Chapter 3559

"You're right," said Harvey York without giving a straight answer.

"Your gimmick isn't bad, but it's just scare tactics at most.

"You're probably planning to take money in other ways, like clothing, meal, and tutor fees at this point.

"Or maybe the ten-cent enrollment needs to be drawn as a prize?

"Do you think we're all idiots or something?"

The excited people froze instantly after hearing Harvey's words. They immediately stopped themselves in their tracks.

'He's right!'

'If Wilbur Lee decides to play small tricks like this, everyone'll be fooled into it!'

'Does he think we're all idiots?!'

"Don't worry!

Wilbur was boiling in anger after seeing his well-laid plan about to be foiled.

"I'll accept any amount of students to enroll here! Food and uniforms are also on the house!

"We won't play any tricks on our students after the ten-cent payment!

"After all, we're doing this for the people!"

The people had riled up once again after hearing Wilbur's words.

In just a moment, the People's Budokan was bustling with people. Not even a single soul could be seen going to the Martial Hall at this moment.

Wilbur, already got a few reporters to turn this incident into tomorrow's headlines.

Harvey would be completely humiliated when that happens.

Wilbur was extremely content with how things turned out. He let out a long chuckle while walking to his luxurious car with two beautiful women by his side to watch the show.

"This b*stard's trying to humiliate us, Sir York!

"If word spreads out about this, Martial Hall's reputation will be ruined!

Dillon Lee furiously glared at the Budokan before him.

"Maybe we should trash their place with a few of my brothers!"

Harvey chuckled.

"You'll be a joke if you go at them for such a trivial reason."

"I'll get a few of my new friends to set that place on fire later tonight, Sir York!" exclaimed Kayden Balmer after walking over.

"Don't you worry! It won't affect you whatsoever!

"I'll just find a few scapegoats to be thrown in jail after the matter!

"If we don't deal with this soon, Martial Hall will be completely empty! No business will come to us!"

"No need.

Harvey heaved a sigh.

"How many times have I told you to use your brain before anything?"

"I know you like to fight all the time, but this isn't the suitable time for that."

"Look at Wilbur. He's been provoking us to cause trouble there. He wants us to set the entire place on fire."

"How else is he going to trample on us?"

"What you saw is just the opening. The main show hasn't even started yet."

Dillon and Kayden froze after hearing Harvey's words. After pondering the situation for a moment, they were in shock.

Wilbur would never just burn his money for no reason!

He had constantly been provoking Harvey, desperately wanting Harvey to take action.

A conspiracy was at hand.

If it were not for Harvey's calm and collected attitude, the main show would have started by then.

Kayden's face darkened.

"But Sir York, are we supposed just to sit here while that b*stard's showing off?"

Chapter 3560

"Of course not."

Harvey York cracked a smile.

"I was worried that the Martial Hall would be completely empty..."

"But, I think the place is about to become famous when someone's advertising for us that well."

Dillon Lee and Kayden Balmer froze.

"What do you mean?"

"They're the ones enrolling people for a dime.

"They're even giving out free food and robes!

"They're burning their money just to get rid of us!"

"Since they want to spend this much money, we'll just help them spend even more!

"Come. You should upload a few clips to Durin. Advertise the clips well so the People's Budokan gets known.

"You send the clips to every major television and radio media. Call up the news platform as well.

"Tell them that everyone can claim free robes and food here!

"Tell them that the owner's also a gracious man, and he's able to sustain his business with just a dime per enrollment..."

"I do want to see how much money Wilbur can burn from his support!"

A dime to enroll in the People's Budokan while giving away free robes and food.

With Harvey and the others' help, all of Flutwell knew about the event.

A few cities surrounding Flutwell also got word of the situation.

People did not believe it at first. After all, everyone knew how expensive it was just to enroll in a martial arts school here.

At first, they thought that a few conmen were behind this...

But after realizing that Layne Naiswell and the others were teaching, the people who did not have much money flocked to the People's Budokan instantly.

Even wealthy people came in their luxurious cars.

After all, they would be stupid if they did not take advantage of the situation.

A few nursing homes around the place got word about this as well. The people there were not able to arrange events for the elderly every single day anymore...

But after hearing about the news, they immediately sent them all over.

They also claimed their free robes before they had their meals there.

Layne and the others were fully prepared for the situation. They arranged dozens of workers to deal with more than a thousand people.

This amount of people was doable for them.

Wilbur was getting arrogant, thinking he had actually managed to get the upper hand against Harvey.

The People's Budokan's fame instantly skyrocketed, but Harvey's Martial Hall would be completely stumped. The place would indeed close down because of this.

As time passed, Wilbur came to his senses. He felt that something was off.

He realized that a lot more people showed up at this point.

People from nursing homes, square dances, and students came!

Even tour groups from abroad were here!

Every single one of those people came in huge groups as well!

The people who came held a dime, immediately asking for food or the robes.

Many people who wanted to learn martial arts flocked toward Layne and the other instructors, completely tiring them out with constant talking.

A few tall and strong gangsters also wanted to fight for Layne's spot.

There were people who wanted a few more robes, so they started to line up after going to the back again.

At this point, the robes were almost all handed out.

The chefs in charge of the food ran away after seeing such a horrifying sight. They did not even want any money before they left.

The workers had no choice but to order takeouts from the entire city. The place was in an uproar.

When the delivery people arrived, another wave of the crowd instantly swarmed them

Chapter 3561

Kayden Balmer and the others felt extremely anxious, but they immediately calmed down after seeing the sight.

They were all playfully looking at the instructors working.

Kayden called a few of his friends from the underworld, telling them not to miss out on such an offer.

He was also planning to pay for them.

Harvey York occasionally grabbed the microphone as well.

"Let's go, Instructor Naiswell!"

"As expected from a disciple of a sacred martial arts training ground!"

"Way to keep your promise! Good job!"

The crowd was getting exhilarated after hearing those words. Even the people who did not intend to learn martial arts wanted to take advantage of the situation.

After all, this was such an excellent opportunity to learn something from the Golden Palace.

Layne Naiswell and the others were getting extremely anxious when more and more people came by.

Not just actually teaching; they were already exhausted when simply answering questions the students had.

They were also starting to feel their heads spinning after seeing the registration forms pile up.

The students' age gaps and body builds were completely diverse.

They could not just eat the same food either. They had to be treated according to their own circumstances, or else there would be big trouble.

Even if Layne and the others wanted to slack off, they would not even dare.

Before confirming any of the students' programs, the instructors were already drained out.

Even an expert would be unable to stand against a barrage like this!

"Everyone! Everyone! That's enough for today!"

"Instructor Naiswell and the others are completely exhausted!"

"Let's just end it here for today!"

Wilbur Lee tried to stop the situation after seeing that something was off.

Harvey glanced at Kayden before Wilbur could say another word.

"You say that you're not just scamming us?!" exclaimed Kayden with a microphone in hand.

"There are so many people that already gave you the money! Where are their clothes?! Where's their food?! What about the program?!"

"Didn't you say that you were going to teach every single person who came?!"

"Why are you already closing down now?!"

"What are the students going to do if you just ran off?! They came all this way just to learn martial arts from you!"

"Everyone's time is precious here! If it weren't for the lessons, why would they even bother to waste their time here in the first place?!"

"How dare you run off right now?! What a joke!"

"You think we're all idiots or something?!"

'That b*stard!

Wilbur furiously glared at Kayden.

'Where did Harvey find such a talent?!"

'He's humiliating me!'

On top of that, the students were getting angry after hearing those words.

They came all this way to take advantage of the opportunity. Some even commuted hours just to get here.

But not only did they not get enrolled, but they also wasted a few hours' worth of time. Who could even stand such a thing?

Everyone started yelling in unison.

"Yeah! You're just a scammer! Who cares if you're from some sacred martial arts training ground?! You're all scammers!"

"You say that you'll teach us all for a single dime?! Do you think we're idiots or something?!"

"You fool us into giving you likes and sharing the People's Budokan. Then you turn against us immediately after?! I'll definitely report you people after this!"

"I don't give a sh*t! If I don't get my clothes and meals, I'll burn this damn place down!"

The people were furious. Many gangsters were also mixed amongst the crowd, asking for their clothes and food.

The people who really wanted to learn someone squeezed to the front of the crowd, desperately hoping for Layne and the others to teach them something worthwhile...

Chapter 3562

Not only was Wilbur Lee having a major crisis about the situation, but Layne Naiswell and the others were also getting terribly anxious.

They knew their reputation would be ruined if they did not immediately rectify the situation.

After all, in a place of martial arts like Flutwell, disappointing others after giving them hope would cause a disaster.

Wilbur had no choice but to call for more takeouts while getting Layne and the others actually to teach something to calm everyone down.

If not, everything they did that day would turn into one big joke.

At this moment, a dozen people who looked like bodyguards showed up and pushed the crowd aside.

A pallid young man with luxurious items covering his entire body walked over. The man would occasionally cough when he came.

"Instructor Naiswell, my name is Aldo John. I visited the Martial Hall a few times while you were the lead instructor. I wanted you to teach me.

"I know that you were born from the Golden Palace! You are truly a top talent!

"I admire your knowledge and skill in martial arts!

"That was why I came here to visit you after hearing that you'll teach for a dime!

"You may not know about my condition...

"The John family has some connection to the Golden Palace. When I was young, I trained with them as well.

"But since there was no well-known instructor to guide me, I got myself in a terrible spot after my training went wrong!

"My entire body's been burning up every night for the longest time!

"Please help me!

"I don't want to be a cripple!

"My dream is to be a wandering ranger, a martial arts expert, and not completely powerless like I am right now...

"Please, Instructor Naiswell!"

Everyone froze after hearing the man's words.

Those who recognized Aldo immediately spoke up.

"Isn't he a relative of the John family?"

"The John family has someone powerful in the Golden Palace. It should be easy for him to deal with something like this, right?"

"There's something you don't know! The John family has strict rules! Aldo's just a b* stard!"

"He can live his life without worry, but it won't be easy to get a well-known instructor to teach him martial arts!"

"I heard that he crippled himself since he was training alone!"

"Sigh! Poor man. I hear that he's a kind person too. He takes in a lot of strays as well. I didn't expect that he'd have such a disability..."

"Maybe he'll have a chance to recover with Instructor Naiswell's help..."

Layne recognized the person before him after hearing the crowd's gossip.

She had previously heard of the person while she was still training at the Golden Palace. Aldo met a horrible fate when he was trying to learn martial arts from the Golden Palace all on his own.

The John family could get an expert from the Golden Palace to deal with his problem

But it was a shame that the family did not have enough resources to spare for him. A disabled person like Aldo would never be able to compete against the other heirs of the family.

Everyone was exhilarated after seeing Aldo show up.

Wilbur frantically gave looks toward Layne. He knew this was a chance to make the People's Budokan an instant hit.
