'm Harvey. I'll be your consultant from now on. If there's something you need help with, just give me a call."

"Pleased to meet all of you."

"Enough with this nonsense, CEO York!"

"You hosted this meeting to tell us that you have a kept man? Do you want him to ride on top of our shoulders?!" The man in the Givenchy suit spat disdainfully as he smoked his cigar.

"The Loxus Consortium works outside of the Yorks of Hong Kong. We can operate independently!”

“We’re known for our hard work!”

“It’s fine if you want us to listen to you, and it’s fine if you want us to listen to your kept man...”

“But in turn, you need to show us your strength!”

“Our company suffered losses because of you. How will you take responsibility for that?!”

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2818

The man in the Givenchy suit put on an intimidating expression.

“If you can’t take responsibility for all this, then I’m afraid your position might not stay yours for long.”

“This kept man here won’t survive for much longer, either!”

Harvey glanced at the man in the Givenchy suit, curious. What a fierce man!

He was already disrespecting Queenie on her very first meeting!

Was he not scared of dying in the hands of the Yorks?

After all, Queenie’s identity was still ever present. That was a fact no one could ignore.

After flipping through the files, Harvey finally figured out who the man was. His name was Dante Castro, and he was the marketing manager of the company.

At the same time, he had quite an interesting identity. He was said to be the son of Cory's butler, and was raised under his wing. He was considered to be Cory's trusted subordinate as well.

Even Vince would have to be polite to him.

With this identity, it was only natural for Dante to be this fearless when facing the Yorks of Hong Kong.

Unless Dante was stupid enough to go against Marcel, nobody in the company would dare go against him.

This was the main reason why he was so furious about Queenie's sudden rise to power.

“You have to be more specific, Manager Castro,” Queenie said with a frown.

She naturally knew who Dante was.

“I just got here. How did I do such a thing?”

“Oh? You don’t even know what you did, yet you’re still here as the executive CEO?”

Dante’s face was cold.

“I had a deal with Mr. Ishikawa not long ago to manage the products of the Ishikawa Corporation within Country H.”

“Everyone knows the company focuses on household appliances. Their products have spanned all across the globe.”

“If we work with them, our company will work its way into Country H! The glory of our family will be revived once again!”

“We’ve discussed everything. We even have the contract ready!”

“But two hours ago, Mr. Ishikawa discovered the company’s personnel changes.”

“He heard about the executive CEO who came out of nowhere.”

“Mr. Ishikawa said this was disrespectful to the Island Nations, because they weren’t informed beforehand...”

“Thus, they stopped the deal.”

“They figured Loxus Consortium is a company that could change at any moment, and that such a company has no ability to broaden their business.”

“Simply put, because of you, we lost our best chance to expand in Country H!”

“This is a huge loss!”

“This is clearly your fault!”

“You’re the one who caused all this! Not only are you trying to push the blame, but you’re also introducing your kept man as our consultant?!”

“Don’t you think you’re letting the entire company down?!”

Dante put on a righteous look, as if he was sure that Queenie was the one who caused all this damage.

<https://t.me/HarveyYorkEnglish>

Chapter 2819

At Dante's words, the higher ups in the room had playful smiles on their faces.

They knew he was using the opportunity to bring Queenie down.

After all, everyone knew that Ishikawa Corporation had the best selling electronic appliances.

Because of its cheap price, the products were sold all over the entire world.

As they were trying to get into Country H's market, they were looking for a local distributor.

Even Cory's secretary wasn't good enough to make a deal.

Since that was the case, then surely Dante had no chance to gain the corporation's favor.

Even if he did, the Ishikawa Corporation wouldn't use such a poor excuse to cancel the deal.

After Queenie took position, it would be plausible to make her take the blame instead.

After all, who else could take the blame? She had quite a high status, after all.

The higher ups were all on the same side as Dante.

Nobody would stand up for Queenie.

Everyone looked at Queenie with faint smiles, waiting to see how she would deal with Dante's show of strength.

If she had no way to resolve the situation, then her position would be robbed away from her immediately.

Harvey calmly watched the show without saying a word.

Queenie glanced briefly at Dante as she flipped through her phone for more info. Naturally, she didn't believe what Dante was saying at all.

However, Dante didn't give Queenie any breathers. He crossed his legs and smoked his cigar, and then added arrogantly, "What? Are you looking for help online?"

"You can't even deal with your subordinates on your own?!"

"What a joke!"

"Even if you can't deal with the problem, at least give us an apology or something!"

"You've ruined months of our blood, sweat, and tears! Not only are you damaging the company's interests, but you're also ruining the chance for glory for the Yorks of Hong Kong!"

"Not only should you apologize to our marketing team...”

“You need to apologize to the company and the Yorks!”

“At this point, you should just resign so we can minimize the damages!”

Dante gave a look. Several higher ups who were working together chuckled coldly.

“CEO York, we should talk about your resignation later. But right now, you should at least show us your sincerity.”

“Besides, you should compensate a little for Manager Castro. After all, he had worked extremely hard for the deal!”

“Right! The company lost a big opportunity to earn lots of money...”

“But for Manager Castro, he lost his chance to make a big achievement!”

“He might even be discredited because of this incident!”

“You have to take responsibility no matter what, CEO York!”

“You can’t just let us subordinates down like that!”

“We’ve been working our butts off for the company the entire time!”

“You people...”

Queenie frowned. So far, she had only gone up against princes and young masters. No matter how despicable they were, they still had limits.

But the people around her were experienced businessmen, who were extremely tough to deal with.

After being heckled this badly, even the high and mighty Queenie was at a loss.

Chapter 2820

Bang!

Before Queenie could say anything, Harvey picked up an ashtray and slammed it furiously on the table.

The loud bang froze the crowd completely. Even the higher ups who were running their mouths couldn't help but go silent.

After all, this was a meeting room. Everyone would usually only run their mouths, but nobody expected that someone would dare threaten the whole room by smashing an ashtray.

Before the higher ups could react, Harvey exclaimed coldly, "Bunch of useless idiots!"

"Every single one of you are higher ups of the company, but you can't even get a deal from a small company from the Island Nations?"

“The company kept you here for this crucial moment, but what happened? None of you can even complete such a simple task!”

“You idiots!”

“You people dress up all nice, filled to the brim with luxury items...”

“I’m sure you’re well-respected by many.”

“And, yet! Not only do you not care about your own company, but you’re also pushing blame when you’re the most needed!”

“What’s the point of you drunk f*cks being here?!”

“You can’t even make a simple deal with a small company, yet you question the executive CEO for this?! You want her to take responsibility for your mistakes?!”

“Why the f*ck are you even here?! To leech off of the company?!”

The higher ups were at a loss after Harvey's rebuke.

Even Queenie couldn't help but freeze in place.

She knew now why Harvey was able to constantly make Vince suffer.

The higher ups couldn't even come to their senses.

They didn't think that Harvey would dare go against everyone in the room.

At this point, Harvey was basically giving them a lecture.

“You think you have the right to talk to us just because you're being kept by this woman?!”

Dante came to his senses and pointed angrily at Harvey's nose.

“Let me tell you something! If...”

Slap!

Harvey wasted no time to slap Dante on the face.

A loud smack could be heard. Dante screamed in pain before slamming into the table, making for a truly a wretched sight.

The entire crowd slackened from shock, wondering if they were dreaming.

A few people even slapped themselves in the face to make sure they were awake.

Nobody expected the kept man to start insulting and hitting people here...

Most importantly, Dante of all people was the one hit!

Dante was royalty!

He was the son of Cory's butler!

'Does this kept man have a death wish?!'

Queenie was slightly dazed, but then regained her calm.

"You b*stard! How dare you hit me?!"

Dante rolled on the ground while covering his injured face.

"Are you braindead?! Or did you not hear what CEO York said?!"

"I'm the consultant. My will is her will!"

Harvey walked forward, emotionless and aloof.

"So what if I hit you?"

"You're just a manager and the son of someone's butler. Do you think you have the right to challenge the CEO just because you call yourself royalty?”

“Who gave you the courage to act this way?”

“Don’t you know how to respect your superiors?
Did nobody teach you that?!”

“The company gave you a high salary and position because of your contributions, not because of you making a fuss about nothing!”

“Do you understand me?!”

“Bunch of trash!”

Dante was boiling with anger.

“Did you call me trash?!”

“I’m sorry, but please don’t misunderstand me.
This isn’t personal.”

“Everyone sitting here is trash.”

Harvey still remained aloof as he said this. 3