

Chapter 2895

Ten o'clock at night. Nothing could be seen in the dark night sky.

Hong Kong was engulfed by darkness. Everywhere was covered in dark clouds.

It was as if a rainstorm was approaching. Truly, a worrisome sight.

Harvey entered the Yorks' garden villa after receiving Queenie's call stating that Marcel wanted to see him.

He went as soon as possible after hearing that.

After all, he had been staying in the garden villa for the past few days. Normally speaking, he would constantly bump into Marcel.

Queenie wouldn't have called if it wasn't anything important.

By the time he arrived, refreshments had already been prepared inside the villa's dining hall.

Marcel didn't move his utensils even after seeing Harvey arrive. He was holding a few pictures, and handed them to Harvey when Harvey approached.

Harvey nodded at Selena and Queenie, who were right in front of him, before turning to look at the pictures.

There were two people shown. One of them was a mixed-race woman mixed-race, and the other was a handsome young man.

Through the pictures alone, Harvey was still able to feel their fierce aura of elites.

The common man wouldn't dare stare into their eyes.

Harvey narrowed his eyes for a while, and then asked curiously, "Who are these two?"

"One of them is the fourth princess of The Empire," Marcel replied.

"The other is the baron of The Empire and the deputy commander of the Knights Templar, Jason Leo."

Harvey expressed his acknowledgement before turning his gaze to Queenie.

'One of them is your cheap fiance. The other's his mistress, I assume.'

"The two have already arrived at the Hong Kong International Airport just now."

"The four top families of Hong Kong and the other wealthy families were already planning to escort them with almost ten thousand guards."

Harvey was perplexed. Life was like a game of chess. He had only heard about Jason and the fourth princess from Aurora just this afternoon...

But he didn't think they'd arrive so soon.

"And?"

"Did he go to the Leo family?"

"After his strong comeback, did the Leo family kneel in front of him together with that old bat Melissa?"

Marcel chuckled bitterly.

"It would be fine if that was it. There would only be one more person fighting for Hong Kong's throne."

"But as soon as Jason went to the Leo family, he slapped Melissa away in an instant."

"At the same time, he's occupying the family's mountaintop villa and making it his base camp."

"Another thing. He ordered the people involved in defaming him six years ago to end their own lives as an apology."

"If not, he threatened to dig their ancestors out of the ground just to burn them up!"

Marcel was lamenting about the situation.

"He's not here for vengeance..."

"He's here to change Hong Kong and Las Vegas!"

Marcel handed a laptop to Harvey. The incident that happened six years ago was documented inside.

After reading through such an insane story, Harvey said, “This is basically Hong Kong’s Count of Monte Cristo! That said, the Yorks of Hong Kong weren’t involved with the situation. Why are you scared?”

“Scared?”

Marcel burst out laughing.

“I am scared, but not because of him killing people.”

“Quite a lot of wealthy families from Hong Kong had remained neutral this entire time.”

“If they decided to side with The Empire because of this situation, the people of Country H will be in grave danger ...”

Chapter 2896

If the wealthy families from both Hong Kong and Las Vegas were involved , Harvey wouldn't have that much interest in the situation.

But after Marcel pointed out Jason's true intentions of returning, Harvey couldn't help but frown.

Harvey had just kicked a bunch of Islanders out of Hong Kong and Las Vegas, but Jason had just to show up.

Judging from Jason's resume, he represented the western army who were invading Country H's bridgehead.

Harvey felt that he needed to put his guard up after realizing this fact.

"You want me to make a call and send him back to The Empire?" Harvey asked.

The Empire still owed him a favor. If Harvey wanted to, the eldest princess of The Empire, Victoria, would surely do as he asked.

But unless this was completely necessary, Harvey wouldn't want to ask for such a favor. If he didn't use his favors sparingly , he would have less chances to ask for another.

"Even if you manage to chase him off once, can you guarantee he won't come back again after a few years?"

“Besides, it won't be that easy to chase him out of here.”

Marcel had a clear head. His face was miserable.

“The western army feared Country H's rise.”

“Jason's own ambitions aside, he also came here to test Country H in place of the western army.”

“Unless we have the strength to kick him out of the city, we'd appear powerless in front of the western army if we use any other way.”

Harvey nodded.

“I get it now. Though it looks like Jason's making a strong comeback, in reality, the western army's just testing the waters here.”

“But with the Yorks of Hong Kong's power, it shouldn't be too hard for you to deal with Jason, right?”

“Even if he's the deputy commander of the Knights Templar, a God of War, and the baron of The Empire, he has no right to act pretentiously with you.”

Marcel rubbed his temples, feeling a slight headache.

“Jason's smart. He brought the fourth princess with him.”

“You should know that Hong Kong was governed by The Empire for almost a hundred years.”

“The wealthy families here have a deep connection with

The Empire..."

"The people from the Yorks of Hong Kong are included."

"Not to mention, Vince is probably behind Jason's comeback..."

"With his engagement with Queenie, it'd cause too much trouble if I try to settle this whole thing myself. One wrong step, and the Yorks of Hong Kong will be seen as completely heartless."

"That's why I can't do anything."

"Because of that, our family will probably just sit back and watch as Jason does his business."

"As for Vince, he'll probably finalize the engagement between Jason and Queenie."

"When that happens, his place as the lord of the family will finally be solidified."

"Even if the Yorks of Hong Kong aren't going to do anything about it, won't the four top families of Hong Kong retaliate when Jason's attacking them?"

"I saw the documents. All of them were involved with the scandal six years ago."

"Can't they just band together and deal with Jason completely?"

Marcel shook his head.

“Jason is a true God of War. There are two hundred descendants of Country H serving him to boot. Unless they mobilize the entire army, they’d be no match against Jason when it comes to military power.”

Chapter 2897

“Another thing. Since the fourth princess is right beside Jason, this means he’s being fully supported by The Empire.”

“The four top families who belonged to The Empire won’t even dare go against their masters!”

“The news I received said that they came to an agreement. They planned to send an astronomical check, some extremely valuable assets, and the shares they hold to Jason.”

“They hope to stop Jason in his tracks with the money.”

“Even though Jason said he wanted their lives, he didn’t kill them all immediately after returning. He gave them some time to reflect.”

“Thus, they decided to squash the scandal six years ago with loads of money.”

“Jason didn’t even take action. All he did was occupy the Leo family’s villa...”

“Yet, the four top families of Hong Kong have already given up.”

“The Yorks of Hong Kong are in shambles as well. There’s nothing I can do at this point.”

Marcel let out a grave sigh. He did have the power to resolve the situation, but because of Jason and Queenie's engagement, he was still Jason's nominal father-in-law.

What father-in-law would mobilize an entire army to kill their son-in-law?

"The four top families of Hong Kong..."

Harvey's lips curved into a faint smile.

The four top families of Hong Kong and the Four Masters of Hong Kong were used to causing trouble. The families were involved with Jason's arrival as well.

Even though they were only working for their master Vince before...

Harvey understood better how they operated after seeing them give in this quickly.

They would only take advantage of the weak!

They wouldn't dare go against anyone stronger than them. They wouldn't hesitate to kneel in an instant.

"Actually, it doesn't matter if the four top families of Hong Kong kneel to Jason, or even band together with him," Marcel said.

"What I'm most worried about is that Jason will order them to force Grandma York's hand during her birthday banquet."

“Once Grandma York is forced to commit to the engagement and push me out of my position, Jason would win.”

“Judging from Vince’s actions, he’d do anything he can to rise in power.”

“And if Jason gets his hands on the Yorks of Hong Kong...”

“This family will die for good.”

Marcel’s head was aching even harder. With Queenie’s help, he managed to cause Vince some trouble.

However, Jason’s strong comeback had caused utter chaos.

Harvey narrowed his eyes for a moment.

“We can get the government of Hong Kong, Dragon Palace, and Longmen together.”

“Once we kill Jason, everything will be solved.”

“It’s hard. Much too hard.”

Marcel sighed again.

“Hong Kong is an international metropolis. This is both an advantage and a disadvantage.”

“The people are used to freedom. People of all trades reside here as well.”

“If we really take out Jason using the government, the western media would have the best excuse to bash Country H.”

“Some people may even use underhanded tactics to destroy this city.”

“We shouldn’t use something like this unless it’s absolutely necessary.”

Chapter 2898

“Why are you telling me all this?” Harvey asked, glancing at Marcel.

“Do you want me to take care of this mess for you?”

Marcel shook his head.

“No. I’m just trying to inform you all this so you can send my wife and daughter back to Country H if anything happens.”

Naturally, Marcel already had a way to deal with the situation.

He told Harvey this much because Harvey had the right to know.

Marcel was prepared to fight this war alone.

“Don’t worry. They’ll be completely fine.”

“Or rather... In Hong Kong and Las Vegas, the Clarke family, the Mendoza family, the Hamilton family, as well as the rest will all remain unscathed.”

“If Jason’s only here to take revenge after making his comeback, then it doesn’t concern me.”

“But if he’s trying to destroy the two cities from the face of Country H...”

“His title as a God of War will end now.”

Harvey was expressionless. Anyone who dared to try take advantage of Country H had better be prepared to lay down their lives,

Marcel looked deep into Harvey’s eyes. All of a sudden, he chuckled.

“I called you here to tell you one more thing.”

“If we manage to deal with Jason, that b*stard Vince won’t have another chance to rise.”

“I think you can consider marrying Queenie by this point, and become my son-in-law.”

“The Yorks of Hong Kong is yours to command from now on.”

Harvey’s eyes twitched slightly before he shifted his gaze toward Selena, who was smiling from ear to ear. He was speechless.

He finally understood what it meant for someone to be this interested in him to be the next son-in-law.

...

Half an hour later, Harvey stumbled out of the place in a hurry. If he didn’t, Selena would’ve dragged him along to arrange his wedding date.

Queenie drove Harvey back to the urban district.

Only the two were inside the car, and it was dead silent. Harvey looked quietly at Yvonne, who was currently very gloomy. 1

He knew that the rise of Country H would be a steep path, but he didn't know that some descendants of the country would try to stop it either.

But after thinking about the situation, Harvey could at least understand their motive.

These so-called descendants had paid a huge price to sail across the ocean just to settle down during their eighties.

In their eyes, Country H was a sign of weakness. At most, it was just a remote and backward piece of land.

They never thought that the country would develop as the world's strongest in a span of ten years.

Even ordinary people could enjoy their so-called glory and riches by betraying their country.

The country's recent prosperity had filled these people with vengeance and resentment.

These feelings gave them the willingness become the bridgehead of the western army.

Safe to say, these people despised Country H more than the westerners themselves.

Jason, Mateo, and the descendants of the Knights Templar were all outstanding people who represent such traitors.

If these people were to succeed and cause both Hong Kong and Las Vegas to collapse , Country H's prosperity and stability would definitely be affected.

Harvey took a deep breath. He had to find an excuse to get himself involved in this fight.

The problem was, he was slightly worried to let that old fox Marcel take action.

“My father's just kidding, Harvey. Don't take it to heart.” 1